Politscope, Inc.

Up to $1,070,000 of Crowd Notes

Politscope, Inc. ("Politscope", the "Company," "we," "us", or "our"), is offering up to $1,070,000 worth of Crowd Notes of the Company (the "Securities"). Purchasers of Securities are sometimes referred to herein as "Purchasers". The minimum target offering is $25,000 (the "Target Amount"). This Offering is being conducted on a best efforts basis and the Company must reach its Target Amount of $25,000 by April 24, 2020. The Company is making concurrent offerings under both Regulation CF (the "Offering") and Regulation D (the "Combined Offerings"). Unless the Company raises at least the Target Amount of $25,000 under the Regulation CF Offering and a total of $500,000 under the Combined Offerings (the "Closing Amount") by April 24, 2020, no Securities will be sold in this Offering, investment commitments will be cancelled, and committed funds will be returned. Investors who completed the subscription process by April 17, 2020 will be permitted to increase their subscription amount at any time on or before April 24, 2020 upon Company consent. For the avoidance of doubt, no initial subscriptions from new investors will be accepted after April 17, 2020. The Company will accept oversubscriptions in excess of the Target Amount for the Offering up to $1,070,000 (the "Maximum Amount") on a first come, first served basis. If the Company reaches its Closing Amount prior to April 17, 2020, the Company may conduct the first of multiple closings, provided that the Offering has been posted for 21 days and that investors who have committed funds will be provided notice five business days prior to the close. The minimum amount of Securities that can be purchased is $1,000 per Purchaser (which may be waived by the Company, in its sole and absolute discretion). The offer made hereby is subject to modification, prior sale and withdrawal at any time.

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. You should not invest any funds in this Offering unless you can afford to lose your entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the Offering, including the merits and risks involved. These Securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") does not pass upon the merits of any Securities offered or the terms of the Offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any Offering document or literature.

These Securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the SEC has not made an independent determination that these Securities are exempt from registration.

RISK FACTORS

The SEC requires the Company to identify risks that are specific to its business and its financial condition. The Company is still subject to all the same risks that all companies in its business, and all companies in the economy, are exposed to. These include risks relating to economic downturns, political and economic events and technological developments (such as hacking and the ability to prevent hacking). Additionally, early-stage companies are inherently more risky than more developed companies. You should consider general risks as well as specific risks when deciding whether to invest.

Risks Related to the Company's Business and Industry

We have not prepared any audited financial statements. Therefore, you have no audited financial information regarding the Company's capitalization or assets or liabilities on which to make your investment decision. If you feel the information provided is insufficient, you should not invest in the Company.

The Company is pre-revenue and may not be successful in its efforts to grow and monetize its product. It has limited operating capital and for the foreseeable future will be dependent upon its ability to finance operations from the sale of equity or other financing alternatives. There can be no assurance that the Company will be able to successfully raise operating capital. The failure to successfully raise operating capital, and the failure to effectively monetize its products, could result in bankruptcy or other event which would have a material adverse effect on the Company and the value of its shares. The Company has limited assets and financial resources, so such adverse event could put investors' dollars at significant risk.

The development and commercialization of the Company's products and services are highly competitive. It faces competition with respect to any products and services that it may seek to develop or commercialize in the future. Its competitors include major companies worldwide. Many of the Company's competitors have significantly greater financial, technical and human resources and may have superior expertise in research and development and marketing approved services and thus may be better equipped than the Company to develop and commercialize services. These competitors also compete with the Company in recruiting and retaining qualified personnel and acquiring technologies. Smaller or early stage companies may also prove to be significant competitors, particularly through collaborative arrangements with large and established companies. Accordingly, the Company's competitors may commercialize products more rapidly or effectively than the Company is able to, which would adversely affect its competitive position, the likelihood that its services will achieve initial market acceptance and its ability to generate meaningful additional revenues from its products and services.

The Company has no history upon which an evaluation of its prospects and future performance can be made. Its proposed operations are subject to all business risks associated with new enterprises. The likelihood of its creation of a viable business must be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications, and delays frequently encountered in connection with the inception of a business, operation in a competitive industry, and the continued development of advertising, promotions, and a corresponding client base. There can be no assurances that the Company will ever operate profitably. You should consider the Company's business, operations and prospects in light of the risks, expenses, and challenges faced as an early-stage company.

The Company's cash position is relatively weak. Specifically, the Company has approximately $1450 in cash remaining as of September 30. The Company could be harmed if it is unable to meet its cash demands, and the Company may not be able to continue operations if they are not able to raise additional funds.

The Company must correctly predict, identify, and interpret changes in consumer preferences and demand, offer new updates to meet those changes, and respond to competitive innovation. Consumer preferences for the Company's products change continually. Its success depends on its ability to predict, identify, and interpret the tastes and habits of consumers and to offer products that appeal to consumer preferences. If the Company does not offer products that appeal to consumers, its sales and market share will decrease. It must distinguish between short-term fads, mid-term trends, and long-term changes in consumer preferences. If the Company does not accurately predict which shifts in consumer preferences will be long-term, or if it fails to introduce new and improved products to satisfy those preferences, its sales could decline. In addition, because of its varied customer base, it must offer an array of products that satisfy the broad spectrum of consumer preferences. If the Company fails to expand its product offerings successfully across product categories, or if it does not rapidly develop products in faster growing and more profitable categories, demand for its products could decrease, which could materially and adversely affect its product sales, financial condition, and results of operations.

In addition, achieving growth depends on its successful development, introduction, and marketing of innovative new products and line extensions. Successful innovation depends on its ability to correctly anticipate customer and consumer acceptance, to obtain, protect and maintain necessary intellectual property rights, and to avoid infringing the intellectual property rights of others and failure to do so could compromise its competitive position and adversely impact its business

The Company forecasts project aggressive growth in 2020. If these assumptions are wrong and the projections regarding market penetration are too aggressive, then the financial forecast may overstate the Company's overall viability. In addition, the forward-looking statements are only predictions. The Company has based these forward-looking statements largely on its current expectations and projections about future events and financial trends that it believes may affect its business, financial condition and results of operations. Forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other important factors that may cause actual results, performance or achievements to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements.

The Company is pre-revenue and may not be successful in its efforts to grow and monetize its product. It has limited operating capital and for the foreseeable future will be dependent upon its ability to finance operations from the sale of equity or other financing alternatives. There can be no assurance that the Company will be able to successfully raise operating capital. The failure to successfully raise operating capital, and the failure to effectively monetize its products, could result in bankruptcy or other event which would have a material adverse effect on the Company and the value of its shares. The Company has limited assets and financial resources, so such adverse event could put investors' dollars at significant risk.

The Company has very limited operating history since its organization. There is no assurance that the Company will meet its business objectives or operate profitably. To develop its products, the Company will need to incur significant expenses on further development and marketing. These expenses may exceed the amount of proceeds from this Offering and other sources of revenue, and it is likely the Company will experience net operating losses into the foreseeable future.

Following this Offering, the Company will almost certainly need to seek additional financing, which may include the issuance of additional shares of the Company's stock or other securities. There can be no assurance that the Company will be able to obtain such financing, or that, if available, such financing would not result in a substantial dilution in the value of the Company's outstanding stock. Additional financing may require that the Company issue securities that have rights, preferences and privileges that are senior to the Shares. The Company's financial success will depend, to a significant extent, on the efforts and abilities of its Key Employees, Nimish Desai, Israel Lopez, Walter Powell Jr. and Jackson White. The loss of the services of any of them for any reason could seriously impair the Company's ability to proceed as a viable entity.

The Company has engaged in Related Party Transactions. The Company has a short-term loan from related party Nimish Desai. The loan bears no interest and has no formal repayment structure. Nimish Desai is a member of the Company's management team. In addition, in 2018, the Company issued a promissory note in exchange for $10,000 to related party Nimish Desai. The Note bears an interest rate of 2% per annum compounded semiannually. The Note will become due on demand of the Note Holder.

Management has identified a Going Concern Note in its financial statements. Specifically, management has identified the following conditions and events that create uncertainty about the ability of the Company to continue as a going concern. The Company sustained net operating losses in 2018 & 2017. The following describes management's plans that alleviated substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The Company will raise funds through a Regulation CF offering. The Company's ability to meet its obligations as they become due is dependent upon the success of management's plans, as described above.

The individuals listed as advisors on the pitch deck are mentors, rather than formal advisors. These individuals do not have formal agreements in place with the Company, and may not be compensated for their expertise and advise.

The Company acquired Political Junkie, Inc. by way of a tax-free stock exchange version of a reverse triangular merger in May, 2019. In the merger, Israel Lopez, Walter Powell Jr. and Jackson White, the founders of Political Junkie, Inc., joined the Company and all Political Junkie, Inc. assets were assigned to the Company. Political Junkie, Inc. is now a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company.

The Company's strategy for development contemplates the Company will enter into and maintain various arrangements with customers and industry partners. There can be no assurance that such arrangements can be secured or will be maintained or that additional recurring arrangements will be entered into. Although the Company believes that parties to any such arrangements would have economic and other motivations to perform their contractual responsibilities in full, the amount and timing of resources which they would devote to these activities would not be within the control of the Company. There can be no assurance that such parties would perform their obligations as expected or that any revenue would be derived by the Company from such arrangements; nor can there be any assurance that the Company would be able to perform its obligations under any such arrangements. The Company's failure to perform its obligations under such arrangements could result in their termination by the other party or parties thereto, which would have a material adverse effect on the Company's success.

Deviation from Business Plan. The Company may attempt to sell its business prior to fully reaching market potential, in which case the value of the Company may not have an opportunity to mature, or the Company may abandon the development of its existing products and/or services to pursue other opportunities that arise.

There is no assurance that the Company's products and/or services will be accepted by customers in the intended market for such products and/or services, or that competitors may develop superior products and/or services or be able to provide such products and/or services at lower costs to customers than the Company. Lack of acceptance of the Company's products and/or services would have a material adverse effect on the Company and the value of the Shares. The Company's products and/or services and the value of the Company and its stock are generally subject to risks inherent in a general economic downturn or a downturn in the market in which the Company's products and/or services are sold.

Conflict of interest. While the Company's management does not feel that the Company is currently engaged in any other conflict of interest transactions or relationships with any of its Shareholders, Directors or officers (or their affiliates), there is no assurance that the Company will not in the future become involved in such conflict of interest transactions or relationships.

Certain potential conflicts of interest are inherent in the relationships of the Company with its Shareholders, Directors and officers. Such conflicts arise where these persons or their affiliates transact business with or have other relationships with the Company, or where such persons own businesses or are otherwise materially interested in or involved with individuals or firms that transact business with or have other relationships with the Company.

Risks Related to the Securities

The Crowd Notes will not be freely tradable until one year from the initial purchase date. Although the Crowd Notes may be tradable under federal securities law, state securities regulations may apply and each Purchaser should consult with his or her attorney. You should be aware of the long-term nature of this investment. There is not now and likely will not be a public market for the Crowd Notes. Because the Crowd Notes have not been registered under the 1933 Act or under the securities laws of any state or non-United States jurisdiction, the Crowd Notes have transfer restrictions under Rule 501 of Regulation CF. It is not currently contemplated that registration under the 1933 Act or other securities laws will be effected. Limitations on the transfer of the Crowd Notes may also adversely affect the price that you might be able to obtain for the Crowd Notes in a private sale. Purchasers should be aware of the long-term nature of their investment in the Company. Each Purchaser in this Offering will be required to represent that it is purchasing the Securities for its own account, for investment purposes and not with a view to resale or distribution thereof.

We are selling convertible notes that will convert into shares or result in payment in limited circumstances. These notes only convert or result in payment in limited circumstances. If the Crowd Notes reach their maturity date, investors (by a decision of the Crowd Note holders holding a majority of the principal amount of the outstanding Crowd Notes) will either (a) receive payment equal to the total of their purchase price plus outstanding accrued interest, or (b) convert the Crowd Notes into shares of the Company's most senior class of preferred stock, and if no preferred stock has been issued, then shares of Company's common stock (provided the Company has converted into a C-Corporation). If there is a merger, buyout or other corporate transaction that occurs before a qualified equity financing, investors will receive a payment of the greater of their purchase price plus outstanding interest, the amount of preferred shares they would have been able to purchase using the valuation cap (if the Company has converted into a C-Corporation prior), or, if the Company has not converted into a C-Corporation at that time, payment equal to the cash value of such preferred shares had the notes converted into preferred shares. If there is a qualified equity financing (an initial public offering registered under the 1933 Act or a financing using preferred shares), the notes will convert into a yet to-be-determined class of preferred stock, provided the Company has converted into a C-Corporation. If the notes convert because they have reached their maturity date, the notes will convert based on a $8,000,000 valuation cap. If the notes convert due to a qualified equity financing, the notes will convert at a discount of 20%, or based on a $8,000,000 valuation cap. This means that investors would be rewarded for taking on early risk compared to later investors. Outside investors at the time of conversion, if any, might value the Company at an amount well below the $8,000,000 valuation cap, so you should not view the $8,000,000 as being an indication of the Company's value.

We have not assessed the tax implications of using the Crowd Note. To the extent permitted by generally accepted accounting and tax principles, the Company and investors will treat, account and report the Crowd Note as debt and not equity for accounting and tax purposes and with respect to any returns filed with federal, state or local tax authorities. However, because the Crowd Note is a type of debt security, there has been inconsistent treatment under state and federal tax law as to whether securities like the Crowd Note can be considered a debt of the Company, or the issuance of equity. Investors should consult their tax advisers.

The Crowd Note contains dispute resolution provisions which limit your ability to bring class action lawsuits or seek remedy on a class basis. By purchasing a Crowd Note this Offering, you agree to be bound by the dispute resolution provisions found in Section 6 of the Crowd Note. Those provisions apply to claims regarding this Offering, the Crowd Notes and possibly the securities into which the Crowd Note are convertible. Under those provisions, disputes under the Crowd Note will be resolved in arbitration conducted in Delaware. Further, those provisions may limit your ability to bring class action lawsuits or similarly seek remedy on a class basis.

You may have limited rights. The Company has not yet authorized preferred stock, and there is no way to know what voting rights those securities will have. In addition, as an investor in the Regulation CF offering you will be considered a Non-Major Investor (as defined below) under the terms of the notes offered, and therefore, you have more limited information rights.

You will be bound by an investor proxy agreement which limits your voting rights. As a result of purchasing the notes, all Non-Major Investors (including all investors investing under Regulation CF) will be bound by an investor proxy agreement. This agreement will limit your voting rights and at a later time may require you to convert your future preferred shares into common shares without your consent. Non-Major Investors will be bound by this agreement, unless Non-Major Investors holding a majority of the principal amount outstanding of the Crowd Notes (or majority of the shares of the preferred equity the notes will convert into) held by Non-Major Investors vote to terminate the agreement.

A majority of the Company is owned by a small number of owners. Prior to the Offering, the Company's current owners of 20% or more of the Company's outstanding voting securities beneficially own up to 23.65% of the Company's voting securities. Subject to any fiduciary duties owed to our other owners or investors under Delaware law, these owners may be able to exercise significant influence over matters requiring owner approval, including the election of directors or managers and approval of significant Company transactions, and will have significant control over the Company's management and policies. Some of these persons may have interests that are different from yours. For example, these owners may support proposals and actions with which you may disagree. The concentration of ownership could delay or prevent a change in control of the Company or otherwise discourage a potential acquirer from attempting to obtain control of the Company, which in turn could reduce the price potential investors are willing to pay for the Company. In addition, these owners could use their voting influence to maintain the Company's existing management, delay or prevent changes in control of the Company, or support or reject other management and board proposals that are subject to owner approval.

Arbitrary Company Valuation and Determination of Purchase Price. The valuations set forth in the Notes for purposes of calculating certain default conversion rates are arbitrary and are not an indication or representation of the value of the Company. The purchase price of equity in a future Qualified Financing (the "Purchase Price") may be determined based upon a number of factors, some of which bear no relation to established valuation criteria such as assets, earnings, net worth or book value. The Purchase Price will be approved by the Company's management as adequate consideration for the equity offered in a Qualified Financing. There can be no assurance that the Purchase Price represents the fair market value of this equity. No formal independent fair market valuation of the Company or its equity has been or is expected to be obtained.

The Company's Board of Directors currently consists of five individuals elected by a majority of the issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock of the Company. Currently, Walter Powell Jr., Israel Lopez, and Nim Desai are the three Directors with two vacant seats. After the sale of all of the Securities in this Offering, the Founders will continue to be the controlling holders of Common Stock of the Company and will collectively control the election of the three-person Board of Directors.

Absence of Distributions. The Company has never paid distributions and does not intend to pay any distributions in the immediate future.

Each of the two Founders will hold a significant number of shares of Common Stock of the Company even after the Offering, and are officers of the Company, and are willing to provide services to the Company. Additionally, Walter Powell Jr. is on the Company's Board of Directors. The Founders will be compensated for those services pursuant to agreements and/or arrangements that are subject to approval, interpretation and/or termination by the Company's Board of Directors.

BUSINESS

Description of the Business

Politiscope is empowering voters with digestible and objective information along with easy action items. Politics in the palm of your hand!

Business Plan

With the concept of "fake news" now a solid part of the American lexicon and with divisive, emotionally-tinged partisanship on the rise, many people have become confused, overwhelmed, and therefore disempowered in terms of their ability to cast an informed vote. This has resulted in an overall decline of the U.S. public's opinion of—and trust in—the country’s political process. By providing easy access to clear, accurate, and objective information about current politicians and political activity, and by allowing users to register to vote and donate within the app itself, Politiscope is helping to solve these issues. Politiscope is a Delaware Corporation, our Politiscope is available on iOS and Android. We merged with DownTicket in the spring of 2019. We currently have over 30,000 users and an exclusive partnership with The Young Turks Network to advertise our application. We are projecting to hit 2,000,000 active users by the end of 2020. We also have $60K in ARR on our b2b side, licensing our API and our white-labeled product. We are projecting to be in the green by Q3 2020.

Competition

The markets in which our products are sold are highly competitive. Our products compete against similar products of many large and small companies, including well-known global competitors. In many of the markets and industry segments in which we sell our products, we compete against other branded products as well as retailers’ private-label brands. Product quality, performance, value and packaging are also important differentiating factors.

USE OF PROCEEDS

We will adjust roles and tasks based on the net proceeds of the Offering. We plan to use these proceeds as described below.

Offering Expenses

The use of proceeds for expenses related to the Combined Offering is as follows:

- If the Company raises the Target Amount, it will use 44.50% of the proceeds, or $11,125, towards offering expenses;

The Company has the following debt outstanding:

During the year ended December 31, 2017 and 2018, the Company issued Convertible Securities in the form of a convertible note purchase agreements (“Notes”). The Notes have a maturity date of December 31, 2019 and bear interest at a rate of 4.0% per annum. The Notes provide a right to the holder to future equity in the Company in the form of Note Preferred Stock. Note Preferred Stock are shares of a series of Preferred Stock issued to the investor in a qualified equity financing of $1,000,000 or more (“Qualified Financing”). If there is a liquidity event (as defined in the Notes) or a Qualified Financing, the investor will, at their option, either (i) receive a cash payment equal to the face value of the Note plus interest accrued (“Purchase Amount”) or (ii) automatically receive from the Company the number of shares issued to the holder is determined by dividing the outstanding balance of the note by a conversion price equal to the less of (1) 80% of the lowest price per share of such class or series of stock paid by the investors in a Qualified Financing (equity financing of $1,000,000 or more) or (2) the conversion price obtained by dividing $3,000,000 by the Company’s fully-diluted capitalization immediately prior to such conversion of the Notes and the Qualified Financing (assuming conversion of all securities convertible into Common Stock, exercise of all outstanding options and warrants to purchase Common Stock and including the shares reserved or authorized for issuance under the Company’s existing stock option plan and any increase thereto, or any equity incentive plan to be adopted, in connection with such transaction, but excluding, for this purpose, the deemed conversion of the Notes). The type and class of securities to be issued upon such conversion shall be the same as those issued to new investors in the Qualified Financing; provided, however, that the excess shares issued as a result of the preceding discount or conversion cap, as applicable will be issued Common Stock (rather than Note Preferred Stock).

If there is a dissolution event the Company will pay an amount equal to the Purchase Amount, due and payable to the investor immediately prior to, or concurrent with, the consummation of the dissolution event. The Purchase Amount will be paid prior and in preference to any distribution of any of the assets of the Company to holders of outstanding capital stock. If immediately prior to the consummation of the dissolution event, the assets of the Company legally available for distribution to all Note holders, are insufficient to permit the payment to their respective Purchase Amounts, then all of the assets of the Company legally available for distribution will be distributed with equal priority and pro-rata among the Note holders as a single class.

The Notes will expire and terminate upon either (i) the issuance of shares to the investor pursuant to a Qualified Financing or (ii) the payment, or setting aside for payment, of amounts due to the investor pursuant to a liquidity or dissolution event.

During 2017, the Company issued $225,000 worth of Notes, with a valuation cap of $3,000,000, an interest rate of 4% and a discount rate of 20%.

Operations

Politiscope Inc. ("the Company") is a corporation organized under the laws of Delaware and includes its subsidiary, Political Junkie, Inc., a corporation organized under the laws of Delaware. Political Junkie, Inc. was acquired by Politiscope, Inc. via a non-taxable stock exchange variation of a reverse triangular merger in 2019. The Company operates an online platform that provides users with information and tools supporting increased user engagement in politics nationwide.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

The proceeds from the Offering are essential to our operations. We plan to use the proceeds as set forth above under "Use of Proceeds", which is an indispensable element of our business strategy. The Offering proceeds will have a beneficial effect on our liquidity, as we have approximately $1450 in cash on hand as of September 30, 2019 which will be augmented by the Offering proceeds and used to execute our business strategy.

The Company currently does not have any additional outside sources of capital other than the proceeds from the Combined Offerings.

Capital Expenditures and Other Obligations

The Company does not intend to make any material capital expenditures in the future.

Trends and Uncertainties

After reviewing the above discussion of the steps the Company intends to take, potential Purchasers should consider whether achievement of each step within the estimated time frame is realistic in their judgment. Potential Purchasers should also assess the consequences to the Company of any delays in taking these steps and whether the Company will need additional financing to accomplish them.

The financial statements are an important part of this Form C and should be reviewed in their entirety. The financial statements of the Company are attached hereto as Exhibit B.

Valuation

Before making an investment decision, you should carefully consider this valuation and the factors used to reach such valuation. Such valuation may not be accurate and you are encouraged to determine your own independent value of the Company prior to investing.

As discussed in "Dilution" below, the valuation will determine the amount by which the investor's stake is diluted immediately upon investment. An early-stage company typically sells its shares (or grants options over its shares) to its founders and early employees at a very low cash cost, because they are, in effect, putting their "sweat equity" into the Company. When the Company seeks cash investments from outside investors, like you, the new investors typically pay a much larger sum for their shares than the founders or earlier investors, which means that the cash value of your stake is immediately diluted because each share of the same type is worth the same amount, and you paid more for your shares (or the notes convertible into shares) than earlier investors did for theirs.

There are several ways to value a company. None of them is perfect and all of them involve a certain amount of guesswork. The same method can produce a different valuation if used by a different person.

Liquidation Value - The amount for which the assets of the Company can be sold, minus the liabilities owed, e.g., the assets of a bakery include the cake mixers, ingredients, baking tins, etc. The liabilities of a bakery include the cost of rent or mortgage on the bakery. However, this value does not reflect the potential value of a business, e.g. the value of the secret recipe. The value for most startups lies in their potential, as many early stage companies do not have many assets (they probably need to raise funds through a securities offering in order to purchase some equipment).

Book Value - This is based on analysis of the Company's financial statements, usually looking at the Company's balance sheet as prepared by its accountants. However, the balance sheet only looks at costs (i.e. what was paid for the asset), and does not consider whether the asset has increased in value over time. In addition, some intangible assets, such as patents, trademarks or trade names, are very valuable but are not usually represented at their market value on the balance sheet.

Earnings Approach - This is based on what the investor will pay (the present value) for what the investor expects to obtain in the future (the future return), taking into account inflation, the lost opportunity to participate in other investments, the risk of not receiving the return. However, predictions of the future are uncertain and valuation of future returns is a best guess.

Different methods of valuation produce a different answer as to what your investment is worth. Typically, liquidation value and book value will produce a lower valuation than the earnings approach. However, the earnings approach is also most likely to be risky as it is based on many assumptions about the future, while the liquidation value and book value are much more conservative.

Future investors (including people seeking to acquire the Company) may value the Company differently. They may use a different valuation method, or different assumptions about the Company's business and its market. Different valuations may mean that the value assigned to your investment changes. It frequently happens that when a large institutional investor such as a venture capitalist makes an investment in a company, it values the Company at a lower price than the initial investors did. If this happens, the value of the investment will go down.

THE OFFERING AND THE SECURITIES

The Securities Offered in this Offering

The following description is a brief summary of the material terms of the Securities being offered and is qualified in its entirety by the terms contained in the Crowd Notes.

The Crowd Notes sold in this Offering will convert in the following circumstances, provided the Company has converted from a limited liability company to a C-Corporation:

- If a "corporate transaction" (such as the sale of the Company) occurs prior to a "qualified equity financing" (which is a preferred stock financing raising of not less than $1,000,000).
- Once a "qualified equity financing" occurs, the notes thereafter will automatically convert into the shares of preferred stock sold in the qualified equity financing.
- If the maturity date is reached, the note holders will have the option, by decision of the majority outstanding note holders, to convert into the Company's most senior class of preferred stock, and if no preferred stock has been issued, then shares of the Company's common stock.

The price at which the Crowd Notes sold in this Offering will convert will be:

- At a discount of 20% to the price in the qualified equity financing, subject to a $8,000,000 valuation cap, if the conversion takes place after the qualified equity financing;
- If conversion takes place prior to a qualified equity financing due to a corporate transaction, the greater of the outstanding principal of the Crowd Notes, or the amount of stock the Crowd Notes would convert into under the valuation cap; or
- If conversion takes place prior to a qualified equity financing because the maturity date has been reached, subject to a $8,000,000 valuation cap.

Until the earlier of the qualified equity financing or the corporate transaction, the Crowd Notes accrue an annual interest rate of 5%, compounded quarterly.

The securities into which the Crowd Notes in this Offering will convert will have more limited voting and information rights than those to be issued to Major Investors on conversion.

Our Target Amount for this Offering to investors under Regulation Crowdfunding is $25,000.

Additionally, we have set a minimum Closing Amount of $500,000 between our Combined Offerings under Regulation Crowdfunding and Regulation D, which we will need to meet before the Offering may close.

The minimum investment in this Offering is $1,000. SeedInvest Auto Invest participants have a lower investment minimum in this offering of $200. Investments of $20,000 or greater will only be accepted through the Regulation D offering.

All Non-Major Investors of Crowd Notes will be bound by an investor proxy agreement. This agreement will limit your voting rights and at a later time may require you to convert your future preferred shares into common shares without your consent. Non-Major Investors will be bound by this agreement, unless Non-Major Investors holding a majority of the principal amount outstanding of the Crowd Notes (or majority of the shares of the preferred equity the notes will convert into) held by Non-Major Investors vote to terminate the agreement.

Securities Sold Pursuant to Regulation D

The Company is selling securities in a concurrent offering to accredited investors under Rule 506(c) under the 1933 Act at the same time as this Offering under Regulation Crowdfunding (together, the "Combined Offerings").

The Crowd Notes in the Regulation D offering convert under similar terms to the Crowd Notes in this offering. However, investors who invest $50,000 or greater will be considered "Major Investors" under the Crowd Note. Major Investors will be entitled to greater information rights than Non-Major Investors in the Combined Offerings. In the future, Major Investors may also be entitled to greater voting rights than their non-major counterparts.

Preferred Stock

The Company acquired Political Junkie, Inc. by way of a tax-free stock exchange version of a reverse triangular merger in May 2019. In the merger, Israel Lopez, Walter Powell Jr. and Jackson White, the founders of Political Junkie, Inc., joined the Company and all Political Junkie, Inc. assets were assigned to the Company. Political Junkie, Inc. is now a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company. At the time of the merge, the Company had two classes of stock, common and preferred, and Political Junkie, Inc. had two classes of stock, common and preferred, and both companies had open convertible security financing rounds with investors procured in both. The merge caused a conversion of the convertible securities on the cap tables of both companies. The end result was that the Company's preferred stock, Political Junkie's preferred stock, and the preferred stock issued via the conversion of the convertible securities were all pooled all given the same preferred stock rights. But, given that there were four separate issuances of the preferred stock we had to classify them separately. For preference and rights purposes, the classes are exactly the same.

Dilution

Even once the Crowd Note convert into preferred or common equity securities, as applicable, the investor's stake in the Company could be diluted due to the Company issuing additional shares. In other words, when the Company issues more shares (or additional equity interests), the percentage of the Company that you own will go down, even though the value of the Company may go up. You will own a smaller piece of a larger company. This increase in number of shares outstanding could result from a stock offering (such as an initial public offering, another crowdfunding round, a venture capital round or angel investment), employees exercising stock options, or by conversion of certain instruments (e.g. convertible bonds, preferred shares or warrants) into stock.

If a company decides to issue more shares, an investor could experience value dilution, with each share being worth less than before, and control dilution, with the total percentage an investor owns being less than before. There may also be earnings dilution, with a reduction in the amount earned per share (though this typically occurs only if the company offers dividends, and most early stage companies are unlikely to offer dividends, preferring to invest any earnings into the company).

The type of dilution that hurts early-stage investors mostly occurs when a company sells more shares in a "down round," meaning at a lower valuation than in earlier offerings. An example of how this might occur is as follows (numbers are for illustrative purposes only):

- In June 2014 Jane invests $20,000 for shares that represent 2% of a company valued at $1 million.
- In December, the company is doing very well and sells $5 million in shares to venture capitalists on a valuation (before the new investment) of $10 million. Jane now owns only 1.3% of the company but her stake is worth $200,000.
- In June 2015 the company has run into serious problems and in order to stay afloat it raises $1 million at a valuation of only $2 million (the "down round"). Jane now owns only 0.89% of the company and her stake is worth only $26,660.

This type of dilution might also happen upon conversion of convertible notes into shares. Typically, the terms of convertible notes issued by early-stage companies provide that in the event of another round of financing, the holders of the convertible notes get to convert their notes into equity at a "discount" to the price paid by the new investors, i.e., they get more shares than the new investors would for the same price. Additionally, convertible notes may have a "price cap" on the conversion price, which effectively acts as a share price ceiling. Either way, the holders of the convertible notes get more shares for their money than new investors. In the event that the financing is a "down round" the holders of the convertible notes will dilute existing equity holders, and even more than the new investors do, because they get more shares for their money.

If you are making an investment expecting to own a certain percentage of the Company or expecting each share to hold a certain amount of value, it's important to realize how the value of those shares can decrease by actions taken by the Company. Dilution can make drastic changes to the value of each share, ownership percentage, voting control, and earnings per share.

Remember

SEEDINVEST INVESTMENT PROCESS

Making an Investment in the Company

How does investing work?

When you complete your investment on SeedInvest, your money will be transferred to an escrow account where an independent escrow agent will watch over your investment until it is accepted by the Company. Once the Company accepts your investment, and certain regulatory procedures are completed, your money will be transferred from the escrow account to the Company in exchange for your Crowd Note. At that point, you will be an investor in the Company.

SeedInvest Regulation CF rules regarding the investment process:

- Investors may cancel an investment commitment until 48 hours prior to the deadline identified in the issuer's Offering materials;
- The intermediary will notify investors when the target offering amount has been met;
- The Company is making concurrent offerings under both Regulation CF and Regulation D and unless the Company raises at least the target amount under the Regulation CF Offering and the closing amount under both offerings, it will not close this Offering;
- If an issuer reaches a target offering amount and the closing amount prior to the deadline identified in its offering materials, it may close the Offering early if it provides notice about the new Offering deadline at least five business days prior to such new Offering deadline;
- If there is a material change and an investor does not reconfirm his or her investment commitment, the investor's investment commitment will be cancelled and the committed funds will be returned;

- If an issuer does not reach both the target offering amount and the closing offering amount prior to the deadline identified in its offering materials, no Securities will be sold in the Offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned; and
- If an investor does not cancel an investment commitment before the 48-hour period prior to the Offering deadline, the funds will be released to the issuer upon closing of the Offering and the investor will receive Securities in exchange for his or her investment.

What will I need to complete my investment?

To make an investment you will need the following information readily available:

1. Personal information such as your current address and phone number
2. Employment and employer information
3. Net worth and income information
4. Social Security Number or government-issued identification
5. ABA bank routing number and checking account number

What is the difference between preferred equity and a convertible note?

Preferred equity is usually issued to outside investors and carries rights and conditions that are different from that of common stock. For example, preferred equity may include rights that prevent or minimize the effects of dilution or grants special privileges in situations when the Company is sold.

A convertible note is a unique form of debt that converts into equity, usually in conjunction with a future financing round. The investor effectively loans money to the Company with the expectation that they will receive equity in the Company in the future at a discounted price per share when the Company raises its next round of financing. To learn more about startup investment types, check out "How to Choose a Startup Investment" in the SeedInvest Academy.

How much can I invest?

An investor is limited in the amount that he or she may invest in a Regulation Crowdfunding Offering during any 12-month period:

- If either the annual income or the net worth of the investor is less than $107,000, the investor is limited to the greater of $2,000 or 5% of the lesser of his or her annual income or net worth.
- If the annual income and net worth of the investor are both equal to or greater than $107,000, the investor is limited to 10% of the lesser of his or her annual income or net worth, to a maximum of $107,000. Separately, the Company has set a minimum investment amount.

How can I (or the Company) cancel my investment?

For Offerings made under Regulation Crowdfunding, you may cancel your investment at any time up to 48 hours before a closing occurs or an earlier date set by the Company. You will be sent a reminder notification approximately five days before the closing or set date giving you an opportunity to cancel your investment if you had not already done so. Once a closing occurs, and if you have not cancelled your investment, you will receive an email notifying you that your Securities have been issued. If you have already funded your investment, let SeedInvest know by emailing cancellations@seedinvest.com. Please include your name, the Company's name, the amount, the investment number, and the date you made your investment.

After My Investment

What is my ongoing relationship with the Company?

You are an investor in the Company, you do own securities after all! But more importantly, companies that have raised money via Regulation Crowdfunding must file information with the SEC and post it on their website on an annual basis. Receiving regular company updates is important to keep investors educated and informed about the progress of the Company and their investments. This annual report includes information similar to the Company's initial Form C filing and key information that a company will want to share with its investors to foster a dynamic and healthy relationship.

In certain circumstances a company may terminate its ongoing reporting requirements if:

- (1) the Company is required to file reports under Section 13(a) or Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act;
- (2) the Company has filed at least three annual reports pursuant to Regulation CF and has total assets that do not exceed $10,000,000;
- (3) the Company has filed at least one annual report pursuant to Regulation CF and has fewer than 300 holders of record;

- (4) the Company or another party repurchases all of the Securities issued in reliance on Section 4(a)(6) of the 1933 Act, including any payment in full of debt securities or any complete redemption of redeemable securities; or
- (5) the Company liquidates or dissolves its business in accordance with state law.

However, regardless of whether a company has terminated its ongoing reporting requirements per SEC rules, SeedInvest works with all companies on its platform to ensure that investors are provided quarterly updates. These quarterly reports will include information such as: (i) quarterly net sales, (ii) quarterly change in cash and cash on hand, (iii) material updates on the business, (iv) fundraising updates (any plans for next round, current round status, etc.), and (v) any notable press and news.

How do I keep track of this investment?

You can return to SeedInvest at any time to view your portfolio of investment and obtain a summary statement. In addition to monthly account statements, you may also receive periodic updates from the Company about its business.

Can I get rid of my Securities after buying them?

Securities purchased through a Regulation Crowdfunding Offering are not freely transferable for one year after the date of purchase, except in the case where they are transferred:

1. To the Company that sold the Securities
2. To an accredited investor
3. As part of an Offering registered with the SEC (think IPO)
4. To a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the purchaser, or in connection with the death or divorce of the purchaser

Regardless, after the one year holding period has expired, you should not plan on being able to readily transfer and/or sell your security. Currently, there is no market or liquidity for these Securities and the Company does not have any plans to list these Securities on an exchange or other secondary market. At some point the Company may choose to do so, but until then you should plan to hold your investment for a significant period of time before a "liquidation event" occurs.

INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTANT'S REVIEW REPORT

To Management

Seattle, WA

We have reviewed the accompanying financial statements of Politscope, Inc. (a corporation), which comprise the balance sheet as of December 31, 2018 and 2017, and the related statements of income, changes in shareholders' equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements. A review includes primarily applying analytical procedures to management's financial data and making inquiries of company management. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements as a whole. Accordingly, We do not express such an opinion.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement whether due to fraud or error.

Accountant's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to conduct the review engagement in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services promulgated by the Accounting and Review Services Committee of the AICPA. Those standards require us to perform procedures to obtain limited assurance as a basis for reporting whether We are aware of any material modifications that should be made to the financial statements for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. We believe that the results of Our procedures provide a reasonable basis for Our conclusion.

Accountant's Conclusion

Based on Our review, We are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Going Concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note B, certain conditions raise an uncertainty about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plans in regard to these matters are also described in Note B. The accompanying financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty. Our conclusion is not modified with respect to this matter.

POLITISCOPE, INC.
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (REVIEWED)
DECEMBER 31, 2018 AND 2017

NOTE A- ORGANIZATION AND NATURE OF ACTIVITIES

Politiscope, Inc. (“the Company”) is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Delaware. The Company owns a marketing app that does informs its users about politics.

The Company wholly owns Political Junkie, Inc.

NOTE B- GOING CONCERN MATTERS

The financial statements have been prepared on the going concern basis, which assumes that the Company will continue in operation for the foreseeable future. However, management has identified the following conditions and events that created an uncertainty about the ability of the Company to continue as a going concern. The Company sustained net operating losses in 2018 & 2017.

The following describes management's plans that alleviated substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The Company will raise funds through a Regulation CF offering. The Company's ability to meet its obligations as they become due is dependent upon the success of management's plans, as described above.

NOTE C- SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Consolidation

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“US GAAP”) and include the results of operations of both the Company and its wholly owned subsidiary.

Significant Risks and Uncertainties

The Company is subject to customary risks and uncertainties associated with development of new technology including, but not limited to, dependence on key personnel, costs of services provided by third parties, the need to obtain additional financing, and limited operating history.

The Company currently has no developed products for commercialization and there can be no assurance that the Company’s research and development will be successfully commercialized. Developing and commercializing a product requires significant capital, and based on the current operating plan, the Company expects to continue to incur operating losses as well as cash outflows from operations in the near term.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

POLITISCOPE, INC.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include all cash balances, and highly liquid investments with maturities of three months or less when purchased.

Revenue

The Company recognizes revenue when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, delivery has occurred, or services have been rendered, the fee for the arrangement is fixed or determinable and collectability is reasonably assured.

Fixed Assets

The Company capitalizes assets with an expected useful life of one year or more, and an original purchase price of $1,000 or more. Depreciation is calculated on a straight-line basis over management's estimate of each asset's useful life.

Domain Name

Domain Name is a domain purchased from a third party. As of December 31, 2018, the Company recognized no impairment loss related to the Domain Name.

Due to Related Party

Due to Related Party is short term loan from, related party, Nimish Desai. The loan bears no interest and has no formal repayment structure. Nimish Desai is a member of the Company's management team.

Research & Development

The Company expenses research and development costs as incurred.

Advertising

The Company records advertising expenses in the year incurred.

Equity Based Compensation

The Company accounts for stock options issued to employees under ASC 718 (Stock Compensation). Under ASC 718, share-based compensation cost to employees is measured at the grant date, based on the estimated fair value of the award, and is recognized as an item of expense ratably over the employee's requisite vesting period. The Company has elected early adoption of ASU 2018-07, which permits measurement of stock options at their intrinsic value, instead of their fair value. An option's intrinsic value is defined as the amount by which the fair value of the underlying stock exceeds the exercise price of an option. In certain cases, this means that option compensation granted by the Company may have an intrinsic value of $0.

The Company measures compensation expense for its non-employee stock-based compensation under ASC 505 (Equity). The fair value of the option issued or committed to be issued is used to measure the transaction, as this is more reliable than the fair value of the services received. The fair value is measured at the value of the Company's common stock on the date that the commitment for performance by the counterparty has been reached or the counterparty's performance is complete. The fair value of the equity instrument is charged directly to expense and credited to additional paid-in capital.

POLITISCOPE, INC.

The Company currently has 250,000 stock options and 490,000 warrants outstanding.

Income Taxes

The Company applies ASC 740 Income Taxes ("ASC 740"). Deferred income taxes are recognized for the tax consequences in future years of differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their financial statement reported amounts at each period end, based on enacted tax laws and statutory tax rates applicable to the periods in which the differences are expected to affect taxable income. Valuation allowances are established, when necessary, to reduce deferred tax assets to the amount expected to be realized. The provision for income taxes represents the tax expense for the period, if any and the change during the period in deferred tax assets and liabilities. ASC 740 also provides criteria for the recognition, measurement, presentation and disclosure of uncertain tax positions. A tax benefit from an uncertain position is recognized only if it is "more likely than not" that the position is sustainable upon examination by the relevant taxing authority based on its technical merit.

The Company is subject to tax filing requirements as a corporation in the federal jurisdiction of the United States. The Company sustained net operating losses during fiscal years 2016 and 2017. Net operating losses will be carried forward to reduce taxable income in future years. Due to management's uncertainty as to the timing and valuation of any benefits associated with the net operating loss carryforwards, the Company has elected to recognize an allowance to account for them in the financial statements, but has fully reserved it. Under current law, net operating losses may be carried forward indefinitely.

The Company is subject to franchise tax filing requirements in the State of Delaware.

Recently Adopted Accounting Pronouncements

From time to time, new accounting pronouncements are issued by the Financial Accounting Standards Board, or FASB, or other standard setting bodies and adopted by the Company as of the specified effective date. Unless otherwise discussed, the Company believes that the impact of recently issued standards that are not yet effective will not have a material impact on its financial position or results of operations upon adoption.

In May 2014, the FASB issued ASU, 2014-09—Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606), or ASU 2014-09, and further updated through ASU 2016-12, or ASU 2016-12, which amends the existing accounting standards for revenue recognition. ASU 2014-09 is based on principles that govern the recognition of revenue at an amount to which an entity expects to be entitled to when products are transferred to customers. This guidance is effective for annual reporting periods, and interim periods within those years, beginning December 15, 2018 for non-public entities. The new revenue standard may be applied retrospectively to each prior period presented or retrospectively with the cumulative effect recognized as of the date of adoption. The adoption of ASU 2014-09 had no material impact on the Company's financial statements and related disclosures.

NOTE D- DEBT

In 2017, the Company issued a series of convertible promissory notes in exchange for $175,000. The Notes will mature on December 31, 2018 and bear an interest rate of 4% per annum. The Notes may automatically convert under certain pre-defined conditions such as a Qualified Equity Financing Event or change of ownership.

In 2018, the Company issued a series of convertible promissory notes in exchange for $300,000. The Notes will mature on December 31, 2018 and bear an interest rate of 4% per annum. The Notes may automatically convert under certain pre-defined conditions such as a Qualified Equity Financing Event or change of ownership.

In 2018, the Company issued a promissory note in exchange for $10,000 to related party Nimish Desai. The Note bears an interest rate of 2% per annum compounded semiannually. The Note will become due on demand of the Note Holder. Nimish Desai is a member of the Company's management team.

Subsequent to the period, the Company issued additional convertible promissory notes in exchange for $230,000.

Subsequent to the period, the Company acquired Political Junkie, Inc. and all convertible promissory notes were converted.

NOTE E- FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS

Fair value is an exit price, representing the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants based on the highest and best use of the asset or liability. As such, fair value is a market-based measurement that should be determined based on assumptions that market participants would use in pricing an asset or liability. The Company uses valuation techniques to measure fair value that maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs. These inputs are prioritized as follows:

- Level 1* - Observable inputs, such as quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets;
- Level 2* - Inputs, other than the quoted prices in active markets, that are observable either directly or indirectly, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities, or market-corroborated inputs; and
- Level 3* - Unobservable inputs for which there is little or no market data which require the reporting entity to develop its own assumptions about how market participants would price the assets or liabilities.

The valuation techniques that may be used to measure fair value are as follows:

Market approach - Uses prices and other relevant information generated by market transactions involving identical or comparable assets or liabilities.

Income approach - Uses valuation techniques to convert future amounts to a single present amount based on current market expectations about those future amounts, including present value techniques, option-pricing models, and excess earnings method.

Cost approach - Based on the amount that currently would be required to replace the service capacity of an asset (replacement cost).

NOTE F- CONCENTRATIONS OF RISK

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to credit risk consist of cash and cash equivalents. The Company places its cash and cash equivalents with a limited number of high-quality financial institutions and at times may exceed the amount of insurance provided on such deposits.

NOTE G- SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Management considered events subsequent to the end of the period but before November 12, 2019, the date that the financial statements were available to be issued.

Politscope is empowering voters with digestible and objective information along with easy action items. Politics in the palm of your hand!

With the concept of "fake news" now a solid part of the American lexicon and with divisive, emotionally-tinged partisanship on the rise, many people have become confused, overwhelmed, and therefore disempowered in terms of their ability to cast an informed vote. This has resulted in an overall decline of the U.S. public's opinion of and trust in the country's political process. By providing easy access to clear, accurate, and objective information about current politicians and political activity, and by allowing users to register to vote and donate within the app itself, Politscope is helping to solve these issues. Politscope is a Delaware Corporation, our Politscope app is available on iOS and Android. We merged with DownTicket in the spring of 2019. We currently have over 30,000 users and an exclusive partnership with The Young Turks Network to advertise our application. We are projecting to hit 2,000,000 active users by the end of 2020. We also have $60K in ARR on our desktop, licensing our API to our white-label product. We are projecting to be in the green by Q3 2020.

Market Landscape

Our Market Landscape includes campaign contributions, profile subscriptions to legislators, SaaS sales to political organizations, API sales to media companies, data sales and mobile app sales.

Politico's target audience is anyone who wants to know more about or become more involved in politics no matter where they stand on the political spectrum, but we are specifically targeting millennials as 2020 will be the peak of the "voter interest bell curve" for millennials. Additionally, in the 2016 presidential election 106,516,046 eligible voters did not vote, almost half of the country. Millennials and Gen Z are the most informed generations in history, but politics has not caught up to the age of information yet so they don't have the tools they need to participate. Politico is here to solve that problem for them. After we scale in the US, Politico is designed in a way to easily make an impact in democracies all over the world. We believe we can get to over 3,000,000 active users by the end of 2020.

We are taking 5% of all donations through the application ($1.1B donate to campaigns annually in the US) and selling profile upgrades to legislators ($5M annual market).

Aside from our B2C mobile application, we commercialize the application to license our API and our white-label product to businesses with a political agenda and media companies. There are over 300 organizations that fall within our target market. At $80,000 ARR per sale, this gives us a target market of $24,000,000.

Phase 2 of our monetization strategy includes aggregate data sales ($50B market) and mobile app sales ($70B market).

Risks and Disclosures

Risks Related to the Company's Business and Industry

We have not released any audited financial statements. Therefore, you have no audited financial information regarding the Company's capitalization or assets or liabilities on which to make your investment decision. If you feel the information provided is insufficient, you should not invest in the Company.

The Company may be unable to successfully raise or raise additional financing. The failure to successfully raise or raise additional financing, the failure to effectively monetize its products, could result in bankruptcy or other event which would have a material adverse effect on the Company and the value of its shares. The Company has limited assets and financial resources, so such an adverse event could put investors' dollars at significant risk.

The development and commercialization of the Company's products and services are highly competitive. It faces competition with respect to any products and services that it may seek to develop or commercialize in the future. Its competitors include major companies worldwide. Many of the Company's competitors have significantly greater financial, technical and human resources and may have superior expertise in research and development, marketing and sales and may be able to develop and commercialize services. These competitors also compete with the Company in recruiting and retaining qualified personnel and acquiring technologies. Smaller or early stage companies may also prove to be significant competitors, particularly through collaborative arrangements with large established companies. Accordingly, the Company's competitors may commercialize products more rapidly or effectively than the Company is able to, which would adversely affect its competitive position, the likelihood that its services will achieve initial market acceptance and its ability to generate meaningful additional revenues from its products and services.

The Company has no history upon which an evaluation of its prospects and future performance can be made. Its operations are subject to all business risks associated with new enterprises. The likelihood of its creation of a viable business must be considered in light of the risks, expenses, difficulties, complications, and delays frequently encountered in connection with the inception of a business, operation in a competitive industry, and the continued development of a marketing, promotional, and a corresponding client base. There can be no assurances that the Company will ever operate profitably. You should consider the Company's business operations and prospects in light of the risks, expenses, and challenges faced as an early-stage company.

The Company's cash position is relatively weak. Specifically, the Company has approximately $1450 in cash remaining as of September 30. The Company could experience difficulty if it is unable to meet its cash requirements, and the Company may not be able to continue operations if they are not able to raise additional funds.

The Company must correctly identify, identify, and interpret changes in consumer preferences and demand, offer new products to meet those changes, and respond to competitive innovation. Consumer preferences for the Company's products change continually. Its success depends on its ability to identify, identify, and interpret the tastes and habits of consumers and to offer products that appeal to consumer preferences. If the Company does not offer products that appeal to consumers, its sales and market share will decrease. It must distinguish between short-term fads, mid-term trends, and long-term changes in consumer preferences. If the Company does not accurately identify which shifts in consumer preferences will be long-term, or if it fails to introduce new and improved products to satisfy those preferences, its sales could decline. In addition, because of its varied customer base, it must offer an array of products that satisfy the broad spectrum of consumer preferences. If the Company fails to expand its product offerings successfully across product categories, or if it does not rapidly develop products in faster growing and more profitable categories, demand for its products could decrease, which could materially and adversely affect its product sales, financial condition, and results of operations.

In addition, achieving growth depends on its successful development, introduction, and marketing of innovative new products and line extensions. Successful innovation depends on its ability to correctly anticipate customer demand, to obtain, protect and maintain necessary intellectual property rights, and to avoid infringing the intellectual property rights of others and a failure to do so could compromise its competitive position and adversely impact its business.

The Company forecasts aggressive growth in 2020. If these assumptions are wrong and the projections regarding market penetration are too aggressive, then the financial forecast may overstate the Company's overall viability. In addition, the forward-looking statements are only predictions. The Company has based these forward-looking statements largely on its current expectations and projections about future events and financial trends that it believes may affect its business, financial condition and results of operations. Forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other important factors that may cause actual results, performance or achievements to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements.

The Company may be unable to successfully raise or raise additional financing. The failure to successfully raise or raise additional financing, the failure to effectively monetize its products, could result in bankruptcy or other event which would have a material adverse effect on the Company and the value of its shares. The Company has limited assets and financial resources, so such an adverse event could put investors' dollars at significant risk.

The Company has very limited operating history since its organization. There is no assurance that the Company will meet its business objectives or operate profitably. To develop its products, the Company will need to incur significant expenses on further development and marketing. These expenses may exceed the amount of proceeds from this Offering and other sources of revenue, and it is likely the Company will experience net operating losses into the foreseeable future.

Following this offering, the Company will almost certainly need to seek additional financing, which may include the issuance of additional shares of the Company's stock or other securities. There can be no assurance that the Company will be able to obtain such financing, or that, if available, such financing would not result in a substantial dilution in the value of the Company's outstanding stock. Additional financing may require that the Company issue securities that have rights, preferences and privileges that are senior to the Shares.

The Company's financial success will depend, to a significant extent, on the efforts of a limited number of its key employees, Nimish Desai, Israel Lopez, Walter Powell Jr. and Jackson White. The loss of the services of any of them for any reason could seriously impair the Company's ability to proceed as a viable entity.

The Company has engaged in related Party Transactions. The Company has a short term loan from related party Nimish Desai. The loan earns no interest and has no formal repayment structure. Nimish Desai is a member of the Company's management team. In addition, in 2018, the Company issued a promissory note in exchange for $10,000 to related party Nimish Desai. The Note earns an interest rate of 2% per annum commencing semi-annually. The Note will become due on demand of the Note Holder.

Management has identified a Going Concern Note in its financial statements. Specifically, management has identified the following conditions as events that create uncertainty about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The Company may raise funds through a Regulation CF offering. The Company's ability to meet its obligations as they become due is dependent on the success of management's plans, as described above.

The individuals listed as advisors on the pitch deck are mentors, rather than formal advisors. These individuals do not have formal agreements in place with the Company, and may not be compensated for their expertise as a advisor.

The Company acquired Political Junkie, Inc., a way of a tax-free stock exchange version of a reverse triangular merger in May, 2019. In the merger, Israel Lopez, Walter Powell Jr. and Jackson White, the founders of Political Junkie, Inc., joined the Company and all Political Junkie, Inc. assets were assigned to the Company. Political Junkie, Inc. is now a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company.

The Company's strategy for development contemplates the Company will enter into and maintain various arrangements with customers and industry partners. There can be no assurance that such arrangements can be secure or will be maintained or that additional recurring arrangements will be entered into. Although the Company believes that any such arrangements would have economic or other motivations to perform their contractual responsibilities in full, the amount and timing of resources which they would devote to these activities would not be within the control of the Company. There can be no assurance that such parties would perform their obligations as expected or that any revenue would be derived by the Company from such arrangements, nor can there be any assurance that the Company would be able to perform its obligations under any such arrangements. The Company's failure to perform its obligations under such arrangements could result in their termination by the other party or parties thereto, which would have a material adverse effect on the Company's success.

The Team
Deviation from Business Plan. The Company may attempt to sell its business prior to fully reaching market potential, in which case the value of the Company may not have an opportunity to mature, or the Company may make an announcement on the development of its existing products and/or services to pursue other opportunities.
Terms Sheet

There is no assurance that the Company's products and/or services will be accepted by customers in the intended market for such products and/or services, or that competitors may develop superior products and/or services or be able to provide such products and/or services at lower costs to customers than the Company. Lack of acceptance of the Company's products and/or services would have a material adverse effect on the Company and the value of the Shares. The Company's products and/or services and the value of the Company and its stock are generally subject to risks inherent in a general market downturn or a downturn in the market in which the Company's products and/or services are sold.

Potential future conflict of interest. While the Company's management does not feel that the Company is currently engaged in any other conflict of interest transactions or relationships with any of its Shareholders, Directors or officers (or their affiliates), there is no assurance that the Company will not in the future become involved in such conflict of interest transactions or relationships.

Certain potential conflicts of interest are inherent in the relationships of the Company with its Shareholders, Directors and officers. Such conflicts arise where these persons or their affiliates transact business with or have other relationships with the Company, or where such persons own businesses or are otherwise materially interested in or involved with individuals or firms that transact business with or have other relationships with the Company.

Risks Relate to the Securities

The Crow Notes will not be freely tradable until one year from the initial purchase date. Although the Crow Notes may be traded under federal securities law, state securities regulations may also require each Purchaser should consult with his or her attorney. You should be aware of the long-term nature of this investment. There is not now an active market for the Crow Notes. Because the Crow Notes have not been registered under the 1933 Act or under the securities laws of any state or non-United States jurisdiction, the Crow Notes have transfer restrictions under Rule 501 of Regulation CF. It is not currently contemplated that registration under the 1933 Act or other securities laws will be effected. Limitations on the transfer of the Crow Notes may also adversely affect the price that you might be able to obtain for the Crow Notes in a private sale. Purchasers should be aware of the long-term nature of their investment in the Company. Each Purchaser in this Offering will be required to represent that it is purchasing the Securities for its own account, for investment purposes only and not with a view to resale or distribution thereof.

We are selling convertible notes that will convert into shares or result in payment in limited circumstances. These notes only convert or result in payment in limited circumstances. If the Crow Notes reach their maturity date, investors (by a decision of the Crow Note holders holding a majority of the principal amount of the outstanding Crow Notes) will either (a) receive payment equal to the total of their purchase price plus outstanding accrued interest, or (b) convert the Crow Notes into shares of the Company's most senior class of preferred stock, an if no preferred stock has been issued, then shares of the Company's common stock (or the Company has converted into a C-Corporation). If there is a merger, buyout or other corporate transaction that occurs before a qualified equity financing, investors will receive a payment of the greater of their purchase price plus outstanding interest, the amount of preferred shares they would have been able to purchase using the valuation cap (if the Company has converted into a C-Corporation prior), or, if the Company has not converted into a C-Corporation at that time, payment equal to the cash value of such preferred shares had the notes converted into preferred shares. If there is a qualified equity financing (an initial public offering registered under the 1933 Act or a financing using preferred shares), the notes will convert into a yet-to-be-determined class of preferred stock, or the Company has converted into a C-Corporation. If the notes convert because they have reached their maturity date, the notes will convert based on a $8,000,000 valuation cap. If the notes convert due to a qualified equity financing, the notes will convert at a discount of 20%, or based on a $8,000,000 valuation cap. This means that investors would be rewarded for taking an early risk compared to later investors. Outside investors at the time of conversion, if any, might value the Company at an amount well below the $8,000,000 valuation cap, so you should not view the $8,000,000 as being an indication of the Company's value.

We have not assessed the tax implications of using the Crow Note. To the extent permitted generally accepted accounting principles, the Company and investors will treat, account and report the Crow Note as an investment solely for accounting and tax purposes and with respect to any returns filed with federal, state or local tax authorities. However, because the Crow Note is a type of debt security, there has been inconsistent treatment under state and federal tax law as to whether securities like the Crow Note can be considered a debt of the Company, or the issuance of equity. Investors should consult their tax advisers.

The Crow Note contains a vote resolution provisions which limit your ability to bring class action lawsuits or seek remedy on a class basis. By purchasing a Crow Note in this Offering, you agree to elect your jurisdiction to the vote resolution provisions found in Section 6 of the Crow Note. Those provisions apply to claims regarding this Offering, the Crow Notes and possibly the securities into which the Crow Note are convertible. In the event those provisions, including the Crow Note will be resolved in arbitration conducted in Delaware. Further, those provisions may limit your ability to bring class action lawsuits or similarly seek remedy on a class basis.

You may have limited rights. The Company has not yet authorized preferred stock, and there is no way to know what voting rights those securities will have. In addition, as an investor in the Regulation CF offering you will be considered a Non-Major Investor (as defined below) under the terms of the notes offered, and therefore, you have more limited information rights.

You will elect your investor proxy agreement which limits your voting rights. As a result of purchasing the notes, all Non-Major Investors (including all investors investing under Regulation CF) will elect your investor proxy agreement. This agreement will limit your voting rights and at a later time may require you to convert your future preferred shares into common shares without your consent. Non-Major Investors will elect your agreement, unless Non-Major Investors holding a majority of the principal amount outstanding of the Crow Notes (or majority of the shares of the preferred equity the notes will convert into) held by Non-Major Investors vote to terminate the agreement.

A majority of the Company is owned by a small number of owners. Prior to the Offering, the Company's current owners of 20% or more of the Company's outstanding voting securities beneficially own up to 23.65% of the Company's voting securities. Subject to any fiduciary duties owed to our other owners or investors under Delaware law, these owners may be able to exercise significant influence over matters relating to the Company, including the election of directors or managers and approval of significant Company transactions, and will have significant control over the Company's management and policies. Some of these persons may have interests that are different from yours. For example, these owners may support or oppose actions with which you may disagree. The concentration of ownership could delay or prevent a change in control of the Company or otherwise discourage a potential acquirer from attempting to obtain control of the Company, which in turn could reduce the price potential investors are willing to pay for the Company. In addition, these owners could use their voting influence to maintain the Company's existing management, delay or prevent changes in control of the Company, or support or reject other management and corporate decisions that are subject to owner approval.

Arbitrary Company Valuation and Determination of Purchase Price. The valuations set forth in the Notes for purposes of calculating certain default conversion rates are arbitrary and are not an indication or representation of the value of the Company. The purchase price of equity in a future Qualified Financing (the "Purchase Price") may be determined based on a number of factors, some of which bear no relation to established valuation criteria such as assets, earnings, net worth or book value. The Purchase Price will be a measure of the Company's management as a fair market value for the equity offered in a Qualified Financing. There can be no assurance that the Purchase Price represents the fair market value of this equity. No formal independent fair market valuation of the Company or its equity has been or is expected to be obtained.

The Company's Board of Directors currently consists of five individuals elected by a majority of the issue and outstanding shares of Common Stock of the Company. Currently, Walter Powell Jr., Israel Loeb, and Nim Desai are the three Directors with two vacant seats. After the sale of all of the Securities in this Offering, the Founders will continue to be the controlling holders of Common Stock of the Company and will collectively control the election of the three-member Board of Directors.

A absence of Distributions. The Company has never held distributions and does not intend to pay any distributions in the immediate future.

Each of the two Founders will hold a significant number of shares of Common Stock of the Company even after the Offering, and are officers of the Company, and are willing to provide services to the Company. Initially, Walter Powell Jr. is on the Company's Board of Directors. The Founders will be compensated for those services pursuant to agreements and/or arrangements that are subject to a revocation, termination or termination of the Company's Board of Directors.

General Risks and Disclosures

Start-up investing is risky. Investing in start-ups is very risky, highly speculative, and should not be made by anyone who cannot afford to lose their entire investment. Unlike an investment in a mature business where there is a track record of revenue and income, the success of a start-up or early-stage venture often relies on the development of a new product or service that may or may not find a market. Before investing, you should carefully consider the specific risks and disclosures relate to this offering by the Company which can be found in this company profile and the documents in the data room below.

Your shares are not easily transferable. You should not plan on being able to readily transfer and/or resell your security. Currently there is no market or liquidity for these shares and the Company does not have any plans to list these shares on an exchange or other secondary market. At some point the Company may choose to do so, but until then you should plan to hold your investment for a significant period of time before a "liquidity event" occurs. A "liquidity event" is when the Company either lists their shares on an exchange, is acquired, or goes bankrupt.

The Company may not pay dividends for the foreseeable future. Unless otherwise specified in the offering documents and subject to state law, you are not entitled to receive any dividends on your interest in the Company. Accordingly, any potential investor who anticipates the need for current dividends or income from an investment should not purchase any of the securities offered on the Site.

Valuation and Capitalization. Unlike listed companies that are valued publicly through market-driven stock prices, the valuation of private companies, especially start-ups, is difficult to assess and you may risk overpaying for your investment. In addition, there may be additional classes of equity with rights that are superior to the class of equity being sold.

You may only receive limited disclosure. While the Company must disclose certain information, since the Company is at an early-stage they may only be able to provide limited information about its business plan and operations because it does not have fully developed operations or a long history. The Company may also only disclose information related to its business, including financial statements. A publicly listed company, in contrast, is required to file annual and quarterly reports and promptly disclose certain events — through continuing disclosure that you can use to evaluate the status of your investment.

Investment in Personnel. An early-stage investment is also an investment in the entrepreneur or management of the Company. Being able to execute on the business plan is often an important factor in whether the business is viable and successful. You should be aware that a portion of your investment may fund the compensation of the Company's employees, including its management. You should carefully review any disclosure regarding the Company's use of resources.

Possibility of fraud. In light of the relative ease with which early-stage companies can raise funds, it may be the case that certain opportunities turn out to be money-losing fraudulent schemes. As with other investments, there is no guarantee that investments will be immune from fraud.

Lack of professional guidance. Many successful companies initially attribute their early success to the guidance of professional early-stage investors (e.g., angel investors and venture capitalists). These investors often negotiate for seats on the Company's board of directors and play an important role through their resources, contacts and experience in assisting early-stage companies in executing on their business plans. An early-stage company may not have the benefit of such professional investors.

Frequently Asked Questions

About Secondary Offerings

What is Secondary?

A Secondary offering refers to a deal that is raising capital under two offering types. This Secondary offering is raising under Regulation CF and Rule 506(c) of Regulation D.

What is a Form C?

The Form C is a document the company must file with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") which includes basic information about the company and its offering and is a condition to making a Reg CF offering available to investors. It is important to note that the SEC does not review the Form C, and therefore is not recommending an /or a reviewing any of the securities being offered.

Before making any investment decision, it is highly recommended that prospective investors review the Form C file with the SEC (include in the company's profile) before making any investment decision.

What is Rule 506(c) under Regulation D?

Rule 506(c) under Regulation D is a type of offering with no limits on how much a company may raise. The company may generally solicit their offering, but the company must verify each investor's status as an accredited investor prior to closing an accepting funds. To learn more about Rule 506(c) under Regulation D and other offering types check out our log an account.

What is Reg CF?

Title III of the JOBS Act outlines Reg CF, a type of offering allowing private companies to raise up to $1 million from all Americans. Prior capital raising options limited private companies to raising money only from accredited investors, historically the wealthiest ~2% of Americans. Like a Kickstarter campaign, Reg CF allows companies to raise funds online from their early adopters and the crowd. However, instead of providing investors a reward such as a t-shirt or a car, investors receive securities, typically equity, in the startups they back. To learn more about Reg CF and other offering types check out our log an account.

Making an Investment in Politisco e, Inc.

How does investing work?

When you complete your investment on See Invest, your money will be transferred to an escrow account where an independent escrow agent will watch over your investment until it is accepted by Politisco e, Inc. Once Politisco e, Inc. accepts your investment, a certain regulatory process will be completed, your money will be transferred from the escrow account to Politisco e, Inc. in exchange for your securities. At that point, you will be a new owner in Politisco e, Inc.

What will I need to complete my investment?

To make an investment, you will need the following information readily available:

1. Personal information such as your current address and phone number
2. Employment and employer information
3. Net worth and income information
4. Social Security Number or passport
5. ABA routing number and checking account number (typically found on a personal check or bank statement)

If you are investing under Rule 506(c) of Regulation D, your status as an Accredited Investor will also need to be verified and you will be asked to provide documentation supporting your income, net worth, revenue, or net assets or a letter from a qualified advisor such as a Registered Investment Advisor, Registered Broker Dealer, Lawyer, or CPA.

How much can I invest?

An investor is limited in the amount that he or she may invest in a Reg CF offering during any 12-month period:

- If either the annual income or the net worth of the investor is less than $100,000, the investor is limited to the greater of $2,000 or 5% of the lesser of his or her annual income or net worth.
- If the annual income and net worth of the investor are both greater than $100,000, the investor is limited to 10% of the lesser of his or her annual income or net worth, to a maximum of $100,000.

Separately, Politisco e, Inc. has set a minimum investment amount of $51,000. Accredited investors investing $20,000 or over do not have investment limits.

After My Investment

What is my ongoing relationship with the Issuer?

As a partial owner of the company, you own securities after all! But more importantly, companies which have raised money via Regulation CF must file information with the SEC and post it on their websites on an annual basis. Receiving regular company updates is important to keep shareholders updated and informed about the progress of the company and their investment. This annual report includes information similar to a company's initial Reg CF filing and key information that a company will want to share with its investors to foster a dynamic and healthy relationship. In certain circumstances, a company may terminate its ongoing reporting requirement if:

1. The company becomes a fully-reporting registrant with the SEC

2. The company has filed at least one annual report, it has no more than 300 shareholders of record

Investor Perks

3. The company has filed at least three annual reports, and has no more than $10 million in assets

4. The company or any other party purchases all the securities sold in reliance on Section 4(a)(6)

5. The company ceases to do business

However, regardless of whether a company has terminated its ongoing reporting requirement per SEC rules, See Invest works with all companies on its platform to ensure that investors are provided quarterly updates. These quarterly reports will include information such as: (i) quarterly net sales, (ii) quarterly change in cash and cash on hand, (iii) material updates on the business, (iv) fundraising updates (any plans for next round, current round status, etc.), and (v) any notable press and news.

Our Competitive Landscape

Our Earned Media & Influencer Advantage

We have competitive advantages in our NFL to politics story, relationships with pro athlete influencers, and our partnership with TYT. We will continue to leverage earned media to promote B2C growth while continuing to market our API and white-label B2B product.

Our Potential Exit

Political news media have expanded their operations dramatically in the leadup to 2016 and during the Trump presidency. That machine needs to be fed, and we believe they will need new ways to generate revenue from their content as ad revenue plateaus. If PolitScope is successful in monetizing political content as planned, we believe we will be a very attractive acquisition target to this segment.

Stuart: how about this one? A new app is gonna make it easier for voters to make informed decisions. It's called Politiscope. It's one-stop shopping for statistics about American politicians. Get this, ladies and gentlemen, it was created by former nfl player. His name is Walter Powell, Jr., and he created this app Politiscope. And he's with us now. Well-done, young man, well done.

Walter: thank you.

Stuart: so wait a minute, you finished playing football. You made all the right connections, and you come up with the idea of Politiscope. If i get the app what does it tell me?

Walter: it's gonna tell you politician statistics, what they voted for or against on any legislation. We showcase notable articles, media, just anything you need to know about your politician. You can follow them on the app. You can follow any piece of media legislation. It goes to your own personal profile. So you don't have to see every politician. Just ones you're interested in. Just really like you said, maybe it a one-stop shop for you all politics.

Stuart: politicians, there are a million politicians in America, i mean there are members of congress, governors, state legislatures. Where do you draw the line?

Walter: first we're starting federal. We'll work our way down. We'll start at the top since once you get local you need a lot of hands on deck.

Stuart: so if i get, Politiscope, i gotta get this right. If i get this Politiscope, is it free.

Walter: it has to be free. It's information. It's gotta be free.

Stuart: i get it. I dial up and i punch in, say, Senator Chuck Schumer, what do i Get?

Walter: you are going to get legislation, bio --

Stuart: every piece of legislation he proposed?

Walter: proposed, cosponsored, voted for or against. It's gonna show you everything.

Stuart: vote for or against, no matter what?

Walter: yep it's going to say yes, no, yes., once you click into it, it's gonna show you the breakdown of statistics, of which side is republican democrat, percentages. Who voted yes, who voted no. It is pretty dope, i like it.

Stuart: in all seriousness, Walter i can use that kind thing.

Walter: oh yeah, i feel like anybody can from all the way up top, all the way down to the bottom everybody can use it. It is simple to use, easy to navigate through. Instead of spending a whole hour trying to figure out one bill means, you can figure out what 50 to 100 in an hour with this information.

Stuart: you're a entrepreneur, but entrepreneurs have to make some money at some point.

Walter: of course, of course.

Stuart: this thing is free, all the information going out there, how eventually will you make money?

Walter: of course you know we're trying to get a big user base, and just develop the trust and with all our users. Eventually we'll have upgrades, politician upgrades. Where they'll be able to campaign on their profile page. Right now we're focusing on gaining the users.

Stuart: So what you need is eyeballs?

Walter: eyeballs basically.

Stuart: users, eyeballs, and then, when you got a couple million, whatever. How many do you need before you start making some money?

Walter: i have to say anywhere, in 50-k, somewhere in that area. We're not worried about it right now. We're trying --

Stuart: we got it on the screen, there you go, Politiscope. See if i can get you 50,000 subscribers.

Walter: I hope so.

Stuart: dream on, son – probably not gonna happen, i think we might get you a few.

Walter: one or two would be nice.

Stuart: Politiscope. Good stuff. Great to have you on the show.

Walter: thank you for having me.

Download Politiscope and BE EMPOWERED!

Walter: Can you name the representative of your district?

[Various Speakers]:

Thethe representative of my district? Uf.

I have no idea.

I actually don't know who the representative of my district is

Walter: Do you know what the corporate tax rate is?

[Various Speakers]:

I think it's pretty high.

I should know this ...

Like in between 20 25 percent?

I don't know

Walter: How many amendments are in the US Constitution?

[Various Speakers]:

Oh no

This brings me back to grade school.

I should know this because I was a history major but I do not remember

I don't know that

I don't know

I have no clue

Um

Nope

I don't know the answer to that one

Walter: You don't know? I didn't know. It's time to change that. We live in the best country in the World. We live in the most powerful country in the world. We love our American freedom, but only half of us take part in a political process. Only half of us vote. We don't fulfill our duties as US citizens to make this country a better place. It's time that we use our voices as a team, as a country, to become better. We will stand up. We will be empowered. We will stay educated and informed about politics every single day, because it's our responsibility, and Politiscope just made it easy for you. So join me. Join us, and let's be Americans.
