Inner City Opportunity Zone LLC
Multifamily Real Estate Acquisitions

Security TypeConvertible Note*Raise: $1,070,000 USD*Minimum: $10,000 USD*Executive Summary

Inner City Opportunity Zone LLC is a privately-owned real estate investment company. Our company identifies, structures, executes and actively manages real estate for institutional and private clients. We specialize in repositioning distressed and underperforming multifamily properties into investment grade assets that produce high yield risk-adjusted returns.

ICOZ LLC's Investment Strategy is focused on value-added opportunity zone investments that typically require an equity commitment of $100K to $2M. We seek to achieve mid to high teen internal rates of return reflecting a multiple of 1.5 times its initial investment. Most investments are initially capitalized with leverage of 75% of cost and underwritten for a 3 to 7-year hold period.

Investment Strategy

- Multifamily Properties located in designed Opportunity Zones
- Value-Add and Opportunistic Approach
- Seeking locations where high barriers to entry create additional value
- Supply constrained urban markets
- Properties where location and/or scale create the greatest opportunity for landlord pricing power
- Under-developed sites where increasing density is likely to be feasible during the projected hold period
- Distressed opportunities

ICOZ LLC considers investment in multifamily properties to be very attractive based upon the combination of rental demand, location, physical condition and return targets. Projected capital expenditures giving rise to rent increases will result in higher net operating income and related investor rates of return on invested capital. Current returns will be aided by the higher rents while the capital improvements should support a lower cap rate upon eventual sale or refinance.

- Capitalization Rate: 8%-10%
- Debt: 75% Loan to Value
- Investment Period - 3-7 Year Hold
- Returns – 8% Annual
- Target Market – Southeast Florida

Opportunity

Inner City Opportunity Zone LLC - Investing in Opportunity Zones

Opportunity Zones are census tracts, nominated by governors and certified by the U.S. Department of the Treasury, into which investors can invest in new projects intended to spur economic development in exchange for certain federal tax benefits.

Opportunity Funds

Opportunity Funds are investment vehicles that invest at least 90% of their capital in Qualified Opportunity Zones. The fund model enables investors to pool their resources in Opportunity Zones, increasing the scale of capital going to investments selected by the manager.

To capture the potential tax benefits offered by an Opportunity Fund, an investor must invest the gains from a sale of a prior investment (e.g., stock, bonds, real estate, a company) into an Opportunity Fund within 180 days of the sale of that investment. The investor only has to roll in the gain or profits from the sale of the investment, not the original principal of the investment. Moreover, only the taxable gains rolled over into an Opportunity Fund are eligible to receive the tax incentives.

Investing in Opportunity Funds can provide three substantial potential tax advantages to investors:

Deferral of capital gain

A tax deferral for any capital gains rolled over in an Opportunity Fund. The deferred gain would be recognized on the earlier of December 31, 2026 or the date on which the investment in the Fund is sold.

Reduction of the capital gains tax realized

A step-up in basis for capital gains rolled into an Opportunity Fund. The basis of the original investment is increased by 10% if the investment is held by the taxpayer for at least 5 years, and by an additional 5% if held for at least 7 years. In other words, if by December 31, 2026 an investor has held an investment in an Opportunity Fund for 7 years, then the tax on the initially deferred gain is expected to be reduced by 15%, or reduced by 10% if by then held for only five years.

No tax on any capital gains from an investment in Opportunity Fund

In the case of any investment in an Opportunity Fund held by a taxpayer for at least 10 years, the basis of such property shall be equal to the fair market value of such investment on the date that the investment is sold or exchanged. In short, after 10 years, thereafter there would be zero federal capital gains tax on profits from the sale of an investment in an Opportunity Fund

Why Invest in Multi-family Properties?

Investors have a wide range of choices when it comes to real estate investing. Those looking to diversify their portfolio may be considering income-producing real estate, such as multifamily housing. There are many benefits, including tax breaks and loan opportunities, that can make multi-unit rental investing a wise choice. Here are some key reasons why you should consider investing in a multifamily housing property:

5 Reasons to Invest in Multifamily Housing

1. Increased Cash Flow
2. Multifamily Properties Hold Their Value
3. Tax Breaks
4. Better Loan Opportunities
5. Demand Projected to Increase

What is Multifamily Housing?

A multifamily residential property, also known as multifamily housing, refers to more than one housing unit contained in one building or group of buildings. This term includes a range of building types depending on the number of units involved, construction style, and amenities provided. Examples include duplexes, triplexes, quadplexes, apartment complexes, and townhomes.

Multifamily housing can be aimed at different markets, such as affordable housing for students, low-income residents, or luxury renters. Certain types of housing may also be eligible for government subsidies by performing certain renting activities, ranging from the Section-8 program to residential assisted living facilities.

Generally, when a property has four units or less it is considered residential property; otherwise, it is labeled a commercial property. How the property is zoned will determine the appropriate rental activity. The number of units will also impact the type of financing you will need and rate of return you might expect.

Execution

Proactive Sourcing Strategy:

ICOF's Management Team has developed an extensive network of contacts including owners, developers, brokers, banker and consultants, which results in a strong flow of acquisition opportunities that are often not subject to intensive competitive processes.

Of the direct investments that the management team has made, more than 50% were sourced by members of the Management Team through their private contacts in the investment community, rather than in response to a broadly-based marketing program. ICOF believes its strategy of seeking opportunities on a privately negotiated basis where there is limited competition enables our targets to achieve more favorable pricing and terms.

Due Diligence: Acquisition and Financing

- Coordination of entire due diligence process
- Analyze and interpret market, demographic and economic data
- Evaluate asset, location and site characteristics Conduct financial review and analysis (historical and proforma, including sensitivities)
- Development of business plan
- Optimize and execute capital market strategy for investment

Aggressive Asset Management

The Fund will be operationally focused, relying on ICOZ LLCs in-house asset management capabilities, which include marketing and sales, development/redevelopment, finance and capital markets. ICOZ LLC utilizes a comprehensive integrated investment process designed to meet project objectives, through the efficient and coordinated effort. Pre-investment, during the due diligence process, SG develops a business plan for the potential investment which includes market analysis, architectural and design specifications, construction plans, sales and marketing plans and pro-forma, financial analysis.

Post-investment, senior members of the Management Team are responsible for the execution of the business plan and closely monitor performance to ensure any necessary refinements are immediately implemented.

To fund the acquisition, the Company intends to place new First Mortgage loan and Equity capital from Investors. ICOF is in the process of negotiating the terms of the Senior Loans, and these terms are based on indications of interest from certain established financial institutions and lenders.

RISK FACTORS

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. You should not invest any funds in this offering unless you can afford to lose your entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky:

(1) General Risks of Real Estate Ownership

The ability of the Company to pay its debts and meet its other obligations in a timely fashion and to make cash distributions to the investors will depend on factors that affect all apartment investments, including local economic conditions, housing preference of prospective tenants, reputation of the Property, new competition, real estate and local taxes, the availability of future financing, risks relating to environmental factors, uninsured casualties, condemnation and possible changes in governmental rules and regulations. The Property also faces the risk that tenants may not be able to meet their financial obligations due to deterioration in their own personal financial situation.

(2) Risks Relating to Projections

The Projections included in this Offering represent ICOZ estimates of, among other items, the Company's income, expenses, capital expenditures and debt service and are based on the assumptions described herein. The Projections are presented for illustrative purposes only and there is no assurance that the Company will be able to achieve the forecasted results. Actual results may vary from those projected and the variances may be material and adverse.

(3) Risks Related to Mortgage Financing

The projections assume that a Senior Loan will be approved and closed by the Company. While verbal discussions have been held, there is no assurance that the Senior Loan will be approved. Approval will be subject to lender due diligence, appraisal valuation and satisfactory environmental investigation. Without the Senior Loan, there will be no closing and Equity will be returned in full. Further, the interest rate is indicative of the anticipated rate and has not yet been fixed, but upon closing will be fixed for the term of the loan.

(4) Risks Related to Management of Company

All day-to-day decisions with respect to the Company will be made by ICOZ and the Investors will have no right to take part in the day-to-day management of the Company. The Investors do not have the right to remove ICOZ absent gross negligence.

Certain major decisions such as dissolution and major acquisitions, dispositions, borrowings and refinancing require the approval ICOZ.

(5) Risks Relating to Additional Capital Contributions

ICOZ, may request voluntary, additional capital contributions if IC determines that the receipt of such additional capital contributions is necessary or desirable to fund the Company obligations, to improve or enhance the Property, or for any other Company purpose. If additional capital contributions are made and an Investor Member does not make said additional capital contribution equal to his pro-rata share (based on his initial capital contribution), that Investor Member interest in the Company may be diluted and the dilution may be material. Further, “last-in” Equity must be satisfied before any distributions can be made to original capital.

(7) Risks Related to Federal Tax Matters

The Company shall be treated as a partnership for purposes of federal and state taxation. Investor Members will thus be taxed on their share of the Company’s income regardless of the amount of distribution paid by the Company during the year. Accordingly, Investor Members may have an amount of tax to pay on their share of Company income, for one or more years, which exceeds the distributions received during such year(s). In addition, non-residents of Florida may incur Florida tax liability and/or Florida tax filing responsibility as a result of an investment in the Company.

(8) Risks Related to Local Tax Matters

The Company’s real estate taxes are a material portion of the operating expenses of the Property. Those taxes could materially increase, decreasing the Property’s cash flow, if, over a period of time, a greater than 50% transfer of ownership of the Property occurs, causing an “uncapping” of the Property taxes under state law. There will be an “uncapping” which would increase the property taxes. The Investor Members will be taking the risk that, due to a factual change or legal challenge from a government unit, an uncapping could occur and/or that legal fees will need to be expended by the Company on this issue

The SEC requires the company to identify risks that are specific to its business and its financial condition.

The company is still subject to all the same risks that all companies in its business, and all companies in the economy, are exposed to. These include risks relating to economic downturns, political and economic events and technological developments (such as hacking and the ability to prevent hacking).

Additionally, early-stage companies are inherently more risky than more developed companies. You should consider general risks as well as specific risks when deciding whether to invest.

These are the risks that relate to the company:

- Crowdfunding for early stage companies is relatively new. Crowdfunding (defined as online offerings of the securities of early stage companies to retail investors) is a relatively new industry that has only started to develop with the SEC’s adoption of Regulation A+ in June 2015 and Regulation Crowdfunding on May 16, 2016. Early stage companies may be slow to adopt crowdfunding as a method of capital formation, which would mean fewer deals for investors to choose from and less research for us to prepare. Alternatively, investors may be slow to adopt crowdfunding as a viable investment substitute, which would mean fewer early stage companies raising money and a smaller potential customer base. As a result, a risk exists that we acquire fewer customers or acquire customers at a slower pace than we anticipate.
- This is a brand-new company. We were formed in August 2019, have only recently launched our website, and have no revenues. If you are investing in this company, it’s because you believe in the idea and the market opportunity, the quality of the team, and the direction of the business to date.

• Our accountant has included a “going concern” note in its review report. We may not have enough funds to sustain the business until it becomes profitable. Our ability to remain in business is reliant on either generating sufficient cash flows, raising additional capital, or likely a combination of the two. Additionally, even if targeted funds are raised, it is likely that we will need to raise additional funds in the near future.

• We are controlled by our officers and directors. Our officers and directors currently hold all of our voting stock, and at the conclusion of this offering will continue to hold a majority of the company’s common stock. Investors in this offering will not have the ability to control a vote by the stockholders or the board of directors.

• The company will need to raise additional money in the future. We might not sell enough securities in this offering to meet our operating needs and fulfill our plans, in which case we will cease operating and you will lose your investment. Even if we raise everything at or above our targeted funds, it is likely that we will need to raise additional funds in the future. The ability to raise funds will always be a risk until we achieve sustainable profitability, which we currently cannot predict. Even if we do successfully raise more funds after this offering, the terms of that offering could result in a reduction in value of your investment in the company, as later stage investors may get more favorable terms.

• It is difficult for us to accurately predict our earnings potential. Because of our short operating history, it is more difficult to accurately assess growth rate and earnings potential. It is possible that our company will face many difficulties typical for early stage companies.

An investment in the Company’s securities involves substantial risk. Prospective investors should consider carefully the factors referred to below as well as others associated with their investment. In addition, this Memorandum contains forward-looking statements regarding future events and the future financial performance of the Company that involve significant risks and uncertainties. Investors are cautioned that such statements are predictions and beliefs of the Company, and the Company’s actual results may differ materially from those discussed herein. The discussion below includes some of the material risk factors that could cause future results to differ from those described or implied in the forward looking statements and other information appearing elsewhere in this Memorandum. If any of the following risks, or any additional risks and uncertainties not listed below and not presently known to us, actually occur, our business could be harmed or fail. In such case, you may lose all or part of your Investment.

General Risks Associated with an Early Stage Company

As a new company we have a limited operating history. The Company was organized on August 22, 2019. We have a limited operating history upon which you may evaluate our business and prospects. We are in the early stages of our business and have not yet commenced full-scale operations. Accordingly, we are in the initial revenue phase, and our activities to date have involved research and development, business planning, market testing and efforts to raise startup capital. Our business and prospects must be considered in light of the risk, expense and difficulties frequently encountered by pre revenue companies in early stages of development, particularly companies in highly competitive and evolving markets. If we are unable to effectively allocate our resources, our business operating results and financial condition would be adversely affected and we may be unable to execute our business plan, and our business could fail. Investors could therefore be at risk of losing their investment.

We expect losses in the foreseeable future. Excluding the effect of any future non-operating gains, we expect to incur losses for the foreseeable future and, if we ever generate revenues, or have profits, we may not be able to sustain them. Our expenses will increase as we build an infrastructure to implement our business model.

Our success is dependent on our key personnel. We believe that our success will depend on the continued employment of our senior management and key personnel. If one or more members of our senior management were unable or unwilling to continue in their present positions, our business and operations could be disrupted and this could put the overall business at risk, and therefore investors could be at risk of losing their investments.

Projections are speculative and are based upon a number of assumptions. Any projected financial results prepared by or on behalf of the Company have not been independently reviewed, analyzed, or otherwise passed upon. Such “forward-looking” statements are based on various assumptions, which assumptions may prove to be incorrect. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that such projections, assumptions, and statements will accurately predict future events or actual performance. Any projections of cash flow should be considered speculative and are qualified in their entirety by the assumptions, information and risks disclosed in this Memorandum. Investors are advised to consult with their own independent tax and business advisors concerning the validity and reasonableness of the factual, accounting and tax assumptions. No representations or warranties whatsoever are made by the Company, its affiliates or any other person or entity as to the future profitability of the Company or the results of making an investment in the Shares. If our future projections end up being significantly different than currently projected, our business could be greatly impacted. Our business therefore may not be able to sustain itself without the projected future revenues. The business could be at risk of closing, and investors may therefore be at risk of losing their investments.

We may not effectively manage growth. The anticipated growth of the Company’s business will result in a corresponding growth in the demands on the Company’s management and its operating infrastructure and internal controls. While we are planning for managed growth, any future growth may strain resources and operational, financial, human and management information systems, which may not be adequate to support the Company’s operations and will require the Company to develop further management systems and procedures. There can be no guarantee that the Company will be able to develop such systems or procedures effectively on a timely basis. The failure to do so could have a material adverse effect upon the Company’s business, operating results and financial condition. Investors could therefore be at risk of losing their investments if growth is not managed effectively.

Our efficiency may be limited while our current employees and future employees are being integrated into our operations. In addition, we may be unable to find and hire additional qualified management and professional personnel to help lead us. There is competition for qualified personnel in the area of the Company’s activities, and there can be no assurance that the Company will be able to attract and retain qualified personnel necessary for the development of our business. If this business cannot effectively hire employees to help the company grow, the business could be at risk overall of not succeeding, and investors therefore may be at risk of losing their investment.

We expect our expenses to grow as the Company grows. Our expenses will increase as we build infrastructure to implement our business plan. For example, we may hire additional employees, expand our product offerings, and lease more space for our corporate offices. This poses a risk to the financial forecasts and current financial model of the Company.

The Company may not reach its sales goals. The Company has forecasted its capitalization requirements based on income goals and cost containment measures; any reduction to these forecasts could make it difficult for the company to achieve its projected growth, which would affect available cash and working capital, ultimately affecting the Company’s financial condition. This could put the investor at risk of losing their investment.

The Company may require additional financing to support capital needs. The Company may need to explore additional financing transactions that management determines are in the best interest of the Company, including, without limitation, commercial debt transactions, private offerings of debt or equity securities, a rights offering, and other strategic alternatives. Such additional financing may not be available to the Company, or, if available, the Company may be unable to undertake such additional financing on terms that are advantageous to the Company. If the Company fails to raise additional capital in such an offering, or through other fund raising efforts, such a failure could have a material adverse effect on the Company, and investors in this Offering could be at greater risk of losing their investments due to the inability of the business to proceed with enough working capital to effectively run the Company.

Many of our competitors have greater brand recognition and greater financial, marketing and other resources. Many of our competitors have greater brand recognition, and greater financial, marketing, and other resources than the Company. This may place us at a disadvantage in responding to our competitors' strategies, technological advances, advertising campaigns, strategic alliances and other initiatives. Consequently, such competitors may be in a better position than the Company to take advantage of acquisitions and business opportunities, and devote greater resources to marketing and sale of their product offerings. There cannot be any certainty that the Company will be able to compete successfully. If the Company cannot break through and compete successfully, investors may be at risk of losing their investment.

Management has broad discretion as to the use of proceeds. The net proceeds from this Offering will be used for the purposes described under "USE OF PROCEEDS." The Company reserves the right to use the funds obtained from this Offering and the Debt Offering for other similar purposes not presently contemplated, which it deems to be in the best interests of the Company in order to address changed circumstances or opportunities. This poses a risk to an investor should they be relying on current use of proceed forecasts for the investment as business conditions may require a change of the use of these funds.

Management has voting control of the Company. Management of the Company presently holds a majority of the issued and outstanding voting common stock in the Company. Due to their stock ownership and positions with the Company, the current officers will be in a position to continue to control the affairs and management of the Company after the Offering. Investors must rely entirely on our management to govern the affairs of the Company.

There may be unanticipated obstacles to the execution of the Company's business plan. The Company's business plans may change significantly. Our business plan is capital intensive. We believe that our chosen activities and strategies are achievable in light of current economic and legal conditions with the skills, background, and knowledge of our principals and advisors. Our management reserves the right to make significant modifications to its stated strategies depending on future events. Investors must be prepared for these potential modifications to stated strategies and understand the inherent risk to their investment that these modifications could pose.

Risks Associated with the Business of the Company

You can lose 100% of your investment. Many small business startups like the Company fail. Inner City Opportunity Zone LLC is a risky venture and it may fail to achieve its goals or carry out its business plans. Each investor bears the risk of losing all or part of his/her/its investment.

Other economic and public health conditions in the markets in which we operate, including rising commodity and fuel prices, higher labor costs, increased transportation costs, natural disasters, terrorist attacks, outbreaks of public health pandemics or other diseases, or third party conduct could negatively impact our business. Various economic and public health conditions can have a significant negative impact on our business. Significant increases in the costs of other products, which are required by consumers, such as gasoline, home heating fuels, or groceries, may reduce discretionary spending by our target market, which would negatively impact our business. Economic conditions may also be negatively impacted by terrorist attacks, wars and other conflicts, increases in critical commodity prices, or the prospect of such events. Such a weakened economic and business climate, as well as consumer uncertainty created by such a climate, could harm our revenues and profitability.

In addition to experiencing potentially lower or no revenues from our products during times of economic difficulty, in an effort to maintain sales during such times we may need to reduce the price of our products, increase our promotional spending, or take other steps to encourage consumer purchases of our products. Those steps may lower our net revenues, if any, decrease our operating margins, increase our costs and/or lower our profitability, to the extent it is ever achieved.

General economic conditions, including a prolonged weakness in the economy, may affect the real estate industry, which could adversely affect our execution. Our results of operations are dependent on a number of factors impacting consumers, including general economic and business conditions; consumer confidence; wages and employment levels; the housing market; consumer debt levels; availability of consumer credit; credit and interest rates; fuel and energy costs; energy shortages; taxes; and general political conditions, both domestic and abroad. A prolonged downturn or an uncertain outlook in the economy may materially adversely affect our business, revenues and profits.

THE BOTTOM LINE: Investment in the securities of smaller companies can involve greater risk than is generally associated with investment in larger, more established companies. All investments can result in significant or total loss of your loan and/or investment. We cannot guaranty success, return on investment, or repayment of loans.

Please only invest what you can afford to lose.

Target Offering	200	$10,000	$9,300
Maximum Amount	1,070	$1,070,000	$995,100

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

The right to demand current distributions from an operating business is limited. A majority owner, if he is committed to avoiding any distributions to a minority owner, can usually avoid making any distributions of profits. By establishing generous reserves for future expenses, paying a salary to herself or her relatives at the high range of what is reasonable, pre-paying expenses, investing in new business or new equipment, leasing expensive cars, etc., a majority owner can spend enough that there are rarely any profits to be distributed. So long as the expenses are not grossly unreasonable, the investor, probably, won't be able to force the company to allow you to share in any of the current income of the company.

No right to participate in any management decisions of the company. The majority owner may make a decision that the investor think is bad and puts your interest in the company at risk. The investor may see the majority owner running the company into the ground. The investor can try to convince him that it is the wrong decision, but he doesn't have to take your calls.

The investor has limited rights, if any, to have your interest bought out. You may want to cash out your interest and do other things with the money. State law may give you the right to force the company to buy you out, but these rights are limited.

While the investor would be entitled to a share of any profits on sale of the entire business, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions including:

- Additional issuances of securities:

Following the investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interest to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the investor in the Company. The Investor might have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional capital needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and the objectives of the Company.

- Issuer repurchases of securities:

The company may have the authority to repurchase its securities from shareholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

- A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer:

As a minority owner of the Company, the Investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for shareholders.

- Transactions with related parties:

The Investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management and the Board of Directors of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its shareholders. By acquiring an interest in the company, the investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.
