Why System2?

System2 is on a mission to bring fitness & wellness coaching to a billion people. We're giving the industry's most iconic creators the opportunity to build and scale their online subscription empires.

An $80B market of unrealized potential

Source here; $80B market predicted by 2026.

Today's fitness creators work tirelessly to build thriving online communities. But beyond digital engagement, they lack the tools, time, and specialized expertise necessary to turn their followers into subscription business revenue.

Why? Because building a subscription business is time-consuming, expensive, and exhausting. And that's on top of maintaining an existing digital presence. Then there's scaling post-launch, requiring ever-evolving tools, as well as a team that simply doesn't exist.

Fitness icons have 2B+ followers ready and willing to pay for personalized coaching

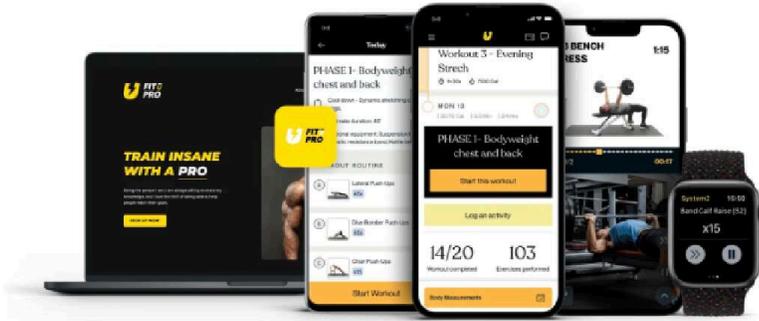

Turning fitness creators into big subscription businesses

Enter System2, the first and only all-in-one subscription business solution for high-potential fitness creators. System2 provides access to EVERY essential business tool—all on a single, intuitive platform.

Now, creators can build and nurture the business of their dreams—all while focusing on sharing their passions with the world.

The future of wellness will be driven by influencers, personalization, and AI. In the online fitness space alone, there are more than 75,000 influencers—some of whom have built $100M+ ARR subscription businesses based on their personal brand.

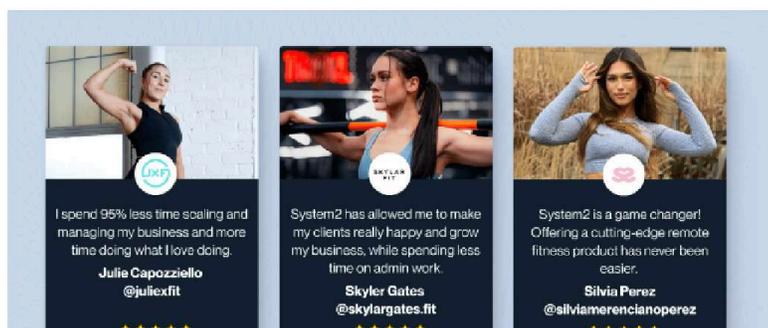

Fitness influencer Kayla Itsines built her fitness subscription business to a $400M exit and Actor Chris Hemsworth built his fitness app to a $200M exit.

System2 will unlock many more superstars in digital fitness, wellness, and beyond.

Creator-driven subscription businesses have deep operational similarities, yet no one else has taken a platform approach to productizing that stack. We are building a foundational company in the exploding creator economy.
