DELOITTE CONSULTING LLP New York, NY
 Consultant August 2017 - Present

Successfully deliver Deloitte's Human Resource Transformation services to a number of Fortune 500 clients across industries while building a career on analytical problem solving and optimizing customer experience. Core capabilities include talent strategy, client relationship building, project management, experience design, process design, organizational design, account management, and testing. Sample project experience includes:

- Managed the start-up from on-boarding to a global HR and technology transformation project for a medical device company undergoing a $1.5B acquisition. Responsibilities included the design and implementation of global talent acquisition and onboarding workflow processes, coordinating internal "on-boarding" webinars to manage impacts, conducting global onboarding and user acceptance testing, training for client employees, and developing and maintaining trusted relationships with the global and local client counterparts.
- Led a career experience and process design based on a new talent acquisition service delivery model for a $1.5B global medical device company, as well as design a global research and recruitment hub in Manila.
- Conducted onboarding and process testing for the talent acquisition and onboarding function of an $11.4M American retail chain. Prepared and delivered several several multi-day design workshops for 40+ client employees.
- Advised the senior leadership of a client on how to build a new HR and talent operations for a $400 million per year product company. Conducted deep workforce analysis to find 25,000 work savings for client.
- Support Deloitte practice leaders in preparation and delivery of proposals; total revenue generated from successful projects to date exceeds $2M.
