Risk Factors

THE FUTURE OPERATION OF CONSUMER COOPERATIVE GROUP, INC (COMPANY) IS SPECULATIVE AND INVOLVES A DEGREE OF RISK. THERE IS NO GUARANTEE OR COMMITMENT OR OBLIGATION OF THE COMPANY THAT IT WILL BE SUCCESSFUL OR THAT IT WILL REMAIN IN EXISTENCE LONG ENOUGH FOR THE COMPANY TO PAY BACK ALL OF THE INVESTMENT THAT IT HAS RECEIVED.

1. Operations of the Company: The likelihood of success of the Company must be considered in case of problems, expenses, complications and delays encountered in connection with the building and operating business enterprises.
2. Dependence upon Key Personnel: Potential Conflicts of Interest. The Company is dependent in its operations upon the services of its management and service providers.
3. Economy: An increase in interest rates or a depressed job market would hinder our ability to find suitable renters and purchasers for our properties.
4. Competition: The Austin, Dallas, Tx area real estate market continues to attract investment capital from other local investors and national and international investors. We will be in direct competition with these market participants and may be outbid on target expansion properties.
5. Force Majeure: Operation of any business contemplates the risk that natural or other disasters may cause significant interruptions. The Company may incur losses from natural disasters that are not insurable.
6. Lack of Liquidity: There is no established market or exchange for the resale of the Class A Common Stock. An Investor seeking to sell their Class A Common Stock may have great difficulty in finding a buyer and may find no buyers for their Class A Common Stock.

7. Limited Transferability of Securities: The Investor should be fully aware of the long-term nature of his or her financial support of the Company. The Class A Common Stock may be transferred only if certain requirements are satisfied. The Investor has represented to the Company that it is acquiring the Class A Common Stock for his or her own investment only and without a view to their immediate resale or distribution. Even if the Investor offers to sell his or her Class A Common Stock after meeting all requirements, there may be no buyers for the Class A Common Stock. There is no market or exchange where the Support may offer their Class A Common Stock for sale. The Investor should consider any investment as 'illiquid' and one that cannot be readily converted into cash. Accordingly, purchasers of the Class A Common Stock must bear the economic risk inherent in the investment for an indefinite period of time.

8. Risk of Litigation: If the Company is subjected to lawsuits or proceedings by government entities or private parties, or other investors, then expenses or liabilities of the Company arising from any such suit would be borne by the Company. While the Company will seek to obtain a general liability insurance policy covering its activities, such insurance may not cover all costs and expenses related to litigation.

9. Income Taxes Imposed on Investors: It is anticipated that any distributions made to Investors above the amount of their investment will be taxed as ordinary income and treated as a passive investment for tax purposes. However, the tax circumstances of each Investor may vary, and Investors should check with their personal tax advisor to determine how they may be Taxed.

10. Speculative Determination of Offering Price: The price of the Class A Common Stock being offered hereby was speculatively determined by the Company based upon a large number of assumptions regarding future events that may or may not happen. Accordingly, the price per Unit indicated on the cover of this Memorandum must be considered in terms of the likelihood that all of these future events may occur and the accuracy of the assumptions in terms of their impact on future value. The price for Class A Common Stock in this Offering bears no direct relationship to the current book value, assets or earnings of the Company or any other objective criteria of value.

11. New Business: The Company is newly formed and has no operating history. Therefore, a prospective Investor has no prior performance of the Company upon which they may rely in assessing the future performance of the Company.

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. You should not invest any funds in this offering unless you can afford to lose your entire investment.

The Company currently intends to retain its earnings for future growth and, therefore, do not anticipate declaring any dividends in the foreseeable future. Buy The Block and Portal do not make investment recommendations and no communication, through this website or in any other medium, should be construed as a recommendation for any security offered on or off this investment platform. Equity crowdfunding investments in private placements, Regulation A, D and CF offerings, and start-up investments in particular are speculative and involve a high degree of risk and those investors who cannot afford to lose their entire investment should not invest in start-ups.

Companies seeking startup investments through equity crowdfunding tend to be in earlier stages of development and their business model, products and services may not yet be fully developed, operational or tested in the public marketplace. There is no guarantee that the stated valuation and other terms are accurate or in agreement with the market or industry Valuations.

Additionally, investors may receive illiquid and/or restricted stock that may be subject to holding period requirements and/or liquidity concerns. In the most sensible investment strategy for start-up investing, start-ups should only be part of your overall investment portfolio. Further, the start-up portion of your portfolio may include a balanced portfolio of different start-ups. Investments in startups are highly illiquid and those investors who cannot hold an investment for the long term (at least 5–7 years) should not invest.

Tanen's formal education includes a Bachelor's of Science in Game Art & Computer Animation, Master's of Art in Entrepreneurship: Small Business, Masters in Business Administration. He has spent decades investing in and renovating millions of dollars of single family homes that benefited the subsidize housing market in Southwest Dallas, educating the community about how to properly set up and structure a business entity and instilling the importance of the financial power of pooling resources for financial independence.

Business and Anticipated Business Plan

The Company was formed as a cooperative to provide an array of affordable real estate services to include but not limited to developing an affordable real estate investment pooling platform web and mobile application for all investor types, which will allow for the pooling of financial resources in order to acquire large multi-family complexes as well as other real estate as a cooperative group.

Mission

We believe moving away from the traditional way of investing in real estate will allow an underserved market of investors to participate in large real estate investment pools, with limited to no red-tape as a cooperative group. Addressing this financial barrier as a cooperative group, we plan on expanding this cooperative model to each individual investor on a personal level.

Risk Factors

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. You should not invest any funds in this offering unless you can afford to lose your entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

Material factors that make an investment in Consumer Cooperative Group, Inc speculative or risky:

1. If Consumer Cooperative Group, Inc is unable to raise additional capital on acceptable terms, it may be unable to maintain enough growth. There can be no assurance that additional funding will be available on acceptable terms. Failure to satisfy our capital requirements will adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition and results of operations because the Company would be left without the capital required to complete development or establish sales and marketing capabilities.
2. Our business is recently formed and has a limited operating history. We face the general risks associated with any new business operating in a competitive industry, including the ability to fund our operations from unpredictable cash flow and capital raising transactions. There can be no assurance that we will achieve our anticipated investment objectives or operate profitably.
3. The Company is faced with all the risks associated with a company in the early stage of development. In addition, the Company's business is subject to numerous risks associated with a new company engaged in real estate development. Such risks include, among other things, competition from well-established and well-capitalized companies and unanticipated development difficulties and risks associated with the need for regulatory approval.
4. New competitors could enter the market and could therefore prevent the company from growing as anticipated. This can result in significantly reduced revenues and larger operating losses.

5. We are highly dependent on the services of our founder. Our future business and results of operations depend in significant part upon the continued contributions of our CEO and founders. If we lose those services or if any founder fails to perform in their current position, or if we are not able to attract and retain skilled employees in addition to our CEO and the current team, this could adversely affect the development of our business plan and harm our business.
6. Start-up investing is risky. Investing in early-stage companies is very risky, highly speculative, and should not be made by anyone who cannot afford to lose their entire investment. Unlike an investment in a mature business where there is a track record of revenue and income, the success of a startup or early-stage venture often relies on the development of a new service that may or may not find a market. Before investing, you should carefully consider the specific risks and disclosures related to both this offering type and the company.
7. Our future growth depends on our ability to acquire and renovate houses. Our future growth depends to a large extent on our ability to effectively anticipate and adapt to market requirements and offer homes that meet renter demands. If we are unable to attract renters and/or retain renters, our business, results of operations and financial condition may be materially adversely affected.
8. Any forecasts we make about our operations may prove to be inaccurate. We must, among other things, determine appropriate risks, rewards, and level of investment in our properties, respond to economic and market variables outside of our control, respond to competitive developments and continue to attract, retain, and motivate qualified employees. There can be no assurance that we will be successful in meeting these challenges and addressing such risks and the failure to do so could have a materially adverse effect on our business, results of operations, and financial condition. Our prospects must be considered in light of the risks, expenses, and difficulties frequently encountered by companies in the early stage of development. As a result of these risks, challenges, and uncertainties, the value of your investment could be significantly reduced or completely lost.
9. Maintaining our reputation is critical to our ability to attract and retain clients, and our failure, or perceived failure, to appropriately operate our business or deal with matters that give rise to reputation risk may materially and adversely harm our business, prospects and results of operations. Our failure to deliver appropriate standards of service and quality could result in customer dissatisfaction, litigation and heightened regulatory scrutiny, all of which can lead to lost revenue, higher operating costs and harm to our reputation. Further, negative publicity regarding us, whether or not true, may be detrimental to our business.
10. These documents have not been reviewed or approved by the government. No government agency or authority has reviewed or approved this offering or any of the documents provided to you relating to our crowd funding efforts, including these Risk Factors. You are expected to conduct your own review and analysis before deciding whether to purchase the securities.

11. As a non-reporting company, the Company is not required to provide you with annual audited financial statements or quarterly unaudited financial statements.

Thereafter, we may conduct additional closings until the offering deadline. We will issue Securities in connection with each closing. 4. To a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the purchaser or other similar circumstance.

The term “accredited investor” means any person who comes within any of the categories set forth in Rule 501(a) of Regulation D, or who the seller reasonably believes comes within any of such categories, at the time of the sale of the securities to that person. The term “member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent” includes a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law of the purchaser, and includes adoptive relationships. The term “spousal equivalent” means a cohabitant occupying a relationship generally equivalent to that of a spouse.

Description of Issuer’s Securities

What other securities or classes of securities of the issuer are outstanding? Describe the material terms of any other outstanding securities or classes of securities of the issuer.

Securities

Class of Security	Amount Authorized	Amount Outstanding	Voting Rights	Other Rights

Class B Common Stock	100,000,000,000	32,147,700	Yes	Transferable
Class F Common Stock	1,000,000,000	14,358,860	Yes	Transferable
Class M Common Stock	10,000,000,000	12	Yes	Membership
Series A Preferred Stock	70,000,000	24,584,860	Yes	Transferable

Options, Warrants and Other Rights

None

17. How may the rights of the securities being offered be materially limited, diluted or qualified by the rights of any other class of securities?

The Company has no convertible debt, and there are no warrants, options, or other convertible instruments outstanding, which if exercised, would dilute the investors who purchase shares in this offering.

18. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer?

No.

19. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal owners identified in Question 5 above affect the purchasers of Securities being offered?

As minority owners, the crowdfunding investors are subject to the decisions made by the majority owners. The issued and outstanding shares of common stock give management voting control of the company. As a minority owner, you may be outvoted on issues that impact your investment, such as the issuance of new shares, or the sale of debt, convertible debt or assets of the company.

20. How are the securities being offered being valued?

Valuation is based on the venture capitalist method. The valuation is based on assumptions.

21. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

The holder of a majority of the shares in the company may make decisions with which you disagree, or that negatively affect the value of your investment in the company, and you will have no recourse to change those decisions. Your interests may conflict with the interests of other investors, and there is no guarantee that the company will develop in a way that is advantageous to you. For example, the majority shareholder may decide to issue additional shares to new investors, sell convertible debt instruments with beneficial conversion features, or make decisions that affect the tax treatment of the company in ways that may be unfavorable to you. Based on the risks described above, you may lose all or part of your investment in the securities that you purchase, and you may never see positive returns.

22. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions including:

- additional issuances of securities,
- issuer repurchases of securities,
- a sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer
- or transactions with related parties?

The issuance of additional shares of our common stock will dilute the ownership of the Buy the Block investors. As a result, if we achieve profitable operations in the future, our net income per share will be reduced because of dilution, and the market price of our common stock, if there is a market price, could decline as a result of the additional issuances of securities. If we repurchase securities, so that the above risk is mitigated, and there are fewer shares of common stock outstanding, we may not have enough cash available for marketing expenses, growth, or operating expenses to reach our goals. If we do not have enough cash to operate and grow, we anticipate the market price of our common stock would decline. A sale of our company or of the assets of our company may result in an entire loss of your investment. We cannot predict the market value of our company or our assets, and the proceeds of a sale may not be cash, but instead, unmarketable securities, or an assumption of liabilities. It is unlikely that in the near term, a sale would result in a premium that is significant enough over book value to generate a return to our investors. We may need to ask related parties to lend us money. Such financing may not be available when needed. Even if such financing is available, it may be on terms that are materially adverse to your interests with respect to dilution of book value, dividend preferences, liquidation preferences, or other terms. No assurance can be given that such funds will be available or, if available, will be on commercially reasonable terms satisfactory to minority owners. There can be no assurance that we will be able to obtain financing when it is needed on terms we deem acceptable.

23. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:
