What's the difference between The Commodore Collection and a traditional timeshare?

A timeshare is a property with a divided form of ownership or use rights. Each owner of the same accommodation is allotted a period of time. Although The Commodore Collection is a division of ownership, there is no allotted time or single location for our investors.

 1

 The Commodore Collection @TheCommodoreCo · May 26 ...

The Commodore Collection only asks for a one-time payment as low as $250. A typical timeshare costs an average of $10,000+ with annual recurring costs.

 1

 The Commodore Collection @TheCommodoreCo · May 26 ...

Not only do we have a low minimum investment in comparison to timeshares, investors also receive an annual return on cash flow rather than a maintenance fee invoice.

 1

 The Commodore Collection @TheCommodoreCo · May 26 ...

You can have any time and any place. Unlike a traditional timeshare that limits your location and availability, your one time investment at The Commodore Collection gives you access to any Commodore property and at any time.

 1   2

 The Commodore Collection @TheCommodoreCo · May 26 ...

Timeshare investors are often supplied a complimentary dinner or meal once every trip. At The Commodore Collection, our investors can expect top of the line perks and unique amenities in each property as well as annual hotel credits.
