

The Lead of My Movie is on the Today Show!

Hey all!

You've all heard me talk about the movie by now. Well, I got some fun news. Our lead, Darron Cardoso, will be on the Today Show tomorrow! (Wednesday @ 8:12.) I'm so happy for him and so proud of him!

Please check it out and help him get even more famous b/c that'll be awesome for everyone and everything --
INCLUDING MY MOVIE!

BTW our campaign is still live! Check it out if you haven't yet. We're doing well. <https://wefunder.com/shift.drinks.movie>

LEGAL DISCLOSURE: We are 'testing the waters' to gauge investor interest in an offering under Regulation Crowdfunding. No money or other consideration is being solicited. If sent, it will not be accepted. No offer to buy securities will be accepted. No part of the purchase price will be received until a Form C is filed and only through Wefunder's platform. Any indication of interest involves no obligation or commitment of any kind.

Shift Drinks Movie Fundraising Update

2 messages

Guys! I'm sure a lot of you are thinking "Ken's never gonna make this movie!" But you're wrong!

The last time I reached out, we'd raised a good bit of money from our tip jar campaign. Since then, I've been getting my ~~dicks~~ ducks in a row.

We tinkered around with normal crowdsourcing sites like Seed and Spark. But I decided to go in a different direction. We're crowd-INVESTING. Have you heard of it? It's through a site called WeFunder. Think of it like Kickstarter for investing.

I'm pretty damn excited about this. We've been telling our fans all along that this is a movie "For the service Industry and by the service industry" which felt like hyperbole, but now it feels fucking true. Servers will invest and OWN part of the film.

Check out the preview link here.

I can't get into the goals, you'll have to view them on the site. But know that with the size of our fanbase, and since the minimum investment is tiny, I'm super confident that we can fund this film!

Please help me make this a success! Help me share the shit out of it! Maybe you even have a rich Uncle Scrooge or know someone who drives a Tesla?

(But also b/c of SEC stuff, we have to share it in a certain way which I'll explain at the bottom.)

The campaign goes live Tuesday around 2pm, so we're hoping to get off to a good start. Maybe you can set aside a few minutes that day to do some posting for us?

Also, if any of you are thinking of investing yourselves, we'll definitely take you up on it! Why not? You probably drive a Tesla yourself. Or at least a mono-colored car.

Thanks, y'all. Get excited!

-Daddy Ken

P.S. It's hugely important to get off to a good start. I hope to make a big dent, early! I've dedicated most of next week to answering any questions and explaining the process! Please feel free to forward any questions to me.

P.P.S. Sharing Instructions

Every post has to include TWO THINGS:

- 1) The link to our campaign: I'll send it when it's Live
- 2) This LEGAL CAVEAT:

We are 'testing the waters' to gauge investor interest in an offering under Regulation Crowdfunding. No money or other consideration is being solicited. If sent, it will not be accepted. No offer to buy securities will be accepted. No part of the purchase price will be received until a Form C is filed and only through Wefunder's platform. Any indication of interest involves no obligation or commitment of any kind.

Note: We have to be very careful about what we say when we share. You may wanna just reshare what gets posted through BW and SD to be safe. But if you'd like to add a little of your own flare, I'm pasting the following copy from WeFunder FAQ, so try to stay within these rules:

Your best option is “non-terms” communications.

These are “soft” ads or communications that don't include any terms of your offering. The gist should be “We're crowdfunding! Get the deets and invest via Wefunder,” and then the link to your pitch. By law, all of your advertisements must include the link to your Wefunder pitch.

Feel free to also mention your company's mission, the founding story, etc. You can also include any concrete metrics of your past success and growth.

The 2 things to avoid here are hyperbole and misleading statements (“The BEST donuts in the world!”) and any offering terms.

What do we mean by offering terms? These should not appear in “non-terms” communications:

1. The number of securities you're offering;
2. The type or nature of the securities (i.e., debt or equity, common or preferred, etc.);
3. The price of the securities; and
4. The closing date of the offering period.
5. Your planned use of the funds
6. Your progress towards meeting your funding target

INVEST IN SHIFT DRINKS COMEDY

A Big Fun Slasher Comedy for the Service Industry (built-in audience of 5M)

Kenny's finally making a feature film!

Hey guys,

If you're receiving this, then we're family. You know I've spent the last decade-plus in Atlanta chasing my dreams by creating short comedy films and going viral. I've developed a large fanbase and built some cache among the Atlanta film community. Now it's time to put those chips on the table and chase the real dream: a feature-length movie.

The cliché is that artsy-types use crowdfunding to beg their families for donations. This isn't that. (Well, kinda.) We're crowd-INVESTING through a site called WeFunder, which is like Kickstarter for investments. So I'm not asking people to donate, I'm asking people to invest.

I won't call this some "great business opportunity," it's not a SpongeBob NFT. Films are often risky. But here's how I see it: if you invest, you get to help out family, stay on my mom's good side, and IF the film turns a profit, you'd see a profit too. I think that's pretty cool.

For SEC reasons, I can't get into specifics about the raise, but you can see it all HERE in the campaign.

I'm really excited about this project! With the size of our fanbase, and since the minimum investment is only $100, we're confident we can fund this film! I know the fans are excited and flattered to have a financial stake in the project.

If you'd like to invest a little today just to shut me up, I'd be truly grateful. However, you may want to sit back and watch the progress, because if it does as well as I expect, you may decide to put in a little more.

Thanks so much for your time, guys!

I'm so excited! I launched a campaign for my movie that lets the fanbase invest instead of "donate." It's doing so well which makes me cry because you believe in me! But also, if the movie makes a profit, we all get to share it!

I'd love it if everything we did in life, we did it together like this! As servers, we know no one else is gonna do it for us!! (Link in the comments!)

A Film Owned By The Atlanta Comedy Community

Hey Sketchworks FAM,

I'm emailing this to y'all because Ken MacLaughlin (a Sketchworks writer) is making a movie!

We've all received crowdsourcing requests, and we've all been happy to support our friends when we can. But in this case, we've decided to approach things differently. We are crowd-INVESTING. We're using a site called WeFunder. Think of it like Kickstarter for investing.

Ken and I would LOVE your support in whichever way you can give it to this project that was written and is going to be made in GA.

You can support with very small investments and actually get to own some of the film. And if this is one of those rare films that actually turns a profit, you'd see a profit too!

I think it'd be cool to see a comedy film owned largely by the Atlanta comedy community.

Please check out CAMPAIGN here! We're really proud of it and the prospect for us to succeed!

The campaign went live today at 2pm. We're telling you first because it's always important to get off to a good start. So if you're thinking of investing, sooner is better and makes us look so much cooler!

Please note: you wouldn't be giving any money at this time, just an indication of how much you WOULD invest once we reach our minimum to be approved for a public raise (it's explained better in the FAQ on the site and legal disclaimer below.)

Please feel free to email Ken questions (kennymaq@gmail.com). He's keeping the next few days open to answer any questions or help anybody through the process.

Thank you so much!

The movie I'm making was talked about on The TODAY Show!! (Barely, and we snuck it in, but it still counts!) For my entire life, ZERO seconds of The TODAY had been spent discussing a movie I'm making. But today, that number is up to TWO!
