AHP SERVICING LLC
NOTES TO THE CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2025

Note 1—Organization and Nature of Operations

AHP SERVICING LLC ("AHP"), is a limited liability company organized on June 27, 2017 under the laws of state of Delaware. The Company is primarily engaged in the business of originating, selling and servicing residential mortgage loans through its correspondent retail, and direct-to-consumer origination channels. The Company maintains its corporate office in Chicago, Illinois, with branch offices in multiple states. The Company purchases defaulted mortgage loans with the intent to modify or refinance the loan in order to sell the loan in the secondary market. If the Company is unable to modify, refinance, or sell the mortgage loan, then the Company will foreclose on the property taking ownership of the underlying collateral.

Note 2—Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Accounting – The Company prepares its financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP"). These financial statements are presented on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with U.S. GAAP, whereby, revenues are recognized in the period earned and expenses when incurred.

Use of Estimates – The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. The Company is subject to uncertainty of future events; economic, environmental, and political factors; and changes in the business environment; therefore, actual results could differ from estimates. Accordingly, accounting estimates used in the preparation of the financial statements will change as new events occur, more experience is acquired, additional information is obtained, and the Company's operating environment changes. Changes are made in estimates as circumstances warrant. Such changes in estimates are reflected in the statements.

Cash and Cash Equivalents – Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash held in bank deposit accounts and short-term, highly-liquid investments with original maturities of 90 days or less. The Company maintains its cash on deposit with a well-established and widely known bank headquartered in Ohio, which management considers to be financially stable and creditworthy. Deposited cash balances are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $250,000. At times, the Company may maintain balances in excess of the federally insured limits.

Accounts Receivable & Servicing Advances— Accounts receivable is comprised of servicing fee receivables that are recorded at the value of the service fee revenue earned. Servicing advances reflect tax and insurance advances and property protection advances made on behalf of investors under servicing agreements. Servicing advances made on behalf of investors under servicing agreements are reimbursable from the investor pursuant to terms of the contract. The Company periodically reviews accounts receivable and servicing advances for collectability and establishes a valuation allowance for estimated uncollectible amounts. No allowance has been recorded as of December 31, 2022, as management has determined that all amounts are fully collectible.

Mortgage Loans Held for Sale and Revenue Recognition – Mortgage loans held for sale are carried at the lower of cost or market. Gains and losses from the sale of mortgage loans held for sale are recognized based upon the difference between the sales proceeds and carrying value of the related loans upon sale and are recorded in gain on sale of mortgage loans held for sale on the statement of operations. Sales proceeds reflect the cash received from investors through the sale of the loan and servicing release premium. Mortgage loans held for sale are considered sold when the Company surrenders control over the financial assets. Control is considered to have been surrendered when the transferred assets have been isolated from the Company, beyond the reach of the Company and its creditors; the purchaser obtains the right (free of conditions that constrain it from taking advantage of that right) to pledge or exchange the transferred assets; and the Company does not maintain effective control over the transferred assets through either an agreement that both entitles and obligates the Company to repurchase or redeem the transferred assets before their maturity or the ability to unilaterally cause the holder to return specific financial assets. The Company typically considers the above criteria to have been met upon acceptance and receipt of sales proceeds from the purchaser.

Other Real Estate Owned – Once an asset has been foreclosed, they are initially recorded at fair value less costs to sell when acquired, establishing a new cost basis. Physical possession of residential real estate property collateralizing a consumer mortgage loan occurs when legal title is obtained upon completion of foreclosure or when the borrower conveys all interest in the property to satisfy the loan through completion of a deed in lieu of foreclosure or through a similar legal agreement. These assets are subsequently accounted for at lower of cost or fair value less estimated costs to sell. If fair value declines subsequent to foreclosure, a valuation allowance is recorded through expense. No allowance has been recorded as of December 31, 2022. Operating costs after acquisition are expensed as incurred.

Property and Equipment – Property and equipment is recorded at cost and depreciated or amortized using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets (principally three to seven years). Internal software development costs are capitalized during the application development stage. The costs capitalized related to external direct costs of materials and services related to the time spent on the project during the capitalization period. Costs related to internally developed software and software purchased for internal use, which are required to be capitalized pursuant to Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) 350-40 are included in property and equipment. The Company periodically assesses property and equipment for impairment whenever events or circumstances indicate the carrying amount of an asset may exceed its fair value. If property and equipment is considered impaired, the impairment losses will be recorded on the statement of operations.

Stock-Based Compensation – The Company has stock-based compensation, grant-date fair value is determined using management’s estimated value. Compensation cost for service-based equity awards is recognized on a straight-line basis over the requisite service period, which is generally the vesting period.

Fair Value of Other Financial Instruments – Due to their short-term nature, the carrying value of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, other assets, accounts payable, and accrued expenses and due to related parties approximate their fair value at December 31, 2024.

Revenue Recognition – FASB ASC 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (“ASC 606”), establishes principles for reporting information about the nature, amount, timing, and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows arising from the entity’s contracts to provide goods or services to customers. The core principle requires an entity to recognize revenue to depict the transfer of goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration it expects to be entitled to receive in exchange for those goods or services recognized as performance obligations are satisfied. The majority of the Company’s revenue generating transactions are not subject to ASC 606, including revenue generated from financial instruments, such as the Company’s mortgage loans, as well as revenue related to the Company’s mortgage servicing activities, as these activities are subject to other U.S. GAAP discussed elsewhere within the Company’s notes to consolidated financial statements.

Asset Management Fees – The Company performs asset management services for certain mortgage loans held by a related party. Asset management fees are based on a monthly per loan fee in accordance with the underlying agreement and are recognized into revenue on a monthly basis.

materials are sold. The revenue is recognized upon completion of the sale of the educational products at which time all performance obligations have been satisfied.

Loan Origination Fees – Loan origination fees represent revenue earned from originating mortgage loans. Loan origination fees generally represent flat per-loan fee amounts based on a percentage of the original principal loan balance and are recognized as revenue at the time the mortgage loans are funded. Loan origination expenses are charged to operations as incurred.

Interest Income – Interest income on mortgage loans held for sale is recognized for the period based upon the principal balance outstanding and contractual interest rates. Revenue recognition is discontinued when loans become 90 days delinquent or when, in management’s opinion, the recovery of principal and interest becomes doubtful and the mortgage loans held for sale are put on nonaccrual status.

Loan Servicing Fees – Loan servicing fees represent revenue earned for the servicing of loans for various investors and related entities under contractual servicing agreements. The Company receives monthly servicing fees based on contractual monthly rates as specified in the servicing agreement. The Company also receives special servicing fees for the successful resolution of loans as specified in the servicing agreement. The Company recognizes these revenues when earned. Loan servicing expenses are charged to operations as incurred.

Income Taxes – The Company has elected to be taxed as a partnership under the Internal Revenue Code. Accordingly, no federal income tax provision and state income taxes.

The Company allows for accredited and non-accredited investors in Series A Preferred Stock. The SEC has specified requirements that need to be met to be considered an accredited investor. Non-accredited investors have a limitation on how much can be invested in the Offering. The Board of Directors has exclusive control over all aspects of the Company's business. investor. The Company is also exposed to credit loss if the loan is originated and not sold to an investor and the mortgagor does not perform. The collateral upon extension of credit typically consists of a first deed of trust in the mortgagor's residential property. Commitments to originate loans do not necessarily reflect future cash requirements as some commitments are expected to expire without being drawn upon.

Regulatory Contingencies – The Company is subject to periodic audits and examinations, both formal and informal in nature, from various federal and state agencies, including those made as part of regulatory oversight of mortgage origination, servicing and financing activities. Such audits and examinations could result in additional actions, penalties or fines by state or federal governmental bodies, regulators or the courts.

Legal – The Company operates in a highly regulated industry and may be involved in various legal and regulatory proceedings, lawsuits and other claims arising in the ordinary course of its business. The amount, if any, of ultimate liability with respect to such matters cannot be determined, but despite the inherent uncertainties of litigation, management currently believes that the ultimate disposition of any such proceedings and exposure will not have, individually or taken together, a material adverse effect on the financial condition, results of operations, or cash flows of the Company. However, actual outcomes may differ from those expected and could have a material effect on the Company's financial position, results of its operations or cash flows in a future period. The Company accrues for losses when they are probable to occur, and such losses are reasonably estimable.
