Recognition:

Geoponica Greens LLC (DBA Geogreens) was formed in 2015 by Desmond Hayes. Desmond was fortunate enough to acquire degrees in architecture, civil engineering, and environmental science while also being employed simultaneously in each industry. Desmond knew the global environmental industry would reach a pivotal time and paid very close attention to sustainability in his work. Additionally, Desmond grew inspired when encountering various indoor, urban city farms both inside and out of New York City using hydroponics. With population on the rise, and the access and availability of fresh foods provided to food deserts going unchanged, hydroponics was the opportunity to have a direct influence on our food and water, land use and deforestation, and our carbon footprint. Geogreens grows micro-greens, leafy greens, and herbs. Future plans include fruiting veggies. We remain hyper-local which cuts down on transportation miles and emissions, and our packaging is recyclable. And we work with all walks of life from middle schools and colleges to food banks and pantries, local restaurants and supermarkets, hospitals and wellness centers, and assisted living spaces.

About:

Geoponica Greens LLC (DBA Geogreens) an MBE owned, indoor, vertical-hydroponic farm provides locally grown, pesticide-free, and consistently fresh, specialty produce all year-round. At Geogreens, they dream of a world where agriculture gives back to the people and planet, more than it takes.
