PROBLEM/OPPORTUNITY

At about 100,000 in 2022, the impact crowdfunding community of investors is too small by orders of magnitude. Growing to a target of 10 million people annually investing an average of $1,000 each will require the industry to intentionally collaborate on growth of the sector.

VALUE PROPOSITION

By hosting virtual national events and local popup events around the country, TSCI will serve as a catalyst for collaboration, enabling the industry to achieve growth that would not otherwise be realized.

COLLABORATION

The crowdfunding for TSCI will provide industry players an opportunity to align their interests collectively through shared profits and ownership.

Collaboration is a founding principle of TSCI. Organizing successful events

Collaboration is a founding principle of TSCI. Organizing successful events requires that many people and organizations come together with a shared goal of fostering the growth of impact crowdfunding for community capital.

Devin Thorpe founded TSCI specifically to deepen collaboration by creating affordable ownership opportunities for partnering organizations and individuals. By allowing strategic partners to purchase ownership in TSCI, the interests of the host and participating event sponsors, co-hosts, speakers and attendees will be further aligned.
