

KNOW YOUR REYETS

We help people
protect their rights
and build safer communities.

STORY

Over 25 years ago as a 17-year-old college freshman, I was arrested. A student I had never met and did not know accused me of assault. I assumed the justice system would protect my innocence if I fully complied with the officer.

Unaware of my rights, I was wrong.

“IF YOU DON'T KNOW YOUR RIGHTS, IT'S LIKE YOU DON'T HAVE ANY”

- Wa'il Ashshowwaf, CEO + Cofounder, Reyets

PROBLEM

Every 7 hours an American is killed by a police officer.

People don't know
their rights

37% of people
could not name a single first amendment right

Reporting misconduct is difficult

18,000 police departments each with its own unique process of reporting police misconduct.

Access to more
data is needed

95% of people do not
report police misconduct

SOLUTION

An interconnected network of Community Led Policing programs across the country.

COMMUNITY LED POLICING

WHAT

1

Community Led Policing is an organizational strategy that allows the community to solve problems through:

Witnessing
Data Collection
Reform Efforts

HOW

2

Witnessing

Community oversight is fundamental to the legitimacy of local law enforcement.

3

Data Collection

Due to non-existent data collection practices, communities have begun to collect and share their own data.

4

Reform Efforts

Data about law enforcement activity is an essential tool in reforming policing practices.

WHY

5

In Durham, NC, a coalition used data that proved police searched black male motorists at more than twice the rate of white males.

As a result Durham began to require that officers make individuals aware of their right to refuse a search and obtain written consent.

6

A group in Baltimore came together to engage in community data compiling.

They uncovered that every 14 days in Maryland, someone is killed by law enforcement.

Using the data they compiled on officer-involved deaths they successfully pushed for a host of police reforms at the local, county, and state levels.
