Real Estate Investment in the Hemp Industry within the Caribbean with the intent to move the region towards the goal of healthy cultivation of the growing global hemp and cannabis industry

We Are:

Green Growth Real Estate is a diversified investment vehicle that acquires and leases specialized real estate assessing the hemp industry. Our senior management team has significant experience in the real estate industry, including acquisitions & leasing, development, management and finance. Our emphases is on The Caribbean; a region of the Americas that consists of the Caribbean Sea, its islands (some surrounded by the Caribbean Sea and some bordering both the Caribbean Sea and the North Atlantic Ocean) and the surrounding coasts. The region is southeast of the Gulf of Mexico and the North American mainland, east of Central America, and north of South America.

Farm Act of 2018

After a lengthy process through Congress, the President signed into law The Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018 (the 2018 Farm Bill) on Dec. 20, 2018. The bill replaces the Agriculture Improvement Act of 2014, which expired Sept. 30, 2018. Distributing more than $850 billion, the 2018 Farm Bill is an enormous piece of legislation that funds programs such as crop insurance, school lunches and the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), aka food stamps.

Integrated into the Farm Bill is the bipartisan-supported Hemp Farming Act of 2018. The act's inclusion is significant: industrial hemp and its derived products now are legal on a federal level, and states may choose how to move forward in this exciting new industry.

The Hemp Farming Act federally legalizes the production of industrial hemp (defined as Cannabis sativa L. plants containing less than three-tenths of a percent of tetrahydrocannabinol (THC)). The low concentration of THC makes hemp unsuitable for marijuana production, which remains federally illegal.

The 2018 Farm Bill abolishes this inconsistent treatment by removing industrial hemp from the definition of “marihuana” in the CSA. In addition, THC contained in industrial hemp will be removed from the purview of the CSA, making clear that industrial hemp plants can be grown domestically as well as imported. This amendment to the CSA decriminalizes the production and use of hemp and its derived products that match the definition of industrial hemp, such as seed oil, CBD oil, fibers and paper.

Industrial hemp will not be entirely unregulated, however. The 2018 Farm Bill moves regulatory authority from the CSA and DEA to the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (AMA) and the Department of Agriculture. The AMA authorizes and directs the Secretary of Agriculture to carry out programs to assist the production, transportation and marketing of crops. Now that the Hemp Farming Act of 2018 is law, hemp will be treated the same as any other legal crop by the Department of Agriculture, with a few caveats based on its previous status as a controlled substance and the potential for unscrupulous growers to cultivate strains with high THC levels.

As part of the amendment, State and Tribal governments can create their own regulatory framework for industrial hemp production. Those plans must include:

- a practice to record and describe land on which hemp is grown;
- a procedure for testing THC concentration;
- a procedure for non-compliant product disposal; and
- a procedure for enforcing regulations.

Hemp research

One of the goals of the 2014 Farm Bill was to generate and protect research into hemp. The 2018 Farm Bill continues this effort. Section 7605 re-extends the protections for hemp research and the conditions under which such research can and should be conducted. Further, section 7501 of the Farm Bill extends hemp research by including hemp under the Critical Agricultural Materials Act. This provision recognizes the importance, diversity, and opportunity of the plant and the products that can be derived from it, but also recognizes an important point: there is still a lot to learn about hemp and its products from commercial and market perspectives. Yes, farmers—legal and illegal—already know a lot about this plant, but more can and should be done to make sure that hemp as an agricultural commodity remains stable.

The evidence for cannabidiol health benefits

CBD has been touted for a wide variety of health issues, but the strongest scientific evidence is for its effectiveness in treating some of the cruelest childhood epilepsy syndromes, such as Dravet syndrome and Lennox-Gastaut syndrome (LGS), which typically don't respond to antiseizure medications. In numerous studies, CBD was able to reduce the number of seizures, and in some cases it was able to stop them altogether. Videos of the effects of CBD on these children and their seizures are readily available on the Internet for viewing, and they are quite striking. Recently the FDA approved the first ever cannabis-derived medicine for these conditions, Epidiolex, which contains CBD.

CBD is commonly used to address anxiety, and for patients who suffer through the misery of insomnia, studies suggest that CBD may help with both falling asleep and staying asleep.

CBD may offer an option for treating different types of chronic pain. A study from the European Journal of Pain showed, using an animal model, CBD applied on the skin could help lower pain and inflammation due to arthritis. Another study demonstrated the mechanism by which CBD inhibits inflammatory and neuropathic pain, two of the most difficult types of chronic pain to treat. More study in humans is needed in this area to substantiate the claims of CBD proponents about pain control.

Is cannabidiol safe?

Side effects of CBD include nausea, fatigue and irritability. CBD can increase the level in your blood of the blood thinner coumadin, and it can raise levels of certain other medications in your blood by the exact same mechanism that grapefruit juice does. A significant safety concern with CBD is that it is primarily marketed and sold as a supplement, not a medication. Currently, the FDA does not regulate the safety and purity of dietary supplements. So you cannot know for sure that the product you buy has active ingredients at the dose listed on the label. In addition, the product may contain other (unknown) elements. We also don't know the most effective therapeutic dose of CBD for any particular medical condition.

The Caribbean Market“The Caribbean real estate market is hot as ever”

The Caribbean tends to lag six to 12 months behind the United States when on a downward cycle or during recovery or economic growth. While the U.S. is, in many aspects, headed toward recovery, the Caribbean is lagging behind by at least several quarters, if not a year or more.

However, there are some bright spots in the Caribbean that are mitigating some of the region's economic challenges. Here are three reasons to be optimistic about resort and tourism related property investments in the Caribbean.

1. Tourism is up. The Caribbean Tourism Organization is reporting a continuation of growth in tourism statistics around the region.

Since tourism heavily impacts the overall economies and real estate markets of the various jurisdictions, this is good news.

2. Airlift is mostly improving. One important aspect of tourism growth is airlift. Regionally, access to the smaller destinations is becoming a problem as several airlines have pulled their service from the region. However, airlift from the U.S. to larger Caribbean destinations appears to be advancing. Airport expansions are underway in Providenciales, Turks and Caicos, and San Juan, Puerto Rico. And several other airlines have expanded or introduced new service to the region.

3. Hotel occupancy continues to rise. Improvements for hotels in the Caribbean continue.

Hoteliers are focusing on upper-end properties, which appear to be recovering faster than the mid-priced and all-inclusive sector in the region. In terms of segmentation, the upscale segment added the most rooms by the upper mid scale segment, and the luxury segment.

In order to be successful, developers need to have (1) a solid location with adequate access / airlift; (2) proven reputation allowing them to capitalize on customers and buyers from their other developments; (3) sufficient equity contributions as to not rely on heavy leverage from conventional debt financing (or alternative funding); and (4) a development plan to cater to the right market segmentation – which currently appears to be the upscale and luxury segments.

Ahead of this Caribbean season, much of the conversation with buyers has been on the recent hurricanes that hit some of the islands. As in many regions of the world, extreme weather is a way of life that people learn to adapt to in the Caribbean. The inevitability of the annual hurricane season has always been part of visiting, living in or owning a property in this part of the world – and those who have a main residence in the hurricane belt will usually stay away at that time of year. For islands like Mustique and Barbados, outside of the hurricane belt, now is a chance to raise their flag and snare some of the attention diverted away from the BVIs, St Maarten and St Bart's.

Barbados is a prime case. Its property market has been going through its own climate change in recent years, with prices slipping year on year, almost back to 2008 levels. The most affordable it has been in years, means buyers seem happy to make offers again and owners need to be sensible with negotiations.

A couple of big deals recently, around US$10m, suggests a certain appetite has returned to the market. Buyers who have been contemplating the Caribbean for years, and who are perhaps unsure about investing in Europe, or who are deterred by the cooling market in the UK, are feeling that now is the time to reconsider the Caribbean.

Mustique is looking particularly robust, having seen a record number of sales in the last two years, with some of its biggest houses changing hands. Like Barbados, it has also seen a huge rise in the number of rental enquiries.

A noticeable trend is that American buyers are back in Mustique, with the recent purchase of a large villa marking the first sale to an American on Mustique in almost 10 years, with others under offer to American buyers.

The range of chic branded restaurants and the convenience and luxury of resorts such as Atlantis, Albany and the One & Only Ocean Club are big draws. The news that the $3.5bn Baha Mar is also a sign of a healthy and strong market, in the Bahamas, certainly for New Providence and Paradise Island. It's a message we can confidently expect to see across other islands.

Hemp in Puerto Rico

In Puerto Rico, a competitive advantage exists as their climate, soil, and geographical location allow for a much longer growing season. Since the last of Puerto Rico's sugar mills closed in 2000, the island has been in need of an agricultural revolution and the hemp industry promises much needed jobs in the farming sector. The island also offers unique opportunities for foreign investors. Great efforts have been made to make hemp a viable industry

“In Puerto Rico, you can have two crops, and even three a year because of the climate”

Within Puerto Rico's desperate economic climate, the need for job creation is essential. Thankfully, a new possibility for commercial development could materialize through the production of industrial hemp.

As part of the 2018 edition of the Puerto Rico MedCann.Biz Convention on Dec. 6 & 7, Bruce Perlowin, CEO of Hemp Inc., a global leader in industrial hemp, will present a talk on how to effectively organize a large-scale planting of this product.

Perlowin explained to Caribbean Business that possibilities to use industrial hemp as a raw material are almost endless, with more than 25,000 products that can currently be produced with it, such as textiles, construction materials as well as cannabidiol (CBD), which is used to treat anxiety disorders and other conditions, among many other uses.

The expert emphasized, however, that there is an abysmal difference between medicinal cannabis and industrial hemp, because CBD is not a psychoactive substance as is Tetrahydrocannabinol (THC), and the former is considered to have a greater scope for medical applications. It is this form that Perlowin indicated is the most lucrative and the one most in demand.

The CEO also said Puerto Rico's tropical climate makes the island an ideal competitor in this industry, since it allows crops to be grown year-round.

“In Puerto Rico, you can have two crops, and even three a year because of the climate. In other parts of the country, like Oregon or North Carolina, you can only have one crop a year,” Perlowin explained.

The industrial hemp expert said the moment for developing this industry on the island is ideal because the United States lifted this ban through the Senate version of the Agricultural Law of 2018, which removes this product from the list of federally controlled substances.

However, conservative forces gathering in the local government could object to the development of such an industry on the island. This fact does not seem to worry the entrepreneur, who was born and raised in the state of Florida

Jamaica

Given the current state-by-state legalization in America, Jamaica pushed ahead with cannabis law and criminal justice reform. Under Jamaica's current program, cannabis for medical, scientific or therapeutic uses is legal for licensed businesses or for patients with a doctor's note. Foreigners in Jamaica can swiftly obtain approval from a local physician, or else use a valid medical marijuana recommendation from their home state or country to buy cannabis from a legal business.

So far, the government has issued 15 business licenses, including one to Balram "Bali" Vaswani, the mogul working to update Jamaica's cannabis culture, via his latest enterprise Kaya Herb House in Ocho Rios, a resort town on Jamaica's northern coast. Since it opened last March, it has been bringing Amsterdam-style "coffeeshop" culture to modern-day legal Jamaica. The property is part cafe, part dispensary, part cultivation facility. Vaswani boasts he's got the only legal dispensary in Jamaica operating; and not only that, but also the first legal ganja smoking room. And for those without a recommendation from a doctor, Kaya has a medical staff on site, where patients can book appointments.

St Vincent and the Grenadines

KINGSTOWN, St Vincent — The first set of licenses to begin producing medicinal cannabis in St Vincent and the Grenadines were issued while the island's minister of agriculture and industry, embraced the milestone noting "many challenges amidst immense opportunities."

The approve medicinal cannabis licenses are as follows:

1. Eight local farmers' producer cooperatives with an aggregated membership of over 100 traditional cultivators;
2. Thirteen traditional cultivators of cannabis who applied individually;
3. Three non-traditional local farmers, consisting of one Class A (valuing EC$500) and two Class B (valuing EC$2,500 each); and
4. Ten companies with the directorship of nationals from the OECS, CARICOM, North America, Europe and Africa.

Of these companies, there are three Class E licences (valuing EC$2.67 million each), two Class D (valuing EC$1 million each), three Class C (valuing EC$500,000 each), one Class B (valuing EC$250,000 each) and one with Class A (valuing $100,000).

Antigua and Barbuda

Antigua and Barbuda cannabis laws are as follows:

- Anyone older than 18 is allowed to possess a maximum of 15 grams of cannabis.
- It is lawful to cultivate up to four plants per household.
- Cannabis sales remain illegal.
- Smoking marijuana is prohibited in public places, including bars, restaurants and tourist establishments.
- Tourist establishments are allowed to set aside "open areas" where guests can smoke cannabis.

What are the potential niche markets in the global value chain that can be capitalized? Potential niche markets in the global medicinal cannabis value chain may include intellectual property on improvements or innovations of various aspects of the current value chain and treatment modalities. These can be further categorized as follows:

- Propagation of Barbadian medicinal cannabis cultivars;
- Standardization and amelioration of registered Barbadian cultivars;
- Synthesis of value added medicinal products through novel techniques such as biosynthesis;
- Using innovation to improve extraction of cannabinoids;
- Development of products with new treatment modalities; and
- Medical tourism which is supported by the local tourism product and cannabis based treatments

How can the Barbadian public benefit from the medicinal cannabis industry?

- Through access to other therapeutics classes of drugs for illnesses;
- By direct employment in businesses derived from the supply and value chain enterprises;
- Small farmers could cultivate through cooperatives and community-based enterprises to compete with other established suppliers of raw material to meet product demand; and
- Indirect benefits may be derived from net inflows into the Barbados’ economy and an improved quality of life.

Bahamas

The Bahamas should begin its legalization process by first decriminalizing marijuana for small possession. All that is required is a simple act of Parliament. There are numerous decriminalization statutes in the English-speaking world. We could choose one as the basis of our law. With this, too, though, there should be relief for all abused over the years by a bogus law. The records of people convicted of small possession should be expunged.

Next, The Bahamas should move toward creating the regulatory and policy framework to legalize the growth of hemp and medical marijuana. Once legalized, industry would evolve. Jobs would be produced. Entrepreneurs would emerge.

As another measure of social justice, the records of those convicted of possession of larger quantities of marijuana and marijuana trafficking should be expunged.

It would be unfair to have a vibrant legal industry with people making millions while those who wanted to be in it under the old regime are burdened with criminal records.

The final step would be full legalization, including for recreational use. Marijuana should be considered like alcohol. It can be used for a simple, fun, recreational high, or it can be abused and cause harm through addiction.

In global capitalism, the greatest wealth is derived from ownership. A Bahamian-owed, Bahamian-run cannabis industry could generate significant wealth for their people.

Maximum Amount	1,070	$1,070,000	$1,005,800

Our monthly rental obligations and working capital requirements are substantial. Until the sale of our first harvest, if at all, we will require the proceeds of this offering to implement our business plan. If our cultivation fails or we do not generate sufficient revenues from our crop(s), it is unlikely that the Company will be able to make interest payments or repay the outstanding principal balance of the Note. Should this occur, you will lose your entire investment.

We may not generate sufficient revenues to satisfy our contractual obligations under the Note.

Our operating costs and capital requirements may prohibit us from paying interest on the Note. Moreover, if costs and capital expenditures exceed revenues, we will not be able to repay the outstanding principal balance due under the Note.

If we are unable to obtain capital, we may not be able to pay our debt obligations as they become due, and there is substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern.

We may not generate sufficient cash flows from operations to retire our debt. Our ability to continue as a going concern is dependent upon our becoming profitable in the future and/or obtaining the necessary financing to meet our obligations and repay our liabilities arising from normal business operations when they come due. However, there can be no assurance that we will be successful in achieving these objectives.

We will need additional capital to sustain our operations and will likely need to seek further financing, which we may not be able to obtain on acceptable terms or at all. If we fail to raise additional capital, as needed, our ability to implement our business model and strategy could be compromised.

We have limited capital resources and operations. We require substantial capital to commence operations. We may not be able to obtain additional financing on terms acceptable to us, or at all. We have no commitments for further funding.

We face intense competition and many of our competitors have greater resources that may enable them to compete more effectively.

The industry in which we operate in general are subject to intense and increasing competition. Some of our competitors may have greater capital resources, facilities, and diversity of product lines, which may enable them to compete more effectively in this market. Our competitors may devote their resources to developing and marketing products that will directly compete with our product lines.

Federal regulation and enforcement may adversely affect the implementation of hemp laws and regulations may negatively impact our revenues and profits.

Many states have laws and/or regulations that recognize, in one form or another, legitimate medical uses for hemp and consumer use of hemp in connection with medical treatment and recreational use. However, the policies and regulations of the federal government and its agencies are that hemp has no medical benefit and a range of activities including cultivation and the personal use of hemp is prohibited. Unless and until Congress amends these restrictions under the Controlled Substance Act (“CSA”) there can be no assurance, that federal authorities may not enforce current federal law, and we may be deemed to be producing, cultivating, or dispensing hemp in violation of federal law.

OFFERING STATEMENT

100 Units of Convertible Notes at $100 per Unit
	# Of Units	Total Proceeds	Net Proceeds
Target Offering	100	$10,000	$9,400
Maximum Amount	1,070	$1,070,000	$1,005,800

Variations in state and local regulation, and enforcement in states that have legalized either medical or recreational hemp, may restrict hemp-related activities, including activities related to medical hemp, which may negatively impact our revenues and prospective profits.

Individual state laws do not always conform to the federal standard or to other states laws. A number of states have decriminalized hemp to varying degrees, other states have created exemptions specifically for medical hemp, and several have both decriminalization and medical laws. Variations exist among states that have legalized, decriminalized, or created medical hemp or recreational exemptions. Active enforcement of state laws that prohibit personal cultivation of hemp may indirectly and adversely affect our business and our revenue and profits.

Hemp remains illegal under federal law.

Hemp is a Schedule-I controlled substance and is illegal under federal law. Even in those states in which the use of hemp has been legalized, its use remains a violation of federal law. Since federal law criminalizing the use of hemp preempts state laws that legalize its use, strict enforcement of federal law regarding hemp would likely result in our inability to proceed with our business plan.

Laws and regulations affecting the medical hemp industry are constantly changing, which could detrimentally affect our proposed operations.

Local, state, and federal medical and recreational hemp laws and regulations are broad in scope and subject to evolving interpretations, which could require us to incur substantial costs associated with compliance or alter certain aspects of our business plan. In addition, violations of these laws, or allegations of such violations, could disrupt certain aspects of our business plan and result in a material adverse effect on certain aspects of our planned operations.

We may not obtain the necessary permits and authorizations to operate in the hemp business.

We may not be able to obtain or maintain the necessary licenses, permits, authorizations, or accreditations, or may only be able to do so at great cost, to operate its medical hemp business. In addition, we may not be able to comply fully with the wide variety of laws and regulations applicable to the medical hemp industry. Failure to comply with or to obtain the necessary licenses, permits, authorizations, or accreditations could result in restrictions on our ability to operate the medical hemp business, which could have a material adverse effect on our business.

We may have difficulty accessing the service of banks, which may make it difficult for us to operate.

Since the use of hemp is illegal under federal law, there is a strong argument that banks cannot accept for deposit funds from businesses involved with the hemp industry. Consequently, businesses involved in the hemp industry often have difficulty finding a bank willing to accept their business. The inability to open or maintain bank accounts may make it difficult for us to operate our contemplated medical hemp businesses.

Any potential growth in the hemp industry continues to be subject to new and changing state and local laws and regulations.

Continued development of the hemp industry is dependent upon continued legislative legalization of hemp at the state level, and a number of factors could slow or halt progress in this area, even where there is public support for legislative action. Any delay or halt in the passing or implementation of legislation legalizing hemp use, or its sale and distribution, or the re-criminalization or restriction of hemp at the state level could negatively impact our business.

Maximum Amount	1,070	$1,070,000	$1,005,800

The hemp industry faces significant opposition, and any negative trends will adversely affect our business operations.

We are substantially dependent on the continued market acceptance, and the proliferation of consumers, of medical and recreational hemp. We believe that with further legalization, hemp will become more accepted, resulting in a growth in consumer demand. However, we cannot predict the future growth rate or future market potential, and any negative outlook on the hemp industry may adversely affect our business operations.

We depend on our management, certain key personnel and board of directors, as well as our ability to attract, retain and motivate qualified personnel.

Our future success depends largely upon the experience, skill, and contacts of our officers and directors, and the loss of the services of these officers or directors, particularly our chief executive officer and chairman of our board of directors, may have a material adverse effect upon our business. Additionally, our revenues are largely driven by several employees with particular expertise in hemp-related security, marketing and operations. If one of these key employees were to leave, it would negatively impact our short and long-term results from operations. Shortages in qualified personnel could also limit our ability to successfully implement our growth plan. As we grow, we will need to attract and retain highly skilled experts in the hemp industry, as well as managerial, sales and marketing, security and finance personnel. There can be no assurance, however, that we will be able to attract and retain such personnel.

THE BOTTOM LINE: Investment in the securities of smaller companies can involve greater risk than is generally associated with investment in larger, more established companies. All investments can result in significant or total loss of your loan and/or investment. We cannot guaranty success, return on investment, or repayment of loans.

Please only invest what you can afford to lose.

The term “spousal equivalent” means a cohabitant occupying a relationship generally equivalent to that of a spouse.

Description of Issuer’s Securities

17. What other securities or classes of securities of the issuer are outstanding? Describe the material terms of any other outstanding securities or classes of securities of the issuer.

Class of Security	Securities (or Amount) Authorized	Securities (or Amount) Outstanding	Voting Rights	Other Rights
Units of Membership Interest:	1,000,000	500,000	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	Specify: <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> No

18. How may the rights of the securities being offered be materially limited, diluted or qualified by the rights of any other class of security identified above?

The Company has the option to convert the securities sold in this offering into equity at note’s maturity.

19. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer? Yes No

20. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 above affect the purchasers of the securities being offered?

The Company has the option to convert the securities sold in this offering into equity at note’s maturity.

21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

The company elected to offer an above average return based on the industry and the underline value of the real estate.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

The right to demand current distributions from an operating business is limited. A majority owner, if she is committed to avoiding any distributions to a minority owner, can usually avoid making any distributions of profits. By establishing generous reserves for future expenses, paying a salary to herself or her relatives at the high range of what is reasonable, pre-paying expenses, investing in new business or new equipment, leasing expensive cars, etc., a majority owner can spend enough that there are rarely any profits to be distributed. So long as the expenses are not grossly unreasonable, the investor, probably, won't be able to force the company to allow you to share in any of the current income of the company.

OFFERING STATEMENT

	# Of Units	Total Proceeds	Net Proceeds
Target Offering	100	$10,000	$9,400
Maximum Amount	1,070	$1,070,000	$1,005,800

No right to participate in any management decisions of the company. The majority owner may make a decision that the investor think is bad and puts your interest in the company at risk. The investor may see the majority owner running the company into the ground. The investor can try to convince him that it is the wrong decision, but he doesn't have to take your calls.

The investor has limited rights, if any, to have your interest bought out. You may want to cash out your interest and do other things with the money. State law may give you the right to force the company to buy you out, but these rights are limited.

While the investor would be entitled to a share of any profits on sale of the entire business, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions including:

- Additional issuances of securities:

Following the investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interest to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the investor in the Company. The Investor might have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional capital needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and the objectives of the Company.

- Issuer repurchases of securities:

The company may have the authority to repurchase its securities from shareholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

- A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer:

As a minority owner of the Company, the Investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for shareholders.

- Transactions with related parties:

The Investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management and the Board of Directors of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its shareholders. By acquiring an interest in the company, the investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

None.

25. What other exempt offerings has the issuer conducted within the past three years?

None.

26. Was or is the issuer or any entities controlled by or under common control with the issuer a party to any transaction since the beginning of the issuer's last fiscal year, or any currently proposed transaction, where the amount involved exceeds five percent of the aggregate amount of capital raised by the issuer in reliance

Independent Accountant's Review Report

The Board of Directors
 Green Growth Real Estate, LLC

I have reviewed the accompanying financial statements of Green Growth Real Estate, Llc, which comprises the balance sheet as of July 31, 2019 (the date of inception), and the related statement of income, changes in members' equity, and cash flows for the period then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements. A review includes primarily applying analytical procedures to management's financial data and making inquiries of company management. Accountant's Responsibility

My responsibility is to conduct the review engagements in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services promulgated by the Accounting and Review Services Committee of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Those standards require me to perform procedures to obtain limited assurance as a basis for reporting whether I am aware of any material modifications that should be made to the financial statements for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. I believe that the results of my procedures provide a reasonable basis for our report.

Accountant's Conclusion

Based on my reviews, I am not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

ARTICLE 3 CONVERSION OF NOTE

SECTION 3.1 Conversion; Conversion Ratio; Valuation Event. At the option of the Company and Holder's election if offered at maturity, this Note may be converted, either in whole or in part, up to the full Principal Amount plus accrued interest hereof into Common Securities (calculated as to each such conversion to the nearest whole share, at any time and from time to time on any Business Day, subject to compliance with Section 3.2.) The number of Common Securities into which this Note may be converted is equal to the number of Securities that may be purchased for the value of the note at the time of conversion. In the event of any recapitalization or reorganization, the Conversion Ratio shall be adjusted accordingly.

SECTION 3.2 Exercise of Conversion Privilege. (a) Conversion of this Note may be exercised, if offered by Company, at Maturity Date by the Holder by telecopying an executed and completed Conversion Notice to the Company (the "Conversion Date"). The Company shall convert this Note and issue the Common Stock Issued at Conversion in the manner provided below in this Section 3.2, and all voting and other rights associated with the beneficial ownership of the Common Stock Issued at Conversion shall vest with the Holder, effective as of the Conversion Date at the time specified in the Conversion Notice. The Conversion Notice also shall state the name or names (with addresses) of the persons who are to become the holders of the Common Stock Issued at Conversion in connection with such conversion. As promptly as practicable after the receipt of the Conversion Notice as aforesaid, but in any event not more than five(5) Business Days after Holder's delivery of such Conversion Notice, the Company shall (i) issue the Common Stock Issued at Conversion in accordance with the provisions of this Article 3 and (ii) cause to be mailed for delivery by overnight courier a certificate or certificate(s) representing the number of Common Securities to which the Holder is entitled by virtue of such conversion, and cash, as provided in Section 3.3, as applicable, representing the amount of accrued and unpaid interest on this Note as of the Conversion Date. Such conversion shall be deemed to have been effected at the time at which the Conversion Notice indicates, and at such time the rights of the Holder of this Note, as such (except if and to the extent that any Principal Amount thereof remains unconverted), shall cease and the Person and Persons in whose name or names the Common Stock Issued at Conversion shall be issuable shall be deemed to have become the holder or holders of record of the Common Securities represented thereby, and all voting and other rights associated with the beneficial ownership of such Common Securities shall at such time vest with such Person or Persons. The Conversion Notice shall constitute a contract between the Holder and the Company, whereby the Holder shall be deemed to subscribe for the number of Common Securities which it will be entitled to receive upon such conversion and, in payment and satisfaction of such subscription to surrender this Note and to release the Company from all liability thereon (except if and to the extent that any Principal Amount thereof remains unconverted).

SECTION 3.3 Fractional Securities. No fractional Common Securities or scrip representing fractional Common Securities shall be delivered upon conversion of this Note. Instead of any fractional Common Securities which otherwise would be delivered upon conversion of this Note, the Company shall round up to the next whole share.
