Todd Martin

Co-Founder, Tucson Tamale
Greater Tucson Area

Summary

Todd is a visionary and strategist. The guy who sees enormous possibility where others see the way things have always been done. And he gets it done.

Todd and his wife Sherry, Co-founder Tucson Tamale in 2008. After 12 years at Intuit, Todd and Sherry were ready to build their own dreams. They wanted to be a part of the new food culture.

"When it comes to producing food, we live in a time where speed, cost, and efficiency supersede nutrition, health, flavor, human craftsmanship, and living wages. We always knew we wanted to create a different kind of food company.

"One day, in 1995, Sherry invited me to make tamales with her family. The experience made a lasting impression on me. The tamales were delicious. So full of heart and soul! And the process had so much integrity. Every region in the Americas has their own form of tamales and tamale tradition where they have been handmade, with indigenous knowledge passed down through generations, for over 5000 years"

"In 2008 we realized: we wanted to create a company where we bring these delectable gifts from the past into the future. But we're going to do it right. We're going to make them by hand. We're going to treat our employees right. We're going to use quality, healthy, delicious, non-GMO ingredients. We're going to play with flavors and come up with bold new creations.

Tucson Tamale was born on 11-21-08. The first week we were open we made about 500 tamales. This year (2022) we will make over 8 million tamales, each one hand rolled and each one delicious. We are very proud of what we do and our staff.
