theopenseed Mental health issues have cost individuals and companies billions of dollars in medical bills, lost productivity, and wellbeing.

Although approaches exist for employee wellbeing, most workplaces don't offer physical spaces that are conducive for meditation. According to a research report by JLL, a world leader in real estate services, only 17% of workers have access to relaxation spaces.

OUR INVESTORS ARE SAYING:

"Because it is exactly what I need at my office!"

"I meditate and would love to see this in every office"

"I feel aligned to purpose and vision! As an Entrepreneur myself I know how important it is to feel yourself backed up and this business looks promising!"

"Passion for finding the tools to support humanity to look after their well being"
