Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2021

1. Business and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Description of Business and Basis of Presentation

Doodeo, Inc., (the Company), was formed in October 2018 in the State of Delaware. The financial statements of Doodeo, Inc., (which may be referred to as the "Company", "we," "us," or "our") are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP").

Doodeo is a platform where entertainers can collaborate, promote and find gigs. The Company's AI discovers all gigs posted on platforms globally and automatically posts them on Doodeo. Their central platform combines real-time search, networking and collaboration tools, making it a necessity for entertainers, artist seekers and for fans.

Doodeo connects artists and industry professionals for engagement, collaboration or simply to find and recommend short-term and long-term gigs. Users can search for entertainers, businesses, and industry professionals using filters based on location, instrument, genre, and skill.

Risks and Uncertainties

The Company's business and operations are sensitive to general business and economic conditions in the U.S. A host of factors beyond the Company's control could cause fluctuations in these conditions. Adverse conditions may include: public health epidemics or outbreaks, recession, downturn or otherwise, government policies. These adverse conditions could affect the Company's financial condition and the results of its operations.

There are no assurances that management will be able to raise capital on terms acceptable to the Company. If we are unable to obtain sufficient amounts of additional capital, we may be required to reduce the scope of our planned development, which could harm our business, financial condition, and operating results. The balance sheet does not include any adjustments that might result from these uncertainties.

Going Concern and Management's Plans

The financial statements were prepared on a going concern basis. The going concern basis assumes that the Company will continue in operation for the foreseeable future and will be able to realize its assets and discharge its liabilities and commitments in the normal course of business.

Doodeo, Inc.
December 31, 2021

Covid-19 epidemic has hit hard Company's revenues. The Company strongly believes in their business model, they have tight handle on their expenses and once the economy goes back to normal, revenue is forecasted to increase.

During the years ended December 31, 2021 and 2020, the Company had net losses of approximately $229,064 and $11,698, respectively, due to developing and launching new products as well as expanding its line into major retailers. The Company continues to grow its customer base, develop its sales force and enhance its marketing capabilities, with additional funding required to support operations. Weather and when the Company can attain profitability and consistently achieve positive cash flows is uncertain and is contingent upon several factors, including ongoing expansion of distribution and improvement of sales margins. These uncertainties may cast doubt upon the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.

The Company has raised and will continue to raise additional capital through equity and or debt offerings in 2022 as determined to be necessary. Additionally, the Company believes it will continue to be supported by its existing shareholders, and potentially by new investors as well.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements is in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and accompanying notes. Actual results could differ from those estimates. It is reasonably possible that changes in estimates will occur in the near term.

Accounting Method

The Company's financial statements are prepared using the accrual method of accounting. In accordance with this method of accounting, revenue is recognized in the period in which it is earned and expenses are recognized in the period in which they are incurred. All revenue and expenses that are applicable to future periods are presented as deferred income or prepaid expenses on the accompanying balance sheets.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

The Company has evaluated Recent Accounting Pronouncements and has determined that all such pronouncements either do not apply or their impact is insignificant to the financial statements.
