About

Eduardo founded VIGIX Inc. a company that created breakthrough software and hardware for automated retail. VIGIX was acquired by Zoom Systems in June 2013, the world leader in the industry. As founder and CEO of VIGIX, Eduardo formed critical joint ventures with IDEO and Flextronics, raised $5M of seed and venture capital, and directed the development of the technology and business infrastructure. Eduardo also headed the acquisition process. VIGIX customers include Motorola, Sony, IBM, Coinstar, Richline, Procter & Gamble, Swatch, Rite-Aid, and Estee Lauder. Eduardo was issued US patent 8,235,247 B2 and Japanese patent 5306812 for the VIGIX revolutionary no-moving-parts dispensing system.

Eduardo is an MIT Sloan graduate who has conducted product development research with the MIT media lab and IDEO. Eduardo is Co-author of MIT best-seller "Design-Inspired Innovation" published in Dec 2006 by World Scientific (Translated into Japanese and Chinese).

At Altura International, Inc. now shop.com (funded by Bill Gates, Yahoo, and Amazon), he was director of business development for Spain and Latin America, and manager in the US. At Connection Engine, Inc. Mr. Alvarez was a co-founder and VP of business development and marketing. Mr. Alvarez was also project director of AT Group where he had P&L responsibility of projects worth $80MM.

Eduardo holds a Masters in Management of Technology from MIT's Sloan School of Management where he published his thesis on "Managing Creativity for Effective Innovation". He also holds a BS in both Electrical and Mechanical Engineering from Monterrey Tech. He has lectured on customer-focused entrepreneurship at MIT, Babson University, Bentley University, Monterrey Tech, and Mexico State University. He won the first prize at the International Entrepreneurial Expo of Monterrey Tech. Eduardo was the Family Chair of the MIT Club of Boston and is a member of the board of directors of Monterrey Tech.

Ross Elkin
VP, Sales & Marketing at Humming Hemp
July 7, 2013, Eduardo managed Ross directly

I recruited Ross to join my company 4 years ago. I expected his marketing skills, but what he brought to Vigix was much more. He proved to be an astute general manager, taking the lead on planning, business development, sales, and participating fully in finance, operations, and investor and board relations.... See more
