Curious!

I started PersonaFi because I wanted to help more people seek prosperity through investing. After years of speaking to thousands of people about their personal finances, I've concluded that wealth is created through ownership in a company (stock), ownership in real estate, or even your own small business. I've worked with C-level execs and people that made 50k. Lifestyle yes did play a factor but the biggest factor was ownership! Today the news about Peter Thiel had me thinking...Who here would be interested in owning a piece of our community by investing in our company, PersonaFi ??

(Disclosures)

1. This isn't a solicitation at this time but to gauge interest
2. I wouldn't be able to accept an investment offer at this time
3. Anyone's expressed interest isn't an obligation or commitment of any kind.

Hey guys!

I want to give everyone a heads up as a team; we've decided to use the WeFunder Platform to create an account for crowdfunding. Our mission is so that anyone can invest. We felt it was hypocritical if we only sought out investments from the rich; therefore, we will be opening it up to you guys and then to the public. We will be making an early bird offer and posting the link here next week. Anyone that wishes to invest will have the option to invest.

Have a great weekend and a safe, happy fourth!
