Local government will support with any tools available.

Pay it Forward Labs

CEO

January 2011 - March 2014 (3 years 3 months)

Santa Monica, California

Pay it Forward Labs was the origin of Expert DOJO. We started a mentorship group for entrepreneurs everywhere to help predict business pitfalls before they happened and help each other avoid them. The success of Pay it Forward Labs compelled us to create Expert DOJO and keep the pay it forward concept central to our mission.

Your Office Agent

Owner

August 2009 - January 2013 (3 years 6 months)

Los Angeles

Your Office Agent is an innovative Workplace Marketplace helping small, medium and large sized businesses find their ideal workspace. We provide our customers with a total workspace solution whether for home workers, mobile workers or full time office workers. Our solutions range from helping 1 person looking for a start up low cost image to the CEO of thousands of company employees who want to benefit from the efficiencies of new working methods such as hot-desking, desk-sharing, co-working, home-working, part-time office working and fixed leases. To help our customer adapt to an ever changing economy and workforce, we provide workspace options from a day to 5 years.

As your one stop marketplace, we are dedicated to helping you find the best solution both locally and in any of the thousands of locations we have listed anywhere in the world.

The nice thing about our service is that, for a basic property search, there is no cost to the client, however after our relationship starts our real value is reducing costs, saving time and avoiding mistakes. As a local and global advisor, I am there for you whenever you need me. That, as well as our depth of workspace knowledge and our one view property and data approach, makes us truly unique in an industry where there are too many options and too little direction for the end user. Contact me now and let me find the ideal office for you!
