If disclosure in response to any question is responsive to one or more other questions, it is not necessary to repeat the disclosure. Be very careful and precise in answering all questions. Give full and complete answers so that they are not misleading under the circumstances involved. Do not discuss any future performance or other anticipated event unless you have a reasonable basis to believe that it will actually occur within the foreseeable future. If any answer requiring significant information is materially inaccurate, incomplete or misleading, the Company, its management and principal shareholders may be liable to investors based on that information.

RISK FACTORS

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky:

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. Investors should not invest any funds unless they can afford to lose the entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

> The adult incontinence products market is highly competitive and dominated by large, well-established companies with substantial financial resources, extensive distribution networks, strong brand recognition, and loyal customer bases. Major competitors include Kimberly-Clark (Depends brand), Essity (TENA brand), and other established manufacturers that have been serving this market for decades. These competitors have significantly greater resources than we do for product development, manufacturing, marketing, distribution, and customer acquisition.
> Our competitors benefit from economies of scale that allow them to manufacture and distribute products at lower costs than we can achieve. They have established relationships with retailers, healthcare facilities, distributors, and insurance companies that may be difficult or impossible for us to replicate. They also have substantial marketing budgets and brand recognition that make it challenging for new entrants to gain market share. As a new entrant with a single product and very limited resources, we may be unable to compete effectively on price, distribution, marketing, or brand recognition. Our competitors may also develop similar or superior products that incorporate features similar to our pocket design, potentially eliminating any competitive advantage we might have. If we are unable to compete effectively, we will be unable to gain meaningful market share and our business will fail.

> Our competitive advantage depends in part on our proprietary pocket diaper design and manufacturing know-how. We may rely on a combination of patents, trade secrets, trademarks, and confidential information to protect our intellectual property, but we have not disclosed the extent of our intellectual property protections. We have not filed patent applications for our design innovations, and any patent applications we may file may not result in issued patents. Even if we obtain patents, they may not provide meaningful protection, may be challenged or invalidated, or may not prevent competitors from developing similar or superior products using alternative designs. The adult incontinence products industry includes numerous patents held by established competitors, and we may face claims that our product design infringes existing patents or other intellectual property rights. Defending against intellectual property infringement claims would be costly and time-consuming and could result in significant legal expenses, damages, or injunctions preventing us from manufacturing or selling our products. We may also face challenges in protecting our trade secrets and confidential information, particularly as we establish manufacturing operations in India and potentially work with third-party manufacturers, suppliers, or distributors. The loss of intellectual property protection or an adverse outcome in intellectual property litigation could eliminate our competitive advantages and materially harm our business prospects.

As a holder of a SAFE, you will have no voting rights and no ability to influence or control any aspect of the company's business or operations. Even if your SAFE converts into equity securities, you will hold a minority position with no ability to control or significantly influence company decisions. The company's management will have complete discretion over all business decisions, including decisions regarding product development, manufacturing, marketing, hiring, capital raising, acquisitions, and whether and when to pursue a sale of the company or other liquidity event.

Management may make decisions that you disagree with or that are adverse to your interests as an investor, and you will have no recourse or ability to prevent such decisions. The company is not subject to the same reporting and disclosure requirements as publicly traded companies, and your information rights will be limited. You will receive only limited financial and operational information about the company, and you may not be able to adequately monitor your investment or assess the company's performance and prospects. The company's management may have interests that differ from yours, including with respect to the timing and terms of any future financing or liquidity event, and may make decisions that favor their interests over those of investors.

Savannah Garlick is a part-time officers. As such, it is likely that the company will not make the same progress as it would if that were not the case.

We currently have very limited cash reserves and will require substantial additional funding to establish manufacturing operations, produce inventory, conduct marketing, and scale our business. The proceeds from this offering may not be sufficient to fully execute our business plan, and we will likely need to raise additional capital through future equity or debt financings. We do not have any commitments or arrangements for additional financing, and there can be no assurance that we will be able to obtain additional capital when needed or on terms acceptable to us, if at all.

Our ability to raise additional capital will depend on numerous factors, many of which are beyond our control, including market conditions, investor sentiment toward early-stage companies, our progress in executing our business plan, and the performance of our product in the market. If we are unable to obtain sufficient additional financing, we will be required to significantly curtail or cease our operations, which would result in investors losing all or substantially all of their investment. Even if we are able to raise additional capital, it will likely be on terms that result in significant dilution to existing investors and may include terms that give new investors rights, preferences, or privileges senior to those of existing security holders.

Innovative Incontinence Products Inc. is in the pre-launch stage and has not generated any revenue from product sales. We have incurred losses since inception and expect to continue incurring significant losses for the foreseeable future as we establish manufacturing operations, produce initial inventory, develop our brand, acquire customers, and scale our operations. Our losses will likely increase substantially as we invest in manufacturing equipment, inventory production, marketing and sales activities, and personnel.

We cannot predict when, if ever, we will become profitable. Our ability to achieve profitability depends on numerous factors, including our ability to successfully manufacture our product at commercially viable costs, establish effective distribution channels, achieve sufficient sales volumes, maintain acceptable gross margins, and control operating expenses. The adult incontinence products market is highly competitive with established brands that benefit from economies of scale, brand recognition, and established distribution relationships. We may never achieve the market penetration or sales volumes necessary to achieve profitability. Even if we do achieve profitability, we may not be able to sustain or increase profitability on a quarterly or annual basis. If we are unable to achieve and sustain profitability, investors may lose all or a substantial portion of their investment.

post-market surveillance. Changes in regulatory requirements or enforcement priorities could require us to modify our products or operations in ways that increase costs or limit our ability to compete effectively. Our lack of experience with regulatory compliance and limited resources increase the risk that we may fail to satisfy applicable regulatory requirements.

As a manufacturer of products intended for use by individuals with incontinence, we face the risk of product liability claims if our products are alleged to be defective, cause injury, or fail to perform as expected. Adult incontinence products are used by vulnerable populations, including elderly individuals and people with disabilities, and product failures could result in skin irritation, infections, falls, dignity concerns, or other adverse outcomes. Even if claims against us are without merit or are not ultimately successful, defending against such claims would be costly and time-consuming and could damage our reputation.

We may not have adequate product liability insurance coverage, and we may be unable to obtain or maintain insurance on acceptable terms given our early stage and limited financial resources. Product liability insurance for healthcare and medical products can be expensive and may include significant deductibles, coverage limitations, and exclusions. A successful product liability claim that exceeds our insurance coverage, or any claim that results in significant legal defense costs, could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and could force us to cease operations. Additionally, product liability claims or safety concerns could damage our reputation and brand, making it difficult to attract and retain customers even if we successfully defend against such claims.

You are purchasing a Simple Agreement for Future Equity (SAFE), which is not a debt instrument or an equity security. A SAFE does not represent current ownership in the company and does not entitle you to any voting rights, dividends, or other rights of a stockholder unless and until it converts into equity securities. The SAFE will only convert into equity upon the occurrence of specific future events, such as a future priced equity financing or a liquidity event. There is no guarantee that any such conversion event will ever occur, and the SAFE has no maturity date requiring the company to repay your investment or convert the SAFE into equity.

If a conversion event does occur, the number of shares you receive and the percentage of the company you will own will depend on the terms of that future financing, including the valuation of the company at that time, which is uncertain and may be significantly different from the valuation cap in your SAFE. You may receive fewer shares than you expect, and your ownership percentage may be substantially diluted by the terms of the future financing, including liquidation preferences, participation rights, or other terms that favor new investors. If the company is acquired or dissolved before a conversion event occurs, you may receive little or no return on your investment, and you will likely receive less than investors who hold preferred stock or other senior securities. The lack of a maturity date means your investment could remain in SAFE form indefinitely without converting to equity or providing any return.

We currently have only one product, the SecurePocket Containment Brief, and our entire business strategy depends on the successful commercialization of this single product. We have no other products in development or alternative revenue streams. If our product fails to achieve market acceptance for any reason—including performance issues, pricing concerns, consumer preferences, competitive pressures, or inadequate marketing—our business will fail and investors will lose their entire investment.

The adult incontinence products market has established consumer preferences and brand loyalties. Our product represents a new design approach with a pocket feature intended to prevent leaks and blowouts. There can be no assurance that caregivers, healthcare facilities, or end users will adopt our product or that our design innovations will be valued sufficiently to overcome the convenience and familiarity of existing products from established brands. Product development risks remain, as we have not yet completed full-scale manufacturing or conducted extensive real-world testing across diverse user populations and care settings. Any defects, performance issues, or failure to meet customer expectations could irreparably harm our reputation and prevent us from establishing a viable business.

Innovative Incontinence Products Inc. was incorporated in August 2025 and is currently in the pre-launch stage with no confirmed revenue from product sales. We have not yet commenced commercial manufacturing or distribution of our SecurePocket adult pocket diaper product. Our limited operating history makes it difficult for investors to evaluate our business model, management capabilities, and prospects for success. We have not yet demonstrated that we can successfully manufacture our product at scale, establish effective distribution channels, or achieve market acceptance. The challenges and risks we face as an early-stage company in the adult incontinence products market are substantial, and our ability to overcome these challenges is unproven.

Investors must evaluate an investment in our company in light of the uncertainties and complexities encountered by early-stage companies in competitive healthcare and consumer product markets. There can be no assurance that our business strategy will be successful or that we will be able to successfully commercialize our product. If we are unable to execute our business plan or address the challenges we face, our business, financial condition, and operating results will be materially and adversely affected, and investors may lose all or a substantial portion of their investment.

An investment in Innovative Incontinence Products Inc. is highly speculative and involves a high degree of risk. You should invest only if you can afford to lose your entire investment. The company is in the pre-launch stage with no revenue, very limited cash reserves, and an unproven business model. The company faces significant challenges in establishing manufacturing operations, producing a quality product, achieving market acceptance, competing against established brands, and achieving profitability.

The likelihood of success for early-stage companies is low, and most startups fail. Even if the company is able to successfully launch its product and generate revenue, there is no assurance that it will achieve profitability or provide any return to investors. In the event of liquidation or dissolution of the company, holders of SAFEs and other equity securities will be entitled to receive distributions only after all creditors and holders of senior securities have been paid in full, which means you may receive nothing. You should not invest in this offering unless you can afford to lose your entire investment and understand that such a loss is a likely outcome.

There is no public market for the SAFEs being offered, and we do not expect that a public market will ever develop. The securities have not been registered under the Securities Act of 1933 or any state securities laws, and they may not be sold or transferred except in compliance with registration requirements or pursuant to an applicable exemption from registration. Even if the SAFEs convert into equity securities in the future, those equity securities will also be restricted and subject to limitations on transfer.

You should be prepared to hold your investment for an indefinite period of time, potentially for the entire life of the company. You will likely be unable to liquidate your investment in the event of an emergency or for any other reason. The securities will be subject to a minimum one-year holding period under federal securities laws, and even after that period, significant restrictions on transfer will continue to apply. The company is not obligated to register the securities for resale, and it is unlikely that the company will ever conduct an initial public offering or become a publicly traded company. The lack of liquidity means you will be unable to access your invested capital and may be unable to benefit from any increase in the value of the company unless and until a liquidity event occurs, which may never happen.

The Company may never receive a future equity financing or elect to convert the Securities upon such future financing. In addition, the Company is a private company and may never undergo a liquidity event such as a sale of the Company or an IPO. If neither the conversion of the Securities nor a liquidity event occurs, the Purchasers could be left holding the Securities in perpetuity. The Securities have numerous transfer restrictions and will likely be highly illiquid, with no secondary market on which to sell them. The Securities are not equity interests, have no ownership rights, have no rights to the Company's assets or profits and have no voting rights or ability to direct the Company or its actions.

Innovative Incontinence Products Inc. currently has only one employee, and our success depends entirely on the continued services, experience, and expertise of this individual. Our founder is responsible for all aspects of our business, including product development, manufacturing setup, marketing, sales, fundraising, and strategic direction. The loss of our founder due to death, disability, resignation, or any other reason would have a severe adverse effect on our business and could result in the failure of the company. We do not maintain key person life insurance on our founder. We have not yet built a complete management team or hired all the needed additional personnel with the skills necessary to operate the business. As a single-employee company, we lack organizational depth and redundancy, making us particularly vulnerable to any disruption in our founder's availability or performance. There can be no assurance that we will be successful in attracting, hiring, and retaining qualified personnel as we attempt to grow our business. Competition for talent in the healthcare products and consumer goods industries can be intense, and we may not have the financial resources to compete effectively for experienced professionals.

The Offering

USE OF FUNDS

9. What is the purpose of this offering?

The Company intends to use the net proceeds of this offering for working capital and general corporate purposes, which includes the specific items listed in Item 10 below. While the Company expects to use the net proceeds from the Offering in the manner described above, it cannot specify with certainty the particular uses of the net proceeds that it will receive from this Offering. Accordingly, the Company will have broad discretion in using these proceeds.

10. How does the issuer intend to use the proceeds of this offering?

If we raise: $65,000

Use of Proceeds: At our minimum raise, we will fund the essentials required to bring SecurePocket™ to market: purchasing and installing our manufacturing equipment in India and completing our first production run of inventory. If only the minimum target amount is raised, Innovative Incontinence Products Inc expects to use proceeds approximately as follows: 50% Manufacturing Equipment Purchase &, 32% Initial SecurePocket Inventory Production Run, 10.1% Working Capital & Operational Reserves, and 7.9% Wefunder fee and related offering expenses. Management intends to allocate proceeds as described but may adjust proportions based on equipment costs, supplier terms, and other operational factors that arise.

If we raise: $124,000

Use of Proceeds: Reaching our initial maximum milestone allows us to secure advanced inventory and begin targeted marketing and caregiver outreach. If the maximum offering amount is raised, including any oversubscriptions, Innovative Incontinence Products Inc expects to use proceeds approximately as follows: 27% Manufacturing Equipment Purchase &, 32% Scaled SecurePocket Inventory Procurement, 18% Targeted Marketing & Caregiver Outreach, 9% Channel Development & Distribution Expansion, 6.1% Working Capital & Operational Reserves, and 7.9% Wefunder fee and related offering expenses. Management expects to allocate excess proceeds toward inventory scale and market expansion but may reprioritize among categories based on actual costs, market conditions, and channel readiness.

DELIVERY & CANCELLATIONS

11. How will the issuer complete the transaction and deliver securities to the investors?

Book Entry and Investment in the Co-Issuer. Investors will make their investments by investing in interests issued by one or more co-issuers, each of which is a special purpose vehicle ("SPV"). The SPV will invest all amounts it receives from investors in securities issued by the Company. Interests issued to investors by the SPV will be in book entry form. This means that the investor will not receive a certificate representing his or her investment. Each investment will be recorded in the books and records of the SPV. In addition, investors' interests in the investments will be recorded in each investor's "Portfolio" page on the Wefunder platform. All references in this Form C to an Investor's investment in the Company (or similar phrases) should be interpreted to include investments in a SPV.

12. How can an investor cancel an investment commitment?

NOTE: Investors may cancel an investment commitment until 48 hours prior to the deadline identified in these offering materials.

The intermediary will notify investors when the target offering amount has been met. If the issuer reaches the target offering amount prior to the deadline identified in the offering materials, it may close the offering early if it provides notice about the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to such new offering deadline.

If an investor does not cancel an investment commitment before the 48-hour period prior to the offering deadline, the funds will be released to the issuer upon closing of the offering and the investor will receive securities in exchange for his or her investment.

If an investor does not reconfirm his or her investment commitment after a material change is made to the offering, the investor's investment commitment will be canceled and the committed funds will be returned.

An Investor's right to cancel. An Investor may cancel his or her investment commitment at any time until 48 hours prior to the offering deadline.

If there is a material change to the terms of the offering or the information provided to the Investor about the offering and/or the Company, the Investor will be provided notice of the change and must re-confirm his or her investment commitment within five business days of receipt of the notice. If the Investor does not reconfirm, he or she will receive notifications disclosing that the commitment was cancelled, the reason for the cancellation, and the refund amount that the investor is required to receive. If a material change occurs within five business days of the maximum number of days the offering is to remain open, the offering will be extended to allow for a period of five business days for the investor to reconfirm.

If the Investor cancels his or her investment commitment during the period when cancellation is permissible, or does not reconfirm a commitment in the case of a material change to the investment, or the offering does not close, all of the Investor's funds will be returned within five business days.

Within five business days of cancellation of an offering by the Company, the Company will give each investor notification of the cancellation, disclose the reason for the cancellation, identify the refund amount the Investor will receive, and refund the Investor's funds.

The Company's right to cancel. The Investment Agreement you will execute with us provides the Company the right to cancel for any reason before the offering deadline.

If the sum of the investment commitments from all investors does not equal or exceed the target offering amount at the time of the offering deadline, no securities will be sold in the offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned.

Ownership and Capital Structure

THE OFFERING

13. Describe the terms of the securities being offered.

To view a copy of the SAFE you will purchase, please see Appendix B, Investor Contracts. The main terms of the SAFEs are provided below.

The SAFEs. We are offering securities in the form of a Simple Agreement for Future Equity ("SAFE"), which provides Investors the right to Preferred Stock in the Company ("Preferred Stock"), when and if the Company sponsors an equity offering that involves Preferred Stock, on the standard terms offered to other Investors.

Conversion to Preferred Equity. Based on our SAFEs, when we engage in an offering of equity interests involving Preferred Stock, Investors will receive a number of shares of Preferred Stock calculated using the method that results in the greater number of Preferred Stock:

i. the total value of the Investor's investment, divided by
   a. the price of Preferred Stock issued to new Investors

ii. if the valuation for the company is more than $4,000,000.00 (the "Valuation Cap"), the amount invested by the Investor divided by the quotient of

a. the Valuation Cap divided by

b. the total amount of the Company's capitalization at that time.

iii. For investors up to the first $50,000.00 of the securities, investors will receive a valuation cap of $3,500,000.00 Wefunder VIP investors will be entitled to these terms for the entire duration of the offering, even if the threshold limit noted above is met.

Additional Terms of the Valuation Cap. For purposes of option (ii) above, the Company's capitalization calculated as of immediately prior to the Equity Financing and (without double-counting, in each case calculated on an as-converted to Common Stock basis):

- Includes all shares of Capital Stock issued and outstanding;
- Includes all Converting Securities;
- Includes all (i) issued and outstanding Options and (ii) Promised Options; and
- Includes the Unissued Option Pool, except that any increase to the Unissued Option Pool in connection with the Equity Financing shall only be included to the extent that the number of Promised Options exceeds the Unissued Option Pool prior to such increase.

Liquidity Events. If the Company has an initial public offering or is acquired by, merged with, or otherwise taken over by another company or new owners prior to Investors in the SAFEs receiving Preferred Stock, Investors will receive

- proceeds equal to the greater of (i) the Purchase Amount (the "Cash-Out Amount") or (ii) the amount payable on the number of shares of Common Stock equal to the Purchase Amount divided by the Liquidity Price (the "Conversion Amount")

Liquidity Priority. In a Liquidity Event or Dissolution Event, this Safe is intended to operate like standard nonparticipating Preferred Stock. The Investor's right to receive its Cash-Out Amount is:

i. Junior to payment of outstanding indebtedness and creditor claims, including contractual claims for payment and convertible promissory notes (to the extent such convertible promissory notes are not actually or notionally converted into Capital Stock);

ii. On par with payments for other Safes and/or Preferred Stock, and if the applicable Proceeds are insufficient to permit full payments to the Investor and such other Safes and/or Preferred Stock, the applicable Proceeds will be distributed pro rata to the Investor and such other Safes and/or Preferred Stock in proportion to the full payments that would otherwise be due; and

iii. Senior to payments for Common Stock.

VIP Bonus

Innovative Incontinence Products Inc will offer a discount to the normal terms listed in this Form C for all investments that are committed by investors who are part of Wefunder, Inc's VIP program. This means eligible Wefunder investors will receive a discount for any securities they purchased in this offering. For more specific details on the company's discount, please review the description of the terms above.

The discount is only valid until the offering closes. Investors eligible for the bonus will also receive priority if they are on a waitlist to invest and the company exceeds its maximum funding goal. They will be given the first opportunity to invest if space in the offering becomes available due to the cancellation or failure of previous investments.

Securities Issued by the SPV

Instead of issuing its securities directly to investors, the Company has decided to issue its securities to the SPV, which will then issue interests in the SPV to investors. The SPV is formed concurrently with the filing of the Form C. Given this, the SPV does not have any financials to report. The SPV is managed by Wefunder Admin, LLC and is a co-issuer with the Company of the securities being offered in this offering. The Company's use of the SPV is intended to allow investors in the SPV to achieve the same economic exposure, voting power, and ability to assert State and Federal law rights, and receive the same disclosures, as if they had invested directly in the Company. While the Issuer may be required to pay an annual administrative fee for the maintenance of the SPV, investors should note the Company's use of the SPV will not result in any additional fees being charged to investors.

The SPV has been organized and will be operated for the sole purpose of directly acquiring, holding and disposing of the Company's securities, will not borrow money and will use all of the proceeds from the sale of its securities solely to purchase a single class of securities of the Company. As a result, an investor investing in the Company through the SPV will have the same relationship to the Company's securities, in terms of number, denomination, type and rights, as if the investor invested directly in the Company.

Voting Rights

If the securities offered by the Company and those offered by the SPV have voting rights, those voting rights may be exercised by the investor or his or her proxy. The applicable proxy is the Lead Investor, if the Proxy (described below) is in effect.

Proxy to the Lead Investor

The SPV securities have voting rights. With respect to those voting rights, the investor and his, her, or its transferees or assignees (collectively, the "Investor"), through a power of attorney granted by Investor in the Investor Agreement, has appointed or will appoint the Lead Investor as the Investor's true and lawful proxy and attorney (the "Proxy") with the power to act alone and with full power of substitution, on behalf of the Investor to: (i) vote all securities related to the Company purchased in an offering hosted by Wefunder Portal, and (ii) execute, in connection with such voting power, any instrument or document that the Lead Investor determines is necessary and appropriate in the exercise of his or her authority. Such Proxy will be irrevocable by the Investor unless and until a successor lead investor ("Replacement Lead Investor") takes the place of the Lead Investor. Upon notice that a Replacement Lead Investor has taken the place of the Lead Investor, the Investor will have five (5) calendar days to revoke the Proxy. If the Proxy is not revoked within the 5-day time period, it shall remain in effect.

Restriction on Transferability

The SPV securities are subject to restrictions on transfer, as set forth in the Subscription Agreement and the Limited Liability Company Agreement of Wefunder SPV, LLC, and may not be transferred without the prior approval of the Company, on behalf of the SPV.

14. Do the securities offered have voting rights?

☑ Yes
☐ No

15. Are there any limitations on any voting or other rights identified above?

15. Are there any limitations on any voting or other rights identified above?

See the above description of the Proxy to the Lead Investor.

16. How may the terms of the securities being offered be modified?

Any provision of this Safe may be amended, waived or modified by written consent of the Company and either:

i. the Investor or

ii. the majority-in-interest of all then-outstanding Safes with the same "Post-Money Valuation Cap" and "Discount Rate" as this Safe (and Safes lacking one or both of such terms will be considered to be the same with respect to such term(s)), provided that with respect to clause (ii):

   A. the Purchase Amount may not be amended, waived or modified in this manner,

   B. the consent of the Investor and each holder of such Safes must be solicited (even if not obtained), and

   C. such amendment, waiver or modification treats all such holders in the same manner. "Majority-in-interest" refers to the holders of the applicable group of Safes whose Safes have a total Purchase Amount greater than 50% of the total Purchase Amount of all of such applicable group of Safes.

Pursuant to authorization in the Investor Agreement between each Investor and Wefunder Portal, Wefunder Portal is authorized to take the following actions with respect to the investment contract between the Company and an investor:

A. Wefunder Portal may amend the terms of an investment contract, provided that the amended terms are more favorable to the investor than the original terms; and

B. Wefunder Portal may reduce the amount of an investor's investment if the reason for the reduction is that the Company's offering is oversubscribed.

Restrictions on Transfer of the Securities Being Offered:

The securities being offered may not be transferred by any purchaser of such securities during the one year period beginning when the securities were issued, unless such securities are transferred:

1. to the issuer;
2. to an accredited investor;
3. as part of an offering registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission; or
4. to a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the purchaser or other similar circumstance.

NOTE: The term "accredited investor" means any person who comes within any of the categories set forth in Rule 501(a) of Regulation D, or who the seller reasonably believes comes within any of such categories, at the time of the sale of the securities to that person.

The term "member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent" includes a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law of the purchaser, and includes adoptive relationships. The term "spousal equivalent" means a cohabitant occupying a relationship generally equivalent to that of a spouse.

Description of Issuer's Securities

17. What other securities or classes of securities of the issuer are outstanding? Describe the material terms of any other outstanding securities or classes of securities of the issuer.

Class of Security	Authorized	Outstanding	Voting rights
Preferred Stock	2,000,000	0	☐
Voting Common Stock	1000000	670000	☑
Nonvoting Common Stock	500000	330000	☐

Class of Security	Total Pool
Warrants	None
Options	None

Describe any other rights:

Voting Common Stock: voting rights. Nonvoting Common Stock: no voting rights. Preferred stock has liquidation preferences over common stock.

18. How may the rights of the securities being offered be materially limited, diluted or qualified by the rights of any other class of security identified above?

The holders of a majority-in-interest of voting rights in the Company could limit the Investor's rights in a material way. For example, those interest holders could vote to change the terms of the agreements governing the Company's operations or cause the Company to engage in additional offerings (including potentially a public offering).

These changes could result in further limitations on the voting rights the Investor will have as an owner of equity in the Company, for example by diluting those rights or limiting them to certain types of events or consents.

To the extent applicable, in cases where the rights of holders of convertible debt, SAFES, or other outstanding options or warrants are exercised, or if new awards are granted under our equity compensation plans, an Investor's interests in the Company may be diluted. This means that the pro rata portion of the Company represented by the Investor's securities will decrease, which could also diminish the Investor's voting and/or economic rights. In addition, as discussed above, if a majority-in-interest of holders of securities with voting rights cause the Company to issue additional equity, an Investor's interest will typically also be diluted.

Based on the risk that an Investor's rights could be limited, diluted or otherwise qualified, the Investor could lose all or part of his or her investment in the securities in this offering, and may never see positive returns.

Additional risks related to the rights of other security holders are discussed below, in Question 20.

19. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer?

No.

20. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 above affect the purchasers of the securities being offered?

As holders of a majority-in-interest of voting rights in the Company, the shareholders may make decisions with which the Investor disagrees, or that negatively affect the value of the Investor's securities in the Company, and the Investor will have no recourse to change these decisions. The Investor's interests may conflict with those of other investors, and there is no guarantee that the Company will develop in a way that is optimal for or advantageous to the Investor.

For example, the shareholders may change the terms of the articles of incorporation for the company, change the terms of securities issued by the Company, change the management of the Company, and even force out minority holders of securities. The shareholders may make changes that affect the tax treatment of the Company in ways that are unfavorable to you but favorable to them. They may also vote to engage in new offerings and/or to register certain of the Company's securities in a way that negatively affects the value of the securities the Investor owns. Other holders of securities of the Company may also have access to more information than the Investor, leaving the Investor at a disadvantage with respect to any decisions regarding the securities he or she owns.

The shareholders have the right to redeem their securities at any time. Shareholders could decide to force the Company to redeem their securities at a time that is not favorable to the Investor and is damaging to the Company. Investors' exit may affect the value of the Company and/or its viability.

In cases where the rights of holders of convertible debt, SAFES, or other outstanding options or warrants are exercised, or if new awards are granted under our equity compensation plans, an Investor's interests in the Company may be diluted. This means that the pro rata portion of the Company represented by the Investor's securities will decrease, which could also diminish the Investor's voting and/or economic rights. In addition, as discussed above, if a majority-in-interest of holders of securities with voting rights cause the Company to issue additional stock, an Investor's interest will typically also be diluted.

21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

The offering price for the securities offered pursuant to this Form C has been determined arbitrarily by the Company, and does not necessarily bear any relationship to the Company's book value, assets, earnings or other generally accepted valuation criteria. In determining the offering price, the Company did not employ investment banking firms or other outside organizations to make an independent appraisal or evaluation. Accordingly, the offering price should not be considered to be indicative of the actual value of the securities offered hereby.

The initial amount invested in a SAFE is determined by the investor, and we do not guarantee that the SAFE will be converted into any particular number of shares of Preferred Stock. As discussed in Question 13, when we engage in an offering of equity interests involving Preferred Stock, Investors may receive a number of shares of Preferred Stock calculated as either (i) the total value of the Investor's investment, divided by the price of the Preferred Stock being issued to new Investors, or (ii) if the valuation for the company is more than the Valuation Cap, the amount invested divided by the quotient of (a) the Valuation Cap divided by (b) the total amount of the Company's capitalization at that time.

Because there will likely be no public market for our securities prior to an initial public offering or similar liquidity event, the price of the Preferred Stock that Investors will receive, and/or the total value of the Company's capitalization, will be determined by our board of directors. Among the factors we may consider in determining the price of Preferred Stock are prevailing market conditions, our financial information, market valuations of other companies that we believe to be comparable to us, estimates of our business potential, the present state of our development and other factors deemed relevant.

In the future, we will perform valuations of our stock (including both common stock and Preferred Stock) that take into account, as applicable, factors such as the following:

- unrelated third party valuations;
- the price at which we sell other securities in light of the relative rights, preferences and privileges of those securities;
- our results of operations, financial position and capital resources;
- current business conditions and projections;
- the marketability or lack thereof of the securities;
- the hiring of key personnel and the experience of our management;
- the introduction of new products;
- the risk inherent in the development and expansion of our products;
- our stage of development and material risks related to our business;
- the likelihood of achieving a liquidity event, such as an initial public offering or a sale of our company given the prevailing market conditions and the nature and history of our business;
- industry trends and competitive environment;
- trends in consumer spending, including consumer confidence;
- overall economic indicators, including gross domestic product, employment, inflation and interest rates; and
- the general economic outlook.

We will analyze factors such as those described above using a combination of financial and market-based methodologies to determine our business enterprise value. For example, we may use methodologies that assume that businesses operating in the same industry will share similar characteristics and that the Company's value will correlate to those characteristics, and/or methodologies that compare transactions in similar securities issued by us that were conducted in the market.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

An Investor in the Company will likely hold a minority position in the Company, and thus be limited as to its ability to control or influence the governance and operations of the Company.

The marketability and value of the Investor's interest in the Company will depend upon many factors outside the control of the Investor. The Company will be managed by its officers and be governed in accordance with the strategic direction and decision-making of its Board Of Directors, and the Investor will have no independent right to name or remove an officer or member of the Board Of Directors of the Company.

Following the Investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the Investor in the Company. The Investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured.

The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the Investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the Investor's interest in the Company.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions, including additional issuances of securities, issuer repurchases of securities, a sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer or transactions with related parties?

Additional issuances of securities. Following the Investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the Investor in the Company. The Investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the Investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the Investor's interest in the Company.

Issuer repurchases of securities. The Company may have authority to repurchase its securities from shareholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the Investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer. As a minority owner of the Company, the Investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the Investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for shareholders. Accordingly, the success of the Investor's investment in the Company will depend in large part upon the skill and expertise of the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company. If the Board Of Directors of the Company authorizes a sale of all or a part of the Company, or a disposition of a substantial portion of the Company's assets, there can be no guarantee that the value received by the Investor, together with the fair market estimate of the value remaining in the Company, will be equal to or exceed the value of the Investor's initial investment in the Company.

Transactions with related parties. The Investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management and Board of Directors of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its shareholders. By acquiring an interest in the Company, the Investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

None.

INSTRUCTION TO QUESTION 24: name the creditor, amount owed, interest rate, maturity date, and any other material terms.

25. What other exempt offerings has the issuer conducted within the past three years?

Offering date	Exemption	Security type	Amount sold	Use of proceeds
No exempt offerings.

26. Was or is the issuer or any entities controlled by or under common control with the issuer a party to any transaction since the beginning of the issuer's last fiscal year, or any currently proposed transaction, where the amount involved exceeds five percent of the aggregate amount of capital raised by the issuer in reliance on Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act during the preceding 12- month period, including the amount the issuer seeks to raise in the current offering, in which any of the following persons had or is to have a direct or indirect material interest:

1. any director or officer of the issuer;
2. any person who is, as of the most recent practicable date, the beneficial owner of 20 percent or more of the issuer's outstanding voting equity securities, calculated on the basis of voting power;
3. if the issuer was incorporated or organized within the past three years, any promoter of the issuer;
4. or any immediate family member of any of the foregoing persons.

- ☐ Yes
- ☑ No

For each transaction specify the person, relationship to issuer, nature of interest in transaction, and amount of interest.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE ISSUER

27. Does the issuer have an operating history?

Yes

28. Describe the financial condition of the issuer, including, to the extent material, liquidity, capital resources and historical results of operations.

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Overview of the Business and Financial Condition

Innovative Incontinence Products Inc. manufactures and sells the SecurePocket adult pocket diaper, designed to prevent leaks and blowouts while restoring dignity for adults with incontinence. The company focuses on reducing caregiver workload and improving quality of life for both caregivers and users.

We are an early-stage company and are currently operating at approximately break-even, with no material positive or negative cash flows from operations in recent periods. There can be no assurance that this break-even performance will continue in future periods.

As of October 25, 2026, we had cash and cash equivalents of approximately $1,164.

Our ability to continue operations is dependent on managing our expenses and, if necessary, obtaining additional financing.

This discussion should be read in conjunction with the financial statements and related notes included in this offering statement.

Business and Operating Uncertainty

Our business operates in an environment subject to various risks, uncertainties, and changing conditions, which makes it difficult to evaluate our business, financial condition, and prospects and may limit the comparability of our results of operations from period to period.

Financial Condition

As of December 31, 2025, our total assets were $782.50 and our current and non-current liabilities, as reflected in available financial statement fields, were $0.

Our financial statements reflect an early-stage company with limited operating history. Investors should not place undue reliance on historical financial information given the company's limited operating history and the likelihood that future results will differ from historical results.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of December 31, 2025, we had cash and cash equivalents of approximately $782.50.

Based on our current operations, we are operating at approximately break-even, with monthly net cash flow of approximately $0.

Our monthly net cash burn or profit may vary significantly from month to month due to the timing of receipts and expenditures and other short-term factors. As a result, period-to-period comparisons may not be meaningful.

Based on our current plan, we expect to have sufficient cash to fund operations for at least the next 12 months.

To date, our operations have been funded through minimal cash resources and have not included any external financing.

Liquidity Assumptions

Our assessment of our liquidity and ability to fund operations is not a projection and is based on current assumptions regarding operating expenses, cash requirements, and capital needs. These assumptions may change, and actual results may differ materially due to changes in operating conditions, timing of receipts and payments, and other factors.

Dependence on Additional Financing

There can be no assurance that additional financing will be available on acceptable terms, or at all. If we are unable to raise additional capital when needed, we may be required to materially reduce or suspend operations.

Indebtedness and Capital Structure

As of the date of this offering statement, we did not have any outstanding indebtedness.

(For the avoidance of doubt, SAFEs are not treated as indebtedness.)

We have not conducted any exempt offerings or raised capital in the past three years. The founders have contributed capital contributions of approximately $2,000 to the business.

Known Trends, Events, and Uncertainties

Management is not currently aware of any known trends, events, or uncertainties that are reasonably likely to have a material adverse effect on our financial condition or results of operations over the next 12 months.

The absence of a discussion of any particular trend, event, or uncertainty should not be interpreted to mean that such matters do not exist; rather, it reflects management's judgment based on information currently available.

Changes Since the Date of the Financial Statements

There have been no material changes in our operations or financial condition since the date of the financial statements included in this offering.

Impact of This Offering

The proceeds from this offering are expected to be used to fund the essentials required to bring SecurePocket™ to market. The timing and extent of our use of proceeds will depend on the amount of proceeds raised and future operating conditions. Additional detail regarding our planned use of proceeds is provided in Item 10 of this Form C.

There can be no assurance that the proceeds of this offering will be sufficient to fund our operations or achieve our business objectives.

Certain information relevant to understanding our financial condition and liquidity is presented elsewhere in this offering statement, including in the financial statements, related notes, and the sections describing indebtedness and prior financings.

Forward-Looking Statements

This discussion contains forward-looking statements that are based on management's current expectations and assumptions. Actual results may differ materially from those expressed or implied by these statements.

OTHER MATERIAL INFORMATION

31. In addition to the information expressly required to be included in this Form, include:

- (1) any other material information presented to investors; and

- (2) such further material information, if any, as may be necessary to make the required statements, in light of the circumstances under which they are made, not misleading.

The Lead Investor. As described above, each Investor that has entered into the Investor Agreement will grant a power of attorney to make voting decisions on behalf of that Investor to the Lead Investor (the "Proxy"). The Proxy is irrevocable unless and until a Successor Lead Investor takes the place of the Lead Investor, in which case, the Investor has a five (5) calendar day period to revoke the Proxy. Pursuant to the Proxy, the Lead Investor or his or her successor will make voting decisions and take any other actions in connection with the voting on Investors' behalf.

The Lead Investor is an individual that is chosen to act in the role of Lead Investor on behalf of Investors that have a Proxy in effect. The Lead Investor will be chosen by the Company and approved by Wefunder Inc. and the identity of the initial Lead Investor will be disclosed to Investors before Investors make a final investment decision to purchase the securities related to the Company.

The Lead Investor can quit at any time or can be removed by Wefunder Inc. for cause or pursuant to a vote of investors as detailed in the Lead Investor Agreement. In the event the Lead Investor quits or is removed, the Company will choose a Successor Lead Investor who must be approved by Wefunder Inc. The identity of the Successor Lead Investor will be disclosed to Investors, and those that have a Proxy in effect can choose to either leave such Proxy in place or revoke such Proxy during a 5-day period beginning with notice of the replacement of the Lead Investor.

The Lead Investor will not receive any compensation for his or her services to the SPV. The Lead Investor may receive compensation if, in the future, Wefunder Advisors LLC forms a fund ("Fund") for accredited investors for the purpose of investing in a non-Regulation Crowdfunding offering of the Company. In such circumstances, the Lead Investor may act as a portfolio manager for that Fund (and as a supervised person of Wefunder Advisors) and may be compensated through that role.

Although the Lead Investor may act in multiple roles with respect to the Company's offerings and may potentially be compensated for some of its services, the Lead Investor's goal is to maximize the value of the Company and therefore maximize the value of securities issued by or related to the Company. As a result, the Lead Investor's interests should always be aligned with those of Investors. It is, however, possible that in some limited circumstances the Lead Investor's interests could diverge from the interests of Investors, as discussed in section 8 above.

Investors that wish to purchase securities related to the Company through Wefunder Portal must agree to give the Proxy described above to the Lead Investor, provided that if the Lead Investor is replaced, the Investor will have a 5-day period during which he or she may revoke the Proxy. If the Proxy is not revoked during this 5-day period, it will remain in effect.

Tax Filings. In order to complete necessary tax filings, the SPV is required to include information about each investor who holds an interest in the SPV, including each investor's taxpayer identification number ("TIN") (e.g., social security number or employer identification number). To the extent they have not already done so, each investor will be required to provide their TIN within the earlier of (i) two (2) years of making their investment or (ii) twenty (20) days prior to the date of any distribution from the SPV. If an investor does not provide their TIN within this time, the SPV reserves the right to withhold from any proceeds otherwise payable to the Investor an amount necessary for the SPV to satisfy its tax withholding obligations as well as the SPV's reasonable estimation of any penalties that may be charged by the IRS or other relevant authority as a result of the investor's failure to provide their TIN. If applicable, the Company may also be required to pay Wefunder certain fees for the preparation of tax filings. Such fees and the Company's obligation to deliver required tax documents are further specified in the related Tax Services Agreement ("TSA").

Investors should carefully review the terms of the SPV Subscription Agreement for additional information about tax filings.

Potential Dissolution of the SPV. The Company has agreed that it will pay an administrative fee and / or certain tax fees to Wefunder, in addition to delivering required tax information in the manner prescribed by the TSA, where applicable. Failure to pay such fees or provide Wefunder with required tax information could result in the dissolution of the SPV (an "SPV Dissolution Event"). Subsequent to an SPV Dissolution Event, the securities held by the SPV would be distributed directly and proportionally to the individual investors. This could create administrative complexities, as investors would need to manage the securities themselves rather than having them held and administered by the SPV. Additionally, the unplanned distribution of securities may not align with investors' intended investment strategy or asset allocation.

Upon an SPV Dissolution Event, the Investor hereby consents to and agrees to accept direct assignment of the SPV's rights and obligations under any investment agreements between the SPV and the Company that is located in the Form C or C/A offering materials. The Investor acknowledges they will be bound by all terms and conditions of such agreements as if they were an original party thereto.

ONGOING REPORTING

33. Once posted, the annual report may be found on the issuer's website at:

https://securepocketbrief.com/invest

The issuer must continue to comply with the ongoing reporting requirements until:

1. the issuer is required to file reports under Exchange Act Sections 13(a) or 15(d);
2. the issuer has filed at least one annual report and has fewer than 300 holders of record;
3. the issuer has filed at least three annual reports and has total assets that do not exceed $10 million; or
