Paul McNamee Enterprises

Consultant

November 2008 - August 2010 (1 year 10 months)

Paul McNamee Enterprises is a niche consulting business, founded by Paul McNamee in 1988 to “house” the Hopman Cup in Perth and manage Paul’s post playing career. After 7 years in Perth, Paul took on the part time Tournament Director and head of Marketing roles at the Australian Open. These soon grew into the CEO position and under his tutelage the tournament grew into Australia’s biggest sporting event and the Grand Slam of Asia/Pacific. In 2001 the Hyundai Hopman Cup was passed onto the ITF – the governing body of the sport of tennis and became officially the “International Mixed Teams Competition of the ITF.” PME retains a position on the board and Paul McNamee is the Tournament Director and face of the tournament.

Operating out of Melbourne, PME is able to assist organizations and athletes in a wide range of areas based on 30 years experience in professional sport and event management. PME specializes in helping to “create a vision” and advising the steps it takes to get there.

Sprout Consulting

Owner

January 2008 - January 2010 (2 years 1 month)

Sprout is a boutique consultancy providing strategic advice and specialist services to small business.

Sprout Consulting has recognised that small business owners know they need to spend more time working on their businesses instead of in them, but they don't know where to start or who can help.

Sprout supports small business by understanding its business. As a first step we work to develop a Going Forward plan which includes a needs analysis. The plan also includes costings and the development of time lines for areas where the business needs additional inputs and support.

Clients are assisted by our experts in areas including website design, database management, communications, computer training, marketing, bookkeeping, human resources, recruitment, copywriting and graphic design.
