Financial Milestones

To achieve our national deployment goals, we will roll-out local streaming television channel by regions on a quarterly time frame. We have divided the USA into 5 regions, West, South West, South East, Midwest and Northeast. Our first goal to achieve in the 2nd quarter of 2018 is to launch key cities in all regions which will provide a base of operations for that region's office. We then will focus our deployment in the Midwest, South East and North East Regions over the 3rd quarter of 2018, South West and West Regions in the 4th quarter of 2018. Once our liquidity is achieved through capital raises and operational profits we will over the next 2 years expand our local streaming television network into Canada, UK, Mexico, South America, Japan, Australia, France, Africa, India, Vietnam, Singapore and others

The company is raising funding for the expansion of the network nationally, which will require it to raise capital over the next 24 months. We plan to build out on a regional scale, we estimate that we will need to raise up to $1,070,000.00 within the next 12 months to launch all major cities across all regions.

Use of funds

We are seeking to raise a minimum of $10,000 (target amount) and up to $1,070,000 in this offering through Regulation Crowdfunding. If we manage to raise our amount of $1,070,000, we believe the amount will last us 12 months:

Our goal is to launch a streaming television channel for every large and medium size city in the USA, Canada and selective International locations. This will require us to seek multiple fund raises over the next 12 months. The cost will include payment for streaming television apps to be development, server

The Company might incur Irregular Use of Proceeds that may include but are not limited to the following over $10,000: Vendor payments and salary made to one's self; Any expense labeled "Administration Expenses" that is not strictly for administrative purposes; Any expense labeled "Travel and Entertainment"; Any expense that is for the purposes of inter-company debt or back payments.

Sources of Funds

Based on our forecast, with the liquidity of the anticipated full raise amount, we anticipate that we can operate each city channel profitably within 60 days.

The proceeds from this first capital raise is required for the liquidity of the company and will be used immediately to continue the launch of our 2nd 3rd and 4th quarter cities. We feel that equity crowdfunding is the method that we will continue to use as the source of liquidity as we continue to expand until our operational profits support our long-term liquidity needs.

If the company is successful in this offering, we will likely seek to continue to raise capital under crowdfunding offerings, equity or debt issuance's, or any other method available to the company.

We are a brand-new company.

Streaming Television Inc. was incorporated in June 2016. It is a new company, with no history upon which an evaluation of its past performance and future prospects can be made. As of 12/31/2017, the date of our last reviewed financial statements, STV's operations are still in development for principal operations. To date, we have not yet generated any revenue. Our failure to raise additional capital could have a negative impact on not only our financial condition but also our ability to execute our business plan.

We are offering non-voting common stock. We can issue preferred stock without stockholder approval, which could materially adversely affect the rights of common stockholders.

We are offering Class A Non-Voting Common Stock, which means you will not have a say in the direction of the Company, including any material corporate decisions, such as mergers, acquisitions, dissolution, or winding up of the Company. Our board of directors may make a decision you disagree with and you will not have a vote. Our certificate of incorporation authorizes us to issue "blank check" preferred stock, the designation, number, voting powers, preferences and rights of which may be fixed or altered from time to time by the board of directors. Accordingly, the board of directors has the authority, without stockholder approval, to issue preferred stock with rights that could materially adversely affect the rights of the common stockholders. New equity investors or lenders could have greater rights to our financial resources (such as liens over our assets) compared to existing shareholders. Additional financings could also dilute your ownership stake, potentially drastically.

The offering price has been arbitrarily set by STV.

STV set the price of its Class A Non-Voting Common Stock. Valuations for companies at our early stage of development are purely speculative. We have not generated any significant revenue, nor do we have deals in place yet to do so. Our valuation has not been validated by any independent third party and may fall precipitously. It is a question of whether you, the investor, are willing to pay this price for a percentage ownership of a start-up company. You should not invest if you disagree with this valuation.

There is no current market for STV's shares.

There is no formal marketplace for the resale of our securities. Shares are illiquid and have limited transferability particularly in the first year of ownership as further described in the Subscription Agreement. To the extent shares may be traded or sold in the future depends on factors beyond STV's control such as the availability of trading platforms. There is no guarantee there will be demand for the shares, or a trading platform that allows you to sell them. STV has no plans to apply for or otherwise seek trading or quotation of our Class A Non-Voting Common Stock on an over-the-counter market. It is also hard to predict if we will ever be acquired by a bigger company. Investors should assume that they may not be able to liquidate their investment or pledge their shares as collateral for an indefinite period of time.

We will need to hire more people to be successful.

STV's success depends on being able to retain and continue to recruit key performers. Our success will greatly depend on the skills, connections, and experiences of our CEO. STV will need to hire additional creative talent and individuals with a track record of success. There is no assurance that we will be able to identify, hire, and retain the right people for the various key positions. There is no assurance that STV's expansion plans into new markets will continue. There is no assurance the markets STV has been able to secure will be profitable.

Our Founder, CEO and Sole Director controls the Company and will continue to do so after this offering. We will add additional directors in the future.

Simon Bray, our Founder, Chief Executive Officer, and Sole Director, is currently also our controlling shareholder. As the majority holder of Class B Common Stock, which gives him one vote per share, as opposed to no voting rights for holders of Class A Non-Voting Common Stock like you, he will continue to hold a majority of the voting power of all our equity stock at the conclusion of this offering, and therefore control the board. This could lead to unintentional subjectivity in matters of corporate governance, in matters of compensation and related party transactions.

If STV unable to build and maintain our brand of information, our operating results may be adversely affected. We are at the mercy of public perception.

The lack of awareness of STV's brand, among consumers require STV to build and maintain a strong brand identity to attract and retain a broad viewer base. We must continue to expand into new markets to build brand awareness. Also important are effective consumer communications, such as marketing, customer service, and public relations. The role of social media by potential consumers of product is an important factor in our brand perception. If our efforts to create compelling viewing and/or otherwise promote and maintain our brand are not successful, our ability to attract and retain consumers may be adversely affected. Such a result would likely lead to a decline in attendance of our audience, and in the future, impact our viewership, which would adversely affect our operating results.

Higher demand than capacity

Even though we have 238, 30-minute time slots available per channel per city. Larger cities may require multiple channels. We plan to monitor the growth in larger cities and make sure we have planned for the additional cost to expand. But we may not be able to meet expansion needs and therefore we may lose valuable chances to reach viewers and consumers.

We rely on third parties to provide services essential to the success of our business

We rely on third parties to provide a variety of essential business functions for us, including the development of the connected TV apps, streaming bandwidth, website design, accounting, legal work, public relations, advertising. It is possible that some of these third parties will fail to perform their services or will perform them in an unacceptable manner. It is possible that we will experience delays, defects, errors, or other problems with their work that will materially affect our operations and we may have little or no recourse to recover damages for these losses. We rely on Amazon, Roku, and Apple's connected TV network to deliver our content to their streaming devices. A disruption in partner operations could materially and adversely affect our business. As a result, your investment could be adversely impacted by our reliance on third parties and their performance.

We may face technological challenges

Many of our growth assumptions are tied to our ability to deliver a mass channel production on the connected TV platform of each city. Each of the connected TV platforms have their own approval criteria and process, that could delay the roll out of a channel which could create significant delays and adversely impact the value of your investment.

We may not be able to protect all our intellectual property. We may be subject to claims against us for violation of third party intellectual property rights.

Our profitability may depend in part on our ability to effectively protect our intellectual property and our ability to operate without inadvertently infringing on the proprietary rights of others. Policing and protecting our intellectual property against piracy and unauthorized use by third parties may become time-consuming and expensive. Any litigation for both protecting our intellectual property and defending our original content could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results and financial condition, regardless of the outcome of such litigation. While we generally own the intellectual property in our content, we may be subject to third parties alleging that we have violated their intellectual property rights. If we are unable to obtain sufficient rights, successfully defend our use, develop non-infringing technology or otherwise alter our business practices in a timely manner in response to claims against us for infringement, misappropriation, misuse or other violation of third-party intellectual property rights, our business and competitive position may be adversely affected. Because of this type of dispute, we could also be required to develop non-infringing technology, make royalty or damage payments, enter into licensing agreements, adjust our merchandising or marketing

Description of Issuer's Securities

17. What other securities or classes of securities of the issuer are outstanding? Describe the material terms of any other outstanding securities or classes of securities of the issuer.

Class of Securities	Securities or amount authorized	Securities or amount outstanding	Voting Rights	Other Rights
Common Stock Class A	10,000,000	0	No voting rights	None
Common Stock Class B	10,000,000	9,000,000	One vote per share	None

18. How may the rights of the securities being offered be materially limited, diluted or qualified by the rights of any other class of security identified above?

We are offering Class A Non-Voting Common Stock, which means you will not have a say in the direction of the Company, including any material corporate decisions, such as mergers, acquisitions, dissolution or winding up of the Company. Our Board may make a decision you disagree with and you will not have a vote. Our certificate of incorporation authorizes us to issue "blank check" preferred stock, the designation, number, voting powers, preferences and rights of which may be fixed or altered from time to time by the board of directors. Accordingly, the board of directors has the authority, without stockholder approval, to issue preferred stock with rights that could materially adversely affect the rights of the common stockholders. New equity investors or lenders could have greater rights to our financial resources (such as liens over our assets) compared to existing shareholders. Additional financings could also dilute your ownership stake, potentially drastically.

19. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer? ☐ Yes ☒ No
20. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 above affect the purchasers of the securities being offered?

As holders of a majority-in-interest of voting rights in the Company, the Class B shareholders may make decisions with which the Investor disagrees, or that negatively affect the value of the Investor's securities in the Company, and the Investor will have no recourse to change these decisions. The Investor's interests may conflict with those of other investors, and there is no guarantee that the Company will develop in a way that is optimal for or advantageous to the Investor.

For example, the Class B shareholders may change the terms of the Articles of Incorporation for the company, change the terms of securities issued by the Company, change the management of the Company, and even force out minority holders of securities. The Class B shareholders may make changes that affect the tax treatment of the Company in ways that are unfavorable to you but favorable to them. They may also vote to engage in new offerings and/or to register certain of the Company's securities in a way that negatively affects the value of the securities the Investor owns. Other holders of securities of the Company may also have access to more information than the Investor, leaving the Investor at a disadvantage with respect to any decisions regarding the securities he or she owns.

In cases where the Company chooses to issue convertible debt, SAFEs, options, warrants, or additional Common or Preferred Stock, an Investor's interests in the Company may be diluted. This means that the pro-rata portion of the Company represented by the Investor's securities will decrease, which could also diminish the Investor's economic rights. The Investor is investing in a class of common stock with no voting rights. In addition, as discussed above, if a majority-in-interest of holders of securities with voting rights cause the Company to issue additional stock, an Investor's interest will typically also be diluted.

Based on the risks described above, the Investor could lose all or part of his or her investment in the securities in this offering and may never see positive returns.

21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

The valuation of the company has been performed based on the issuers' qualitative and financial information, including but not limited to: 1. the quality, size and experience of the management team; 2.- the market of reference and business model; 3. the product/service and customers' feedback; 4. - the presence of strategic partnerships as well as external investors; 5. - the presence of relevant IP and/or legal risks; 6. - the current financial performance of the company; 7. - the projected financial performance of the company.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

An Investor in non-voting shares in the Company will be limited as to its ability to control or influence the governance and operations of the Company.

The marketability and value of the Investor's interest in the Company will depend upon many factors outside the Investor's control. The Company will be managed by its officers and be governed in accordance with the strategic direction and decision-making of its board of directors, and the Investor will have no independent right to name or remove an officer or member of the board of directors of the Company.

Following the Investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell offer securities at different terms to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the Investor in the Company. The Investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured.

The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the Investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the Investor's interest in the Company.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions including:

Additional issuances of securities. Following the Investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the Investor in the Company. The Investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the Investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the Investor's interest in the Company.

Issuer repurchases of securities. The Company has authority to repurchase its securities from shareholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the Investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer. As the holder of non-voting common stock in the Company, the Investor will have no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the Investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company and the board of directors to manage the Company to maximize value for shareholders. Accordingly, the success of the Investor's investment in the Company will depend in large part upon the skill and expertise of the executive management of the Company and the board of directors. If the board of directors of the Company authorizes a sale of all or a part of the Company, or a disposition of a substantial portion of the Company's assets, there can be no guarantee that the value received by the Investor, together with the fair market estimate of the value remaining in the Company, will be equal to or exceed the value of the Investor's initial investment in the Company.

Transactions with related parties. The Investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management and board of directors of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms that are not arm's-length but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its shareholders. By acquiring an interest in the Company, the Investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

26. Was or is the issuer or any entities controlled by or under common control with the issuer a party to any transaction since the beginning of the issuer's last fiscal year, or any currently proposed transaction, where the amount involved exceeds five percent of the aggregate amount of capital raised by the issuer in reliance on Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act during the preceding 12-month period, including the amount the issuer seeks to raise in the current

1. Business and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Description of Business and Basis of Presentation

Streaming Television, Inc., a Georgia-based company, has entered the antenna, cable, and satellite television marketplace by launching the first national network of local internet streaming television channels for all major and significant cities in the United States.

Every day more and more people in cities across America are replacing their cable television service with one of the top 3 connected television streaming devices, Amazon Fire TV, Roku TV or Apple TV. This immediately disconnects that household from most of the local cable delivered content thus making it difficult for these customers to access important local information while the local channels are losing their customer base. It is this gap that streaming television is targeting to fill in.

Streaming Television Inc., is building a national network of City Streaming Television channels, that allows local content creators to expand their viewer reach, into the massive user base of Amazon Fire TV, Roku, and Apple TV. Streaming Television Inc., offers programs that help current and future local content producers move quickly to the connected streaming television and mobile devices.

Property and Equipment, Net

Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Depreciation is computed using a mid-month convention over the estimated useful lives of the assets, which for furniture and fixtures, computer equipment, software and auto range primarily from three to five years.

Repairs and maintenance performed on equipment or software are expensed as incurred.

Accounting Method

The Company's financial statements are prepared using the accrual method of accounting. In accordance with this method of accounting, revenue is recognized in the period in which it is earned and expenses are recognized in the period in which they are incurred. All revenue and expenses that are applicable to future periods are presented as deferred income or prepaid expenses on the accompanying balance sheets.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash equivalents consist primarily of short-term investments in overnight money market funds.
