During the dot.com boom, everyone wanted a website or an E-commerce site and wanted to do business online. Saw it as a good business opportunity and wanted to be part of that growth. Created thousands of websites and E-commerce sites to many businesses in the USA. Enjoyed the dot.com boom thoroughly. Experienced first-hand what a dot.com bust really mean when some of the largest businesses to whom we provided services did not pay and closed shop abruptly. Learned a lot of lessons, including what an unsecured creditor meant. Decided to be careful ever since, and chose to be conservative while taking on potential opportunities.
