BUSINESS AND ANTICIPATED BUSINESS PLAN

7. Describe in detail the business of the issuer and the anticipated business plan of the issuer.

Who We Are

Our investments are designed to preserve and grow shareholders’ capital and provide financial security with a focus on long-term sustainability coupled with unprecedented possibility.

FlowerBee Group, Inc. is an American firm headquartered in Southfield, Michigan, United States. FlowerBee invests in high growth blockchain assets and combines them with long-term real estate assets holdings to create alternative financing and liquidity options for operators in the cannabis space. The Company’s assets include real estate, software, blockchain, and financial services.

Problem

While the cannabis industry is expected to soar to more than $50 billion in just five years, prices have fallen anywhere from 25% on the retail side to nearly 50% for wholesalers. This decline has put a strain on profit margins despite tremendous overall revenue growth.

These trends are likely to continue moving forward as a growing number of producers enter the market. The increase in supply will be partially offset from higher demand stemming from the myriad of legalization’s initiatives across North America. Producers of raw cannabis are expected to see the greatest competition given the potential commoditization of the product, while developers of extracts could enjoy some protection given the complexity and proprietary formulations.

PLANT TOUCHING COMPANIES SUBJECT TO HIGH RISK

Plant touching companies still face a high degree of risk as cannabis remains a Schedule 1 illegal drug. While Michigan has legalized the growth and use of cannabis, plant touching companies must adhere to strict guidelines to meet compliance requirements. Beyond state and federal compliance risk generally, the challenges are compounded by additional unique issues related to their inability to access banking, financing, and funding generally. Moreover, as a result of the deemed illegality of cannabis companies at a federal level, plant-touching companies are unable to avail themselves of federal protections, such as bankruptcy, should their businesses fail.

Solution

FlowerBee Group solves this risky problem realized by growers while remaining exempt from the legislative climate by focusing solely on the tangible and intangible assets necessary for cannabis companies to operate. The entire industry is comprised of several essential assets - real estate, equipment, manufacturing, and financing. We know what can be tested can be trusted. The primary underlying assets we’ve engaged in is landing banking, lease back, and asset appreciation.

We have followed the tried and true model of land leases, land banking, and asset appreciation. We create value for investors and shareholders through above-market lease rates of real and personal property to agricultural cannabis/hemp/CBD farms, grow facilities, dispensaries and transportation companies. Value is further realized through the appreciation of real property as measured by both sales' comparison and income capitalization methodologies. Depreciation of assets also provides additional tax benefits for non-real estate related assets.

FlowerBee Group, Inc. has entered into contingent acquisition agreements for a cannabis zoned commercial property. This operations (Detroit) is in prime industrial location. The Woodrow Wilson canopy operation is housed in a 40,000 square foot industrial building. Through our acquisition of the underlying real estate, we realize immediate profitability from above-average lease rates, long-term tenants, and stability of revenue as a result of the tenant operating its grow operation under the long-standing Michigan Medical Marijuana Facilities Licensing Act. Combined net leasing revenue from the businesses operating in the facilities exceeds $350,000.00 per annum. With modest property improvements the market value of each property has substantial room for appreciation. Again, our focus is profiting from the exponential growth in the cannabis sector while remaining non-plant touching.

FlowerBee consultants will aid our tenant in improving profitability. Crop production requires the proper tools, environment, and conditions for optimum results. The consulting strategy will include licensing and/or financing the FlowerBee proprietary growth and nutrition system, which has been tested and produced favorable results. Benefits include reduced harvest cycles and increased flower growth, while maintaining the highest standard for care in the process.

Our Approach

Value Creation

The FlowerBee approach to creating value focuses on unlocking potential that others are unable to see. Our disciplined investment focus is always on companies that provide mission-critical components to the cannabis industry –blockchain software, data analytics, hard assets and alternative banking solutions designed to create opportunities for growth and improvement in cannabis operations. We partner with world-class advisory teams across our managed assets. Our goal is to help cannabis companies avoid or dampen the regulatory, liquidity, and operational inefficiencies and challenges that lead to little or no growth. Our dedicated team of operational consultants will generate lasting value through the implementation of best practices across our investments.

FlowerBee brings deep-domain process, focus, and discipline to the value creation process. We have created a scalable model by developing internal business processes that help improve investments efficiency, profitability, and enhanced growth opportunities. Best practices are created by and for FlowerBee's management teams, and touch on all aspects of growth and operational strategies. Our management team consists of proven business leaders that work collaboratively to capture, share, and deploy their collective experience across the FlowerBee assets.

We believe the market opportunity for investing in value-added complementary cannabis assets is strong and will continue to grow as new entrants to the market attempt to enter the cannabis space through more traditional means. The pursuit of operational excellence, demonstrated execution capability, and application of patient capital is FlowerBee's winning combination for long-term success.

Business Model

Identify, Improve, and Sustain

Our business model is simple, yet powerful!

Identify: Value-added opportunities can only be seen by those who have an operational eye for inefficiencies. FlowerBee’s executive team understands what to look for in an asset, company, or industry to determine its gaps and the best way to fill those gaps.

Improve: FlowerBee’s unrivaled expertise in real estate, supply-chain, and blockchain-as-a- service (BaaS) positions us to integrate applications for the cannabis industry that result in growth for cannabis companies. We ensure that our target company can maximize the expertise of our network to achieve operational excellence, sustainable growth, and financial returns. Moreover, it allows us to ensure the integrity of the investment through a secure platform with real-time data.

Sustain: With dynamic market changes, FlowerBee navigates economic shifts by staying close to policy makers, economist insights, and the myriad of political factors that drives local and global economies. For more than two decades FlowerBee’s executive team weathered countless downturns, crashes, and destabilizations. We have the experience to anticipate and charter though such conditions.

Real Estate

FlowerBee Group specializes in acquisition and leasing of land that support the cannabis, hemp, and CBD industry. We build tangible and intangible value through hard assets (real estate & equipment) and advance technologies (blockchain).

Market

In the third quarter, the U.S. industrial market maintained the momentum seen in the first half of 2018. Annual rental growth accelerated to 6.3 percent, the highest annual growth rate so far in 2018. The U.S. vacancy remained stable for the third-consecutive quarter, at 4.8 percent and continues to be at an all-time historic low.

Class A market remains tight and is primarily driving rental growth. The U.S. industrial rents for Q3 reported a strong jump, moving closer to the $6.00-mark, at $5.74 per square foot. As top logistics markets continue to operate at a sub-3.0 percent vacancy rate, we expect continued competition for quality space to add pressure on rents through 2018. Comparing the top 10 most expensive logistics markets, West Coast cities make up 8 out of the 10 most expensive markets in the country.

According to CBRE’s U.S. Real Estate Market Outlook 2019 report released December 5th, the U.S. industrial and logistics sector, which was chosen as the preferred asset class for the second year in a row by global institutional investors, retained strong market fundamentals in 2018. Net absorption exceeded completions and drove the vacancy rate down to a historic low of 4.3% in Q3 2018.

This supply/demand dynamic creates a significant opportunity for owners of industrial facilities, particularly those focused on niche categories, as options are limited for tenants requiring specialized buildings. We will continue to purchase specialized industrial properties that are mission critical to the medical-use cannabis industry.

Competition

In Michigan, competition has primarily been in the cultivation, transportation, and dispensary segments, although the large plant and non-plant touching companies are focusing on strategic acquisitions. To date, we have not found any companies in Michigan that share a model similar to ours, especially given our real estate concentration.

Furthermore, we see competition with the growing urban locations reduced by the barrier to entry. It's difficult to find a large enough urban commercial location that can be zoned for cannabis growth operations. The facility has to be retrofitted to meet higher electrical standards at a huge cost. Environmental controls and other needed infrastructure to support the growth operation are extremely expensive and expected by a leasing client as existent of to be included in tenant improvements (sunken cost). The operating cost to the tenant is much higher, and cannabis operations are penalized with high energy peak rates that diminish profits.

Regulated Use of Medical Cannabis

The regulated medical-use cannabis industry is a rapidly growing industry that we believe presents a unique real estate investment opportunity under present market conditions. In the United States, the development and growth of the industry has generally been driven by state law and regulation, and accordingly, the market varies on a state-by-state basis. State laws that legalize and regulate medical- use cannabis allow patients to consume cannabis for medicinal reasons with a doctor’s recommendation subject to various requirements and limitations.

- Strong movement towards entire US adoption with anti-marijuana Attorney General Jeff Sessions fired.
- Members of congress are lining up to introduce more bills to further adoption at a federal level
- Many state governments view legalization as a way to create more jobs and strengthen their economies

RISK FACTORS

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. You should not invest any funds in this offering unless you can afford to lose your entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky:

Crowdfunding for early stage companies is relatively new. Crowdfunding (defined as online offerings of the securities of early stage companies to retail investors) is a relatively new industry that has only started to develop with the SEC's adoption of Regulation A+ in June 2015 and Regulation Crowdfunding on May 16, 2016. Early stage companies may be slow to adopt crowdfunding as a method of capital formation, which would mean fewer deals for investors to choose from and less research for us to prepare. Alternatively, investors may be slow to adopt crowdfunding as a viable investment substitute, which would mean fewer early stage companies raising money and a smaller potential customer base. As a result, a risk exists that we acquire fewer customers or acquire customers at a slower pace than we anticipate.

This is a brand-new company. We were formed in 2016, have only recently launched our website, and have no revenues. If you are investing in this company, it's because you believe in the idea and the market opportunity, the quality of the team, and the direction of the business to date.

It is difficult for us to accurately predict our earnings potential. Because of our short operating history, it is more difficult to accurately assess growth rate and earnings potential. It is possible that our company will face many difficulties typical for early stage companies.

We are selling convertible notes. The convertible notes will convert into equity securities in the event that the company: 1) sells preferred stock to outside investors where we raise at least $1 million; 2) we sell all the company's assets, merge with another company, or are taken over by another company; or 3) upon the maturity of the notes. This means that investors will have to wait until a conversion event occurs to know what size stake they have in the company, or what its value might be as assessed by outside investors. An outside investor may value the company at an amount below the $3 million valuation cap in the convertible note. The valuation cap is not an indication of the company's current value.

As a new company we have a limited operating history. The Company was organized on February 15, 2019. We have a limited operating history upon which you may evaluate our business and prospects. We are in the early stages of our business and have not yet commenced full-scale operations. Accordingly, we are in the initial revenue phase, and our activities to date have involved research and development, business planning, market testing and efforts to raise startup capital. Our business and prospects must be considered in light of the risk, expense and difficulties frequently encountered by pre-revenue companies in early stages of development, particularly companies in highly competitive and evolving markets. If we are unable to effectively allocate our resources, manufacture our products, generate sales, or obtain and grow our customer base, our business operating results and financial condition would be adversely affected and we may be unable to execute our business plan, and our business could fail. Investors could therefore be at risk of losing their investment.

We expect our expenses to grow as the Company grows. Our expenses will increase as we build infrastructure to implement our business plan. For example, we may hire additional employees, expand our product offerings, and lease more space for our corporate offices. This poses a risk to the financial forecasts and current financial model of the Company.

The Company may require additional financing to support working capital needs. The Company may need to explore additional financing transactions that management determines are in the best interest of the Company, including, without limitation, commercial debt transactions, private offerings of debt or equity securities, a right offering, and other strategic alternatives. Such additional financing may not be available to the Company, or, if available, the Company may be unable to undertake such additional financing on terms that are advantageous to the Company. If the Company fails to raise additional capital in such an offering, or through other fund-raising efforts, such a failure could have a material adverse effect on the Company, and investors in this Offering could be at greater risk of losing their investments due to the inability of the business to proceed with enough working capital to effectively run the Company.

If the Company incurs commercial debt, there may be risks associated with such borrowing. If the Company incurs commercial indebtedness, a portion of its cash flow will have to be dedicated to the payment of principal and interest on such indebtedness. Typical loan agreements also might contain restrictive covenants, which may impair the Company's operating flexibility. Such loan agreements would also provide for default under certain circumstances, such as failure to meet certain financial covenants. A default under a loan agreement could result in the loan becoming immediately due and payable and, if unpaid, a judgment in favor of such lender which would be senior to the rights of shareholders of the Company. A judgment creditor would have the right to foreclose on any of the Company's assets resulting in a material adverse effect on the Company's business, operating results or financial condition.

Management has broad discretion as to the use of proceeds. The net proceeds from this Offering will be used for the purposes described under "USE OF PROCEEDS." The Company reserves the right to use the funds obtained from this Offering and the Debt Offering for other similar purposes not presently contemplated, which it deems to be in the best interests of the Company in order to address changed circumstances or opportunities. This poses a risk to an investor should they be relying on current use of proceed forecasts for the investment as business conditions may require a change of the use of these funds.

Management has voting control of the Company. Management of the Company presently holds a majority of the issued and outstanding voting common stock in the Company. Due to their stock ownership and positions with the Company, the current officers will be in a position to continue to control the affairs and management of the Company after the Offering. Investors must rely entirely on our management to govern the affairs of the Company.

Additional unforeseen risks. In addition to the risks described in this section, “RISK FACTORS,” and elsewhere in this Memorandum, other risks not presently foreseeable could negatively impact our business, could disrupt our operations and could cause the Company to fail. Ultimately, each investor in the Shares bears the risk of a complete and total loss of his/her/its investment.

THE BOTTOM LINE:

Investment in the securities of smaller companies can involve greater risk than is generally associated with investment in larger, more established companies. All investments can result in significant or total loss of your loan and/or investment. We cannot guarantee success, return on investment, or repayment of loans.

Please only invest what you can afford to lose.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

The right to demand current distributions from an operating business is limited. A majority owner, if she is committed to avoiding any distributions to a minority owner, can usually avoid making any distributions of profits. By establishing generous reserves for future expenses, paying a salary to herself or her relatives at the high range of what is reasonable, pre-paying expenses, investing in new business or new equipment, leasing expensive cars, etc., a majority owner can spend enough that there are rarely any profits to be distributed. So long as the expenses are not grossly unreasonable, the investor, probably, won't be able to force the company to allow you to share in any of the current income of the company.

No right to participate in any management decisions of the company. The majority owner may make a decision that the investor think is bad and puts your interest in the company at risk. The investor may see the majority owner running the company into the ground. The investor can try to convince him that it is the wrong decision, but he doesn't have to take your calls.

The investor has limited rights, if any, to have your interest bought out. You may want to cash out your interest and do other things with the money. State law may give you the right to force the company to buy you out, but these rights are limited.

While the investor would be entitled to a share of any profits on sale of the entire business, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions including:

- Additional issuances of securities:

Following the investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interest to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the investor in the Company. The Investor might have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional capital needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and the objectives of the Company.

- Issuer repurchases of securities:

The company may have the authority to repurchase its securities from shareholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

- A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer:

As a minority owner of the Company, the Investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for shareholders.

- Transactions with related parties:

The Investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management

The Board of Directors
 Flowerbee Group, Inc.

I have reviewed the accompanying financial statements of Flowerbee Group, Inc. (the Company), which comprises the balance sheet as of September 30, 2019, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the nine months then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements. A review includes primarily applying analytical procedures to management’s financial data and making inquiries of company management. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements as a whole. Accordingly, I do not express such an opinion.

Management’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement whether due to fraud or error.

Accountant’s Responsibility

My responsibility is to conduct the review engagements in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services promulgated by the Accounting and Review Services Committee of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Those standards require me to perform procedures to obtain limited assurance as a basis for reporting whether I am aware of any material modifications that should be made to the financial statements for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. I believe that the results of my procedures provide a reasonable basis for our report.

Accountant’s Conclusion

Based on my reviews, I am not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
