PeduL is on a to mission inform and inspire the process of career discovery, self-discovery and the pursuit of purpose by intersecting entertainment and tech. We are a media company that leverages edutainment to power a tech-enabled marketplace that connects employers to job seekers.

The truth is - companies know how to market to consumers. They suck at marketing to candidates, although they yearn for relevance and connection with an ever-distracted and evolving workforce. Candidates desire exposure to different opportunities and want that exposure through mediums that meet them where they are.

Our superpower is our ability to build trust between Corporate America and Gen Z through meaningful content that humanizes the people BEHIND the logos. The brains BEHIND the brands. We're digital bridge builders - bridging the wide gap between Marketing and HR.

Our unique offerings build brand trust among a wider audience of candidates, leading to higher quality applications, higher retention rates, lower attrition and more satisfied employees.

Our platform has helped emerging talent across the country earn internships, scholarships and career opportunities at companies like Paramount, Audible, Synchrony Bank and many more.
