Ravi is one of those people you trust when it comes to manufacturing in China. He's seen factories of all shapes and sizes, worked with a variety of characters, and has had to create synergy between teams of widely different backgrounds. He's encountered and deftly addressed the problems that come from each of these aspects in the realm of outsourced manufacturing. All of this experience is essential ...see more

Working with Ravi has been a real privilege. Ravi's array of different skills has rubbed off on myself and the team. He is extremely professional, organized, and very focused when working on a project or within a team. He has great leadership and communication skills and is the obvious choice when working on a project.
