Summary

I'm an actress and a singer/songwriter working in the arts because I love it. At times it has been incredibly hard but so far it has turned out to be worth it and I believe that it always can be. Whether its performing on stage or camera, writing a new piece of music or teaching a group of teenagers about how to embrace who they are in an improv class, I love this world of the arts. It is a powerful one and I hope to always be in it.
