Sofia de Lacerda

Creative Director & Designer

February 26, 2013, Sofia was a client of John's

I hired John recently as an iOS developer - the deadline was quite tight and from a technical point of view there was quite a lot to think about.

Put simply, John is one of those rare-breed of developers who are hard to come by.

He was able to fully understand what was required and one thing I really value is that he always asks the right questions. His technical knowledge is superb - he brings invaluable recommendations and ideas to the table.

John not only managed to get it all done within the timeframe but we also had time to properly nail all those little details which make such a difference.

A great asset to any creative project and team - I'll look forward to working with him again.

I highly recommend him.

Chris Grant

Front-End Developer

January 23, 2013, Chris reported directly to John

John is a coding wizard. There is no idea or language that he cannot tame.
