About

Constantly taking on new challenges, I've tackled (and survived mostly unscathed) in no particular order DevOps, hardware development and debug, API development in multiple languages, long-term planning & business development, team building and management, contract manufacturing, serverless architectures, marketing and much more.

I dream of drawing better than stick figures, but I wouldn't recommend myself for any graphic design positions.. yet.

Founder & CEO

Pressure Games
Nov 2018 – Present · 1 yr
Punta Gorda, Florida Area

At Pressure Games, we make exciting games for kids that get them off the couch, use their imagination and play with others.

I am leading the business development, technology design, game concepts and general planning. We're a small team right now, but poised to take off with the launch of our first toy.

Our patent-pending first game, Countdown, combines hide and seek with mini-games to stop a timer when found. It recently won at the 2019 Outdoor Toy Awards and is planned t... See more

Dawid Krężel

Android Developer at Ryanair - Europe's Favourite Airline

August 3, 2017, Alex worked with Dawid but at different companies

I worked closely with Dawid on an Android development project for nearly 2 years. He was the lead developer for our Android app from day one and showed his passion for making a solid product the whole way through. We went through many iterations and changes throughout development, but Dawid had no... See more

Philippe Gambling

Technical Lead / Consultant for Expero, Inc.

June 8, 2010, Alex was senior to Philippe but didn't manage directly

Philippe was a strong leader, and devoted engineer at AMD. He was easily able to take on new tasks quickly and put in any extra time required to complete them on time. He always understood not just the 'what' that needed to be done, but to look past the initial requirements to determine how it would affect ... See more
