RISK FACTORS

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. You should not invest any funds in this offering unless you can afford to lose your entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky:

We depend on outside entertainment talent providers, who may or may not have yet been engaged by us, and who generally will not be officers or employees of the Company. Though we maintain relationships with a broad array of industry veterans, the loss of any independent talent providers, particularly members of the development team, could adversely affect our ability to conduct our operations and realize our projections.

The Company was only recently formed, so has limited operating history that prospective investors can use to evaluate our performance. Though our executives have previously developed other film and television projects, each project is unique and their past performance is not necessarily indicative of future results for different projects. Moreover, the lack of a "track record" in the entertainment industry for the Company itself could pose additional obstacles to our business.

Our financial success is dependent on a number of factors both within and beyond our control. The market appeal and profitability of each of our film projects depends upon the creation of compelling campaigns, the purchase of adequate advertising saturation, the execution of social media campaigns and acceptance by audiences and critics, all of which require skills and none of which can be delivered with certainty. Only a small percentage of film and television projects are ever distributed, and even those projects which are distributed are not always profitable. Any project that we develop, whether alone or in conjunction with the other projects, may not generate sufficient revenues from its distribution and other exploitation to generate a profit or repay development expenses. It is possible we could incur significant development and operating costs with respect to a project without ever reaching a sale and/or distribution agreement for that project.

Our operations substantially depend upon the skill, judgment and expertise of our small management team. In the event of the death, disability, or departure of one of our key personnel, our business could be adversely affected. Our executives will devote such time and effort as they deem necessary for the efficient conduct of our business; however, they may be involved with other entertainment production activities from time to time and may not devote all of their time to the business of the Company.

Risk is inherent in all investing. No guarantee or representation is made that our business will be successful and there is no assurance that we will be able to realize any revenue. All business conducted by the Company risks the loss of capital. As is true of any investment, there is a risk that an investment in the Company will be lost in whole or part.

The film and television industry is complex, dynamic and highly competitive. Negotiating with major motion picture directors and performing talent is a sophisticated process. Obtaining a position for a film project on the theatrical, streaming and/or television network distributor release schedules in a "major territory" is logistically challenging and involves competition with many other projects. Negotiating production-incentive relationships, brand relationships, ancillary rights, international licensing and pre-sales of a film project, qualifying a project for production completion bonds, and "banking" a project's respective licenses and contracts are complex processes that are unpredictable and highly reliant on the expertise and personal relationships of the our key personnel.

Motion picture, streaming and television content development, production and distribution are highly competitive. Our primary market competitors are "major" film studios, numerous independent motion picture, streaming and television production companies, television networks and subscription-based television services, all which will compete with us for the acquisition of literary properties, the services of writers, performing artists, directors, producers and other creative and technical personnel, and production financing. Many of these competitors have significantly greater financial and other resources than the Company. For any of our film projects, it is possible that the unique writing, acting or directing talent necessary for such project may be unavailable or that we may be unable to successfully negotiate for the services of such personnel.

Our success in achieving our objectives depends on the value of other entertainment media that is comparable to our film projects (primarily theatrically-released films, streaming video and home media, and cable and network television) in the U.S. and major international territories. If the value of comparable entertainment media decreases relative to current market values, we may not be profitable. Compounding this risk, in order for one of our film projects to generate income, it must obtain production financing, which is generally secured by production incentive programs, brand relationships, pre-sold ancillary and theatrical licensing agreements and the value of unsold international territories. Decreases in the market value of these items may raise the cost of such financing or even preclude us from obtaining such funding, in which case we may not be profitable.

Other, larger film and television development and production companies are able to partially reduce their risk of incurring operating losses by simultaneously developing numerous projects that span multiple genres, audiences, markets and platforms. We only have the rights to, and currently only intend to develop, six film projects. This concentration makes us more susceptible overall to the risk of loss if a particular project is unsuccessful. In order to be profitable, we believe that we must successfully develop at least two of our six projects.

The development and production of film and television projects can take several years or more. A significant amount of time may elapse between the expenditure of funds by the Company in development of our projects and the receipt of revenue from their distribution. Other investment opportunities may offer greater returns after discounting for time. The likelihood of experiencing other risks described herein could increase the longer it takes to develop our projects.

We may require additional financing, beyond the amounts raised in this offering, to complete development of our film projects. There can be no assurance that such additional financing, if required, will be available to us.

We may seek debt financing to manage our cash flow or accelerate the development of one or more of our projects. If such debt is secured by rights to a film project and we are unable to meet our obligations under the financing arrangements, the secured party may be able to foreclose on its rights to that project or we may be forced to dispose of the project prematurely. These occurrences could force us to record substantial losses.

We intend to sell our developed projects to production companies, which depends upon our ability to obtain the financing necessary for the production companies to purchase our developed projects. Moreover, our share of future income from the exploitation of each of our projects may vary substantially from our projections. While we believe such estimates and projections are reasonable, no assurance can be given that we will succeed in obtaining the projected results, and there is no guarantee that, even if produced, a film project will ultimately generate any net profits.

The commercial success of a film project depends on obtaining a distribution agreement with a distributor for that project. Distributors considering such an arrangement will conduct their own internal "greenlight" study of the project, and there is no guarantee distributors will concur with the our own determinations regarding estimates, projections, outlook, etc. for our projects.

The commercial success of any film project depends on the relative quality and market acceptance of other competing media content released at or near the same time, the availability of alternative forms of entertainment and leisure activities, general economic conditions at the time and other tangible and intangible factors, all of which are subject to change and generally cannot be predicted in advance.

We may incur major losses in the event of certain macroeconomic or other extraordinary events, which may affect markets and consumer behavior in ways that are unexpected, unprecedented or inconsistent with historical trends or results.

Neither this offering nor the units being offered have been registered under the securities laws of the United States or the laws of any state or foreign jurisdiction, and no government agency or regulator has recommended or approved any investment in the units.

All management authority of the Company is vested in our officers, who are appointed by our management directors and act in accordance with their strategic guidance and decision-making. Both before and after the conclusion of this offering, the sole holder of our units is One Door Studios, LLC, the managers of which are also the officers and directors of the Company.

We have indemnified our officers and directors, to the fullest extent permitted by law, from liability for actions (and omissions) taken (or not taken) in good faith and reasonably believed to be in the best interest of the Company. Thus, investors may have a more limited right of action than they would have had in the absence of such indemnification agreements and, if successful, damages may ultimately be paid by the Company itself.

With limited exceptions, an investor may not sell, transfer, assign, pledge or otherwise dispose of or encumber any of the units purchased in this offering, or any right or interest therein, whether voluntarily or by operation of law or by gift or otherwise, without the consent of the Company. The units sold in this offering are subject to a minimum one-year holding period under federal securities law. The units are also subject to a "right of first refusal" in favor of the Company, which could have the effect of suppressing their market price. There is no secondary market for the units sold in this offering, and none is expected to develop. Thus, investors will not be able to liquidate their investment in the event of an emergency or for any other reason or rely on their units as collateral for a loan and must be prepared to bear the risk of their investment for an indefinite period of time.

The investment agreement that investors must sign to purchase units in this offering requires that disputes be submitted to binding arbitration and that investors waive their rights to a jury trial and to participate in a class action. These provisions could result in less favorable outcomes to a plaintiff-investor involved any such action.

Though the global pandemic of COVID 19 continues to present the film industry with serious and tangible challenges, IT SHOULD HAVE LITTLE OR NO ADVERSE AFFECT ON CALCULATED'S DEVELOPMENT. It is possible that another outbreak could slow or stop the production of CALCULATED for unknown periods of time. This may adversely affect the producing team's ability to complete the production. Likewise, a theatrical release may not be possible given the potential global shut down of theaters were there another outbreak.

Our future success depends on the efforts of a small management team. The loss of services of the members of the management team may have an adverse effect on the company. There can be no assurance that we will be successful in attracting and retaining other personnel we require to successfully grow our business.

INSTRUCTION TO QUESTION 8: Avoid generalised statements and include only those factors that are unique to the issuer. Discussion should be tailored to the issuer's business and the offering and should not repeat the factors addressed in the legends set forth above. No specific number of risk factors is required to be identified.

INSTRUCTION TO QUESTION 10. An issuer must provide a reasonably detailed description of any intended use of proceeds, such that investors are provided with an adequate amount of information to understand how the offering proceeds will be used. If an issuer has identified a range of possible uses, the issuer should identify and describe each probable use and the factors the issuer may consider in allocating proceeds among the potential uses. If the issuer will accept proceeds in excess of the target offering amount, the issuer must describe the purpose, method for allocating oversubscriptions, and intended use of the excess proceeds with similar specificity. Please include all potential uses of the proceeds of the offering, including any that may apply only in the case of oversubscriptions. If you do not do so, you may later be required to amend your Form C. Wefunder is not responsible for any failure by you to describe a potential use of offering proceeds.

DELIVERY & CANCELLATIONS

11. How will the issuer complete the transaction and deliver securities to the investors?

If we reach our target offering amount prior to the deadline, we may conduct an initial closing of the offering early if we provide notice about the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to the new offering deadline (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment). Wefunder will notify investors if we conduct an initial closing. Thereafter, we may conduct additional closings from time to time at our and Wefunder's discretion until the deadline date.

The following describes the process to invest in the Company, including how the Company will complete an Investor's transaction and deliver securities to the investor.

1. Investor Commitment. The Investor will submit, through Wefunder Portal, a requested investment amount. When doing so, the investor will also execute an investment contract with the Company ("Investment Agreement"), using the investor's electronic signature.
2. Acceptance of the Investment. If the Investor Agreement is complete, the investor's commitment will typically be recorded within a few minutes. The commitment will also be available on the investor's "My Investments" screen on the wefunder.com website. After the offering closes, the contract will be counter-signed by the Company. The executed investment contract will then be sent to the investor via email, and is also available to download on the "My Investments" screen.
3. Investor Transfer of Funds. Upon receiving confirmation that an investment has been accepted, the investor will be responsible for transferring funds from a source that is accepted by Wefunder Portal into an escrow account held with a third party bank on behalf of issuers offering securities through Wefunder Portal.
4. Progress of the Offering. The investor will receive periodic email updates on the progress of the offering, including total amounts raised at any given time, and will be notified by email and through the "My Investments" screen when the target offering amount is met.
5. Closings. Original Deadline. Unless we meet the target offering amount early, investor funds will be transferred from the escrow account to the Company on the deadline date identified in the Cover Page to this Form C and the Company's Wefunder Portal Profile.
6. Early Closings. If the target offering amount is met prior to the original deadline date, we may close the offering earlier, but no less than 21 days after the date on which information about the Company, including this Form C, is posted on our Wefunder Portal Profile. We will reschedule the offering deadline, and at least five days prior to the new deadline, investors will receive notice of it by email and through the "My Investments" screen. At the time of the new deadline, your funds will be transferred to the Company from the escrow account, provided that the target offering amount is still met after any cancellations.
7. Book Entry. Investments may be in book entry form. This means that the investor may not receive a certificate representing his or her investment. Each investment will be recorded in our books and records and will be recorded in each investor's "My Investments" screen. The investor will also be emailed the Investment Agreement again. The Investment Agreement will also be available on the "My Investments" screen. At the option of the Company, you may receive an electronic certificate.

12. How can an investor cancel an investment commitment?

NOTE: Investors may cancel an investment commitment until 48 hours prior to the deadline identified in these offering materials.

The intermediary will notify investors when the target offering amount has been met. If the issuer reaches the target offering amount prior to the deadline identified in the offering materials, it may close the offering early if it provides notice about the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to such new offering deadline (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment).

If an investor does not cancel an investment commitment before the 48-hour period prior to the offering deadline, the funds will be released to the issuer upon closing of the offering and the investor will receive securities in exchange for his or her investment.

If an investor does not reconfirm his or her investment commitment after a material change is made to the offering, the investor's investment commitment will be cancelled and the committed funds will be returned.

An Investor's right to cancel. An investor may cancel his or her investment commitment at any time until 48 hours prior to the offering deadline.

If there is a material change to the terms of the offering or the information provided to the investor about the offering and/or the Company, the investor will be provided notice of the change and must re-confirm his or her investment commitment within five business days of receipt of the notice. If the investor does not reconfirm, he or she will receive notifications disclosing that the commitment was cancelled, the reason for the cancellation, and the refund amount that the investor is required to receive. If a material change occurs within five business days of the maximum number of days the offering is to remain open, the offering will be extended to allow for a period of five business days for the investor to reconfirm.

If the investor cancels his or her investment commitment during the period when cancellation is permissible, or does not reconfirm a commitment in the case of a material change to the investment, or the offering does not close, all of the investor's funds will be returned within five business days.

Within five business days of cancellation of an offering by the Company, the Company will give each investor notification of the cancellation, disclose the reason for the cancellation, identify the refund amount the investor will receive, and refund the investor's funds.

The Company's right to cancel. The Investment Agreement you will execute with us provides the Company the right to cancel for any reason before the offering deadline.

If the sum of the investment commitments from all investors does not equal or exceed the target offering amount at the time of the offering deadline, no securities will be sold in the offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned.

In addition, we may cap at 450 the total number of investors who will be allowed to invest through the offering that are not "accredited investors," as defined in Rule 501(a) of Regulation D under the Securities Act of 1933. In the event that more than 450 non-accredited investors are initially accepted into an offering in step (2) described in Question 11, the Company may cancel investments based on the order in which payments by investors were received, or other criteria at the discretion of the Company, before the offering deadline.

- c. Then, deferrals, if any, that are subsequently approved by the Company shall be paid;
- d. - e. Thereafter, One Hundred percent (100%) of the remaining Revenue shall be distributed as follows:
 - i. Fifty percent (50%) of 100% shall be the Development Investor's Pool and be paid out to all development investors (including the Investor) on a pro rata, pari passu basis determined by the amount of each investor's capital contribution to the total development fund for of the Picture (it being understood that each investor shall be entitled to the same net profit participation definition, accounting and disbursements);
 - ii. Simultaneously, as per established industry standards, Fifty percent (50%) shall be paid out to the Company, it being understood that any non-investor third party net profit payments ("off the tops", such as for lead cast) shall be paid off the top prior to be split with the development fund investors (50% of 100%);
- f. Any development fund losses of the Company shall be allocated 100% to all development investors on a pro rata basis based on his/her/its capital contribution, though under no circumstances will the investors be liable for any amount in excess of his/her capital contribution. That notwithstanding, it is anticipated that the bonded budget will include full repayment of the investment plus the Preferred Return.

4. to a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the purchaser or other similar circumstances.

NOTE: The term "accredited investor" means any person who comes within any of the categories set forth in Rule 501(a) of Regulation D, or who the seller reasonably believes comes within any of such categories, at the time of the sale of the securities to that person.

The term "member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent" includes a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law of the purchaser, and includes adoptive relationships. The term "spousal equivalent" means a cohabitant occupying a relationship generally equivalent to that of a spouse.

DESCRIPTION OF ISSUER'S SECURITIES

17. What other securities or classes of securities of the issuer are outstanding? Describe the material terms of any other outstanding securities or classes of securities of the issuer.

Class of Security	Securities (or Amount) Authorized	Securities (or Amount) Outstanding	Voting Rights
Common Units	20,000	20,000	Yes <input type="button" value="v"/>

Securities Reserved for Issuance upon Exercise or Conversion

Warrants:

Options:

Describe any other rights:

None

18. How may the rights of the securities being offered be materially limited, diluted or qualified by the rights of any other class of security identified above?

Because the Investor holds no voting rights in the company, the holders of a majority-in-interest of voting rights in the Company could limit the Investor's rights in a material way. For example, those interest holders could vote to change the terms of the agreements governing the Company's operations or cause the Company to engage in additional offerings (including potentially a public offering). These decisions could affect gross revenues and diminish payments made to investors.

Based on the risk that the company may never realize revenues or face a Default Event, the Investor may never see any returns.

Additional risks related to the rights of other security holders are discussed below, in Question 20.

19. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer?

There are no shares issued in this offering. This is a Development Investment Agreement. For more information please review the Offering Details Document.

As a holder of a Funding Agreement you will have no voting rights, and limited ability, if at all, to influence out policies or any other corporate matter, including the election of directors, changes to the Company's governance documents, additional issuances of securities, company repurchases of securities, a sale of the Company or of assets of the Company, or transactions with related parties.

20. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 above affect the purchasers of the securities being offered?

As holders of a majority-in-interest of voting rights in the Company, the unitholders may make decisions with which the Investor disagrees, or that negatively affect the value of the investor's securities in the Company, and the Investor will have no recourse to change these decisions. The Investor's interests may conflict with those of other investors, and there is no guarantee that the Company will develop in a way that is optimal for or advantageous to the Investor.

For example, the unitholders may change the terms of the operating agreement for the company, change the terms of securities issued by the Company, change the management of the Company, and even force out minority holders of securities. The unitholders may make changes that affect the tax treatment of the Company in ways that are unfavorable to you but favorable to them. They may also vote to engage in new offerings and/or to register certain of the Company's securities in a way that negatively affects the value of the securities the Investor owns. Other holders of securities of the Company may also have access to more information than the Investor, leaving the Investor at a disadvantage with respect to any decisions regarding the securities he or she owns.

The unitholders have the right to redeem their securities at any time. Unitholders could decide to force the Company to redeem their securities at a time that is not favorable to the Investor and is damaging to the Company. Investors' exit may affect the value of the Company and/or its viability.

In cases where the rights of holders of convertible debt, SAFES, or other outstanding options or warrants are exercised, or if new awards are granted under our equity compensation plans, an Investor's interests in the Company may be diluted. This means that the pro-rata portion of the Company represented by the Investor's securities will decrease, which could also diminish the Investor's voting and/or economic rights. In addition, as discussed above, if a majority-in-interest of holders of securities with voting rights cause the Company to issue additional units, an Investor's interest will typically also be diluted.

21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

The offering price for the securities offered pursuant to this Form C has been determined arbitrarily by the Company, and does not necessarily bear any relationship to the Company's book value, assets, earnings or other generally accepted valuation criteria. In determining the offering price, the Company did not employ investment banking firms or other outside organizations to make an independent appraisal or evaluation. Accordingly, the offering price should not be considered to be indicative of the actual value of the securities offered hereby.

The value of the promissory notes will be determined by the Company's senior management in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. For example, the notes may be valued based on principal plus anticipated interest payments over the course of the term of the note.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

An Investor in the Company will likely hold a minority position in the Company, and thus be limited as to its ability to control or influence the governance and operations of the Company.

The marketability and value of the Investor's interest in the Company will depend upon many factors outside the control of the Investor. The Company will be managed by its officers and be governed in accordance with the strategic direction and decision-making of its Management, and the Investor will have no independent right to name or remove an officer or member of the Management of the Company.

Following the Investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the Investor in the Company. The Investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured.

The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the Investor's interest in the Company.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions, including additional issuances of securities, issuer repurchases of securities, a sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer or transactions with related parties?

Additional issuances of securities. Following the Investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the Investor in the Company. The Investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the Investor's interest in the Company.

Issuer repurchases of securities. The Company may have authority to repurchase its securities from unitholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the Investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer. As a minority owner of the Company, the Investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the Investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for unitholders. Accordingly, the success of the Investor's investment in the Company will depend in large part upon the skill and expertise of the executive management of the Company. If the Management of the Company authorizes a sale of all or a part of the Company, or a disposition of a substantial portion of the Company's assets, there can be no guarantee that the value received by the Investor, together with the fair market estimate of the value remaining in the Company, will be equal to or exceed the value of the Investor's initial investment in the Company.

Transactions with related parties. The Investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its unitholders. By acquiring an interest in the Company, the Investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

None

INSTRUCTION TO QUESTION 24: name the creditor, amount owed, interest rate, maturity date, and any other material terms.

25. What other exempt offerings has the issuer conducted within the past three years?

Offering Date	Exemption	Security Type	Amount Sold	Use of Proceeds
No exempt offerings.

26. Was or is the issuer or any entities controlled by or under common control with the issuer a party to any transaction since the beginning of the issuer's last fiscal year, or any currently proposed transaction, where the amount involved exceeds five percent of the aggregate amount of capital raised by the issuer in reliance on Section 4(a)(5) of the Securities Act during the preceding 12-month period, including the amount the issuer seeks to raise in the current offering, in which any of the following persons had or is to have a direct or indirect material interest:

- any director or officer of the issuer;
 - any person who is, as of the most recent practicable date, the beneficial owner of 20 percent or more of the issuer's outstanding voting equity securities, calculated on the basis of voting power;
 - if the issuer was incorporated or organized within the past three years, any promoter of the issuer;
 - or (4) any immediate family member of any of the foregoing persons.
- Yes
 No

INSTRUCTIONS TO QUESTION 26: The term transaction includes, but is not limited to, any financial transaction, arrangement or relationship (including any indebtedness or guarantee of indebtedness) or any series of similar transactions, arrangements or relationships.

Beneficial ownership for purposes of paragraph (4) shall be determined as of a date that is no more than 120 days prior to the date of filing of this offering statement and using the same calculation described in Question 6 of this Question and Answer format.

The term "member of the family" includes any child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law of the person, and includes adoptive relationships. The term "spousal equivalent" means a cohabitant occupying a relationship generally equivalent to that of a spouse.

Compute the amount of a related party's interest in any transaction without regard to the amount of the profit or loss involved in the transaction. Where it is not practicable to state the approximate amount of the interest, disclose the approximate amount involved in the transaction.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE ISSUER

27. Does the issuer have an operating history?

Yes
 No

28. Describe the financial condition of the issuer, including, to the extent material, liquidity.

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Calculated Development LLC (below "CDL") is OneDoor Studios LLC's (below "IDS") just formed, wholly owned single purpose entity. As you are considering becoming a profits participant in this new company, we recommend you read the following discussion and analysis about it.

IDS uses the common practice among producers of motion pictures for studio-level release, to form a single purpose entity ("SPE") company to individually develop each of its motion pictures. By doing this, each project is protected from potential liability from other IDS projects. This also simplifies audits of CDL by its profit participants.

CDL is IDS's shiny new SPE for the CALCULATED motion picture franchise.

Though CDL's development is now directed by IDS experienced creative, business and finance team, and though CDL now owns what appears a highly valuable asset, which the company believes has significant earnings potential, and though CDL has no debt, because it is new it also has no operating or financial history.

CDL's financial statements are included in this offering, yet they have no positive or negative history to inform investment.

Further, some of CDL's information contained in this offering includes information from its greenlight, which is CDL's feasibility study. This information provides some of IDS's team strategy, business plans, use of CDL's invested funds and CALCULATED's projections with forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties.

We invite you to review the "Risk Factors" section for a discussion of important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from the results described in or implied by the forecasts contained in this section and throughout this Offering.

Overview

After providing finance, business, distribution and/or creative services for 25 features and television episodes, with combined production costs of approximately $470 million, and global rights earnings exceeding $4 billion, this team began operating IDS as of 7/18/18. IDS provides creative and business services to production company clients, while also acquiring story assets to develop and produce their own mainstream-audience motion pictures and series for global studios, distributors and streaming networks.

Each project picked up by IDS is driven by a global-audience-worthy story, has break-out earnings potential, and its greenlight demonstrates its ability to return profits from all global sources that could total at least twice its production cost: a minimum 2 to 1 earnings-to-cost ratio.

This Offering is for IDS's premiere motion picture franchise, CALCULATED, that was placed into CDL, its wholly owned, single purpose development entity for full creative, distribution and production finance development.

Why develop and produce CALCULATED first? It is based on an extraordinarily high reader-rated and critic-reviewed Young Adult action-adventure novel series. It features a young woman hero, its global story takes place primarily in Shanghai and America's Pacific Northwest. This book series has the potential to become the next big global Young Adult franchise in the tradition of DIVERGENT and HUNGER GAMES. The first book is currently in critic reader review. It premieres to readers February 11, 2021. The next two books release within nine months of one another, so all three books should be released before CALCULATED'S first motion picture premieres.

IDS's objective is to release projects with the script integrity and consistent audience satisfaction of Pixar, and with the world-class production quality of production companies such as TSG Entertainment, Bad Robot, and Imagine Entertainment.

In 5 years, IDS aims to have released six global blockbuster motion pictures and series that enralls audiences and enriches their investors. IDS aims to empower itself and each of its project's individual companies to mutually support and optimize the performance and negotiating power of one another. These projections cannot be guaranteed.

Meeting or exceeding these objectives is the most beneficial surety of IDS, CDL and its other SPE's successes.

Based entirely on CDL's lack of operating history, one cannot estimate how much revenue CDL will earn in the future, or if it will have any earnings.

Considering IDS's operating team's motion picture greenlighting and forecasting experience and its final forecasts relying on major global distributor estimates, their actual licensing and distribution commitments before each project's production—together these at least render CDL's forecasts worthy reference points.

CDL's deal structure should also be considered in this section, as it substantially sets it apart from other offerings, especially motion picture offerings. Should CDL successfully completing its CALCULATED'S development it will return 10% of each investor's investment from CALCULATED'S production bank financing. Completing CALCULATED'S development is NOT guaranteed. However, it is far more predictable than relying entirely a project's marketplace success.

Given the pandemic's radical changes in the global marketplace, ever speedier advances in technology and increases in media consumption around the globe, all of which defy prediction, the best forecasts should not be relied upon. However, since 2015 each of these phenomena have significantly increased the value and predictable positive future of content made for motion picture and streaming studios.

Milestones

1983 Marked the first motion picture project in which a member of CDL's team developed it to the point of securing its distribution for production funding before the picture was produced.

7/18/18 Eighteen additional motion picture projects later, OneDoor Studios was formed to provide these services for other production companies and chiefly to acquire, develop, produce and globally distribute its own motion picture projects with extraordinarily high audience pleasing and earning potential.

9/4/18 IDS Successfully optioned the motion picture and related media rights of the Calculated book series.

8/15/20 Calculated set its publishing deal with WolfPack Publishing, one of Amazon's most successful book publishers.

11/23/20 IDS formed Calculated Development LLC to fully develop the first motion picture of its franchise and be the partner of each future franchise project.

12/15/20 Calculated Development LLC is slated to launch on WeFunder.

Future projected milestones (not guaranteed)

1/18/21 New SEC crowdfunding rules begin allowing CDL to raise its funding cap to $2 million.

2/11/21 CDL's initial funding round is targeted to be completed.

4/11/21 CALCULATED'S first book premiers on Amazon and bookstores around the world.

11/11/21 CALCULATED'S second book in the series is released.

8/11/22 CALCULATED'S third book in the series is released.

2/23 CALCULATED development is forecasted - to be completed and investors receive 110% to 120% of their investment.

4/24 CALCULATED'S motion picture is projected to be released.

10/24 CDL Investors should receive their first earnings report and their proportional 50% share of all CDL global profits.

Historical Results of Operations

11/23/20 CDL was organized, had no historical earned income or expenses as of the date of its founding. CDL is expecting cash inflow projected for February 2023 from its project's production loan, sufficient to return each of its investor's 110% to 120% of their investment. It is forecasted to begin its earned income in October 2024 with each investor's profits statement and share, to continue long-term thereafter.

11/23/20 CDL'S CALCULATED motion picture and media assets value at its time of organization, at book value, rather than estimated sale value were $62,325.

11/23/20 short-term Liabilities at the time of the financial review were $800.

Liquidity & Capital Resources

11/23/20 The company had no liquidity, no bank account and was fully business housed and directed in every business regard within IDS's care and keeping. Its funds were and will be kept on account at WeFunder until such time as there are sufficient funds raised that both exceed the WeFunder minimum requirement and are sufficient to begin CALCULATED'S development.

Forecasted February 2021: After the conclusion of this Offering, should CDL attain its minimum funding target, it will have its own bank account, receive invested funds into it and operate with its own unique team. CDL plans to use the WeFunder investment proceeds as set forth in this offering's Form C under "Use of Funds".

Forecasted February 2023: CALCULATED'S development is projected to be completed, which includes engaging its bank in providing production funds. If this is accomplished, CDL will receive at least $2.3 million in full recovery of its advanced production expenses and a development fee. From this amount, investors will be paid between 110% and 120% of their investment. (Those who invest in the "Early Bird" window of the first $200,000 raised receive an additional 10% interest, totaling 120%).

When the picture goes into production, CDL's work is mostly concluded with the exception chiefly of some oversight, record keeping, reporting and distributing investor returns. Its overhead is light, well-below its retained operating capital. No additional investment is needed until CALCULATED'S release, which will bring its first income from the motion picture.

Forecasted April 2024: CALCULATED'S motion picture is released, CDL's revenue share from exhibitors, streaming services and other sources will be paid directly to distributors, who in turn will largely pay CDL's global collectors, who will account and then report and remit to CDL.

Forecasted October 2024 CDL Investors should receive their first proportional share of 50% of all CDL global profits and continue to do so thereafter. CDL's profits share should be more than sufficient for CDL to continue operating its very low overhead operation. CDL intends to also receive income and profits to share with its investors from future motion pictures from the CALCULATED franchise.

CDL expects to have no future requirement for additional financing.

Except as otherwise described in this offering's Form C, CDL has no additional sources of investment capital other than the proceeds from this WeFunder offering. Though CDL's management are experienced in motion picture development, especially attaching collateral and using bank financing to secure its needed production funding, because of the complexities and uncertainties in establishing every new business, it is not possible to adequately project whether the proceeds of this offering will be sufficient to enable CDL to fulfill CALCULATED'S development within the time or budget they have planned. Nor indeed whether or not they will complete it at all. This complexity and uncertainty will be increased if less than the maximum amount of investment offered in this offering is raised. Should CDL fail to raise the total amount needed, it will seek the additional amount needed from a further WeFunder raise, or from investors outside of WeFunder, or by co-developing Calculated with another development company. Although investment capital is available for early-stage companies, there is no guarantee that CDL will receive any investments.

As set forward in this Offering's Use of Funds, most (over half) of CDL's invested capital is reserved for attaching CALCULATED'S studio approved director and lead cast. This expenditure comes at the end (typically the final eight weeks) of its projected two-year development cycle. Consequently, if additional funds are needed to be raised, CDL will have most of the two years to raise them.

Runway & Short/Mid Term Expenses

CDL is a clean, new company, seeded with CALCULATED'S powerful asset. Consequently, its cash in hand is $0, as of December 2020. Over the last three months, revenues have averaged $0/month, cost of goods sold has averaged $0/month, and operational expenses have averaged $0/month, for an average burn rate of $0 per month. CDL's only product will be its developed CALCULATED motion picture, which is forecast to be complete within 24 months. At that time, it will have a single cash transaction. It is not expected to have income from earned revenue of consequence until the motion picture is released about 14 months after it begins production. Following its release, CDL expects a regular cash flow as its asset earns from new and renewed global licenses.

CDL was newly formed November 20, 2020 (officially in the state of Utah on November 23, 2020), specifically to develop the CALCULATED motion picture franchise. It is wholly owned by IDS. For this reason, the financials for this new entity show how new it is. CDL has received from IDS the motion picture, streaming and other media rights for the young adult book series CALCULATED. During 2020, IDS began CALCULATED'S pre-development, including preparing for its WeFunder raise for its full $2 million development funding. Even a small portion of these funds will immediately commence its scripting, as well as global distributor, bond, bank and other relationship engagements mandatory to set-up this project's bank-provided production funding. This bank-provided funding is what provides investors' more than investment recovery before production, without which they will not receive it. Then comes CALCULATED'S production, distribution and the company's 50/50 net profits sharing with investors. These are projected activities; they are subject to our best efforts and cannot be guaranteed that they will be fulfilled.

CDL forecasts raising CALCULATED'S full $2 Million development costs through investors on WeFunder. Through most of the two development years an estimate $700,000 will be spent on screenwriters, legal and related expenses. Just prior to CDL's pre-set production bank loan engagement, CALCULATED'S studio-approved director and cast attachment fees will be released, in amounts representing 10% of these talents' full fees. These talent-holding-fees should not exceed $1.3 million.

The company's other income sources are from CALCULATED'S theatrical, streaming and other ancillary income sources.

INSTRUCTIONS TO QUESTION 29: The discussion must cover each year for which financial statements are provided. For issuers with no prior operating history, the discussion should focus on financial milestones and operational, liquidity and other challenges. For issuers with an operating history, the discussion should focus on whether historical results and cash flows are representative of what investors should expect in the future. Take into account the proceeds of the offering and any other known or pending sources of capital. Discuss how the proceeds from the offering will affect liquidity, whether receiving these funds and any other additional funds is necessary to the stability of the business, and how quickly the issuer anticipates using its available cash. Describe the other available sources of capital to the business, such as lines of credit or required contributions by shareholders. References to the issuer in this Question 29 and these instructions refer to the issuer and its predecessors, if any.
