The term "member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent" includes a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law of the purchaser, and includes adoptive relationships. The term "spousal equivalent" means a cohabitant occupying a relationship generally equivalent to that of a spouse.

17. What securities or classes of securities of the issuer are outstanding? Describe the material terms of any other outstanding securities or classes of securities of the issuer.

Class of Security	Securities (or Amount) Authorized	Securities (or Amount) Outstanding	Voting Rights	Other Rights
Common Stock:	10,000,000	100,000	YES	NO

18. How may the rights of the securities being offered be materially limited, diluted or qualified by the rights of any other class of security identified above?

a. Voting Proxy

Each Purchaser shall designate the Chief Executive Officer of the Company (the "CEO") or their successor as the Purchaser's authorized proxy and attorney, with the authority to act independently and with full power of substitution. In accordance with this provision, and on behalf of the Purchaser, the appointed proxy shall (i) cast votes for all Securities, (ii) send and receive notices and communications, (iii) execute any necessary or appropriate instrument or document as deemed by the CEO under this provision, and (iv) undertake all actions deemed necessary or appropriate by the CEO for the fulfillment of the aforementioned tasks. The proxy and authority granted by the Purchaser under this Section are inseparable from an interest. This proxy and authority shall be deemed irrevocable. It shall persist even in the event of the Purchaser being an individual, enduring through their death, incompetency, and disability. If the Purchaser is an entity, it shall endure through the merger or reorganization of the Purchaser or any other entity holding the Securities. However, the Proxy shall cease upon the conclusion of a firm-commitment underwritten public offering in accordance with an effective registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933, covering the offer and sale of Common Stock, or the effectiveness of a registration statement under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, covering the Common Stock.

b. No anti-dilution rights

Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

19. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer?

No.

20. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 above affect the purchasers of the securities being offered?

The principal shareholders identified in Question 6 above are having the majority of the voting rights of the issuer.

The Purchasers (the “Investors”) of the securities offered, as holders of Common Stock with a minority voting rights, may not have enough voting power to exert influence on the decisions made by the principal shareholders, with which the Investors disagree, or that negatively affect the value of the Purchasers’ securities in the Company. The Investors generally do not control day-to-day business decisions or management of the issuer and the Investors’ interests may conflict with those of the principal shareholders and there is no guarantee that the company will develop in a way that is advantageous to the Investors.

As a minority holder of Common Stock participating in this offering, you have delegated your voting rights by proxy to the CEO of the Company. Even in the event of regaining control over your voting rights, as a minority holder, your authority regarding corporate actions of the Company will be restricted. Such actions encompass additional issuances of securities, company repurchases of securities, a sale of the Company or its significant assets, or company transactions with related parties.

Furthermore, purchasers in this offering may possess rights that are subordinate to those of other investors, and their impact on the corporate decisions of the Company will be limited. Additionally, Purchasers may have limited ability to exert influence on decisions made by the principal shareholders, particularly if such decisions are at odds with the preferences of the Investors or have a negative impact on the value of the Purchasers’ securities in the Company. The Purchasers generally do not control day-to-day business decisions or management of the issuer, and their interests may conflict with those of the principal shareholders. Importantly, there is no guarantee that the company will develop in a way that is advantageous to the Purchasers.

21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

Important Disclaimer:

As the Issuer is a startup company with a limited history of operation, lacking of material assets and has conducted no prior sales of securities except to its founders and initial shareholders, the reliability, accuracy and appropriateness of the valuation methods used in this section in determining the valuation of the securities being offered is not guaranteed. The valuation methods used in this section do not infer that the Issuer assumes any fiduciary duties and should not be construed as financial, legal or tax advice. In addition, such valuation methods should not be relied upon as the only valuation methods. The Issuer cannot guarantee the reliability, accuracy and appropriateness of these valuation methods.

We strongly encourage you to consult with qualified business financial analysis professionals, attorneys, or tax advisors prior to making any investment decisions.

Valuation of Our Common Stock

The valuation of Tansy's common stock is determined by employing a price-to-sales (P/S) multiple method. This approach is well-suited for our company given the rapidly evolving nature of the retail and home goods industry, where future cash flows are unpredictable and heavily influenced by market trends and consumer preferences.

For the year 2023, with reported sales of $1,060,578, we apply a P/S ratio of 2.75 to arrive at our pre-money valuation. This ratio of 2.75 is specifically chosen based on a comparative analysis of similar companies within our sector that have demonstrated growth and profitability. This benchmark is adjusted to reflect Tansy's unique market position and operational strategy. The P/S multiple of 2.75 is particularly relevant for early-stage companies in our sector, where future earnings can be volatile and current revenues provide a more stable metric for valuation.

Given our sales figures and the applied P/S ratio, we establish a pre-money valuation of $2.9 million ($$1,060,578 \times 2.75 = $2,916,589.5$). This valuation considers Tansy's consistent revenue growth, our innovative approach to integrating retail with community engagement, and our potential to effectively expand operations across new markets.

The price per common stock in this offering, based on the pre-money valuation of $2.9 million and 100,000 shares issued, is set at $29.00 per share.

Valuation Methodology Disclaimer:

The valuation presented herein is derived from internal assessments based on historical sales data and industry comparisons. It is important for potential investors to note that while we strive for accuracy, the actual value of Tansy's common stock may be influenced by factors beyond our control, including but not limited to changes in the economic environment and shifts in consumer behavior. The underlying assumption to the valuation is ultimately dependent on the discretionary judgment of the directors. This valuation may be adjusted to reflect any new information or changes in market conditions that could impact the business's value. Investors are encouraged to consider these dynamics and perform their due diligence when assessing the value of Tansy's common stock.

Methods for how the securities may be valued by the issuer in the future:

The valuation of Tansy's securities in the future may be approached through several methods:

- Continued Use of Price-to-Sales Multiple: As Tansy grows, the price-to-sales multiple method may continue to be utilized, reflecting the company's revenue generation efficiency. Adjustments to the multiple will be made based on changes in industry standards, competitive landscape, and Tansy's operational excellence.
- Discounted Cash Flow (DCF) Analysis: As Tansy stabilizes its earnings and cash flow predictions become more reliable, DCF analysis could be used to estimate the present value of expected future cash flows, providing a comprehensive view of the company's valuation.
- Comparable Company Analysis: This method may involve comparing Tansy with similar companies in terms of size, growth, profitability, and market presence. This benchmarking helps in understanding where Tansy stands in the competitive landscape and how it should be valued in comparison.
- Market Conditions and Investor Sentiment: The valuation may also be influenced by broader market conditions and investor sentiment towards the industry and Tansy's market segment specifically. This method ensures that the valuation remains relevant and competitive.
- Performance Metrics Review: Regular review of key performance indicators such as customer acquisition cost, lifetime value, profit margins, and revenue growth rate will be critical. These metrics will help in adjusting the valuation in line with the company's operational performance.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

- Purchasers of the securities in this offering have limited rights to demand distributions (e.g. dividends) from the Issuer.
- The majority owner may make a decision that the Purchasers consider bad and puts Purchaser's interest in the Issuer at risk.
- Although, as Common Stock holders, the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.
- Since the securities in this offering are not publicly traded and are subject to restrictions on resale or transfer including holding period requirements, the securities in this offering are illiquid.
- Although purchasers of the securities offered will have voting rights, as minority shareholders, their influence over the company's affairs and the composition of its board of directors may be limited. Further, as a minority holder of Common Stock participating in this offering, voting rights are delegated by proxy to the CEO of the Company.

- The Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions:

a. Additional Issuances of Securities

Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

b. Issuer Repurchases of Securities

The issuer could be authorized to repurchase the company's issued securities subject to the approval by the company's board of directors. Purchasers of the securities may not impede the issuer's right to repurchase its securities from other shareholders. Moreover, the repurchase could be made at a price much lower than company's business value or its fair valuation, which could be indicative of the resale price of the securities thereafter.

c. A Sale of the Issuer or of Assets of the Issuer

Although as Common Stock holders the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

d. Transactions with Related Parties

Transactions with related parties are transactions between the issuer or any of its subsidiaries and a connected person. These transactions include both capital and revenue nature transactions. They may be one-off transactions or continuing transactions. Purchasers should be aware that these transactions may create conflicts of interests between themselves and the Issuer.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

Economic Injury Disaster Loan (EIDL)

- Principal Amount: $240,463
- Term: EIDL loan at an interest rate of 3.75% and maturity is May 21st, 2050.

Small Business Administration (SBA) Loan

- Principal Amount: $148,917.54

- Term: Seattle SBA loan at an interest rate of 13.25% and maturity is April 2033.
- Principal Amount: $128,096.79
- Term: Burbank SBA loan at an interest rate of 13% and maturity is May 2029

25. What other exempt offerings has the issuer conducted within the past three years?

N/A

26. Was or is the issuer or any entities controlled by or under common control with the issuer a party to any transaction since the beginning of the issuer's last fiscal year, or any currently proposed transaction, where the amount involved exceeds five percent of the aggregate amount of capital raised by the issuer in reliance on Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act during the preceding 12-month period, including the amount the issuer seeks to raise in the current offering, in which any of the following persons had or is to have a direct or indirect material interest:

- any director or officer of the issuer;
- any person who is, as of the most recent practicable date, the beneficial owner of 20 percent or more of the issuer's outstanding voting equity securities, calculated on the basis of voting power;

- any immediate family member of any of the foregoing persons.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE ISSUER

27. Does the issuer have an operating history?

Yes, the issuer, Tansy, has an operating history since its establishment in October 2018. Since its inception, Tansy has operated as a vibrant plant nursery and home goods store, expanding its footprint from its original location in Burbank, California, to a second location in Seattle, Washington.

28. Describe the financial condition of the issuer, including, to the extent material, liquidity, capital resources and historical results of operations.

The following discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations should be read in conjunction with our consolidated financial statements and related notes that appear in this Form C. In addition to historical consolidated financial information, the following discussion contains forward-looking statements that reflect our plans, estimates, and beliefs. Our actual results could differ materially from those discussed in the forward-looking statements. Factors that could cause or contribute to these differences include those discussed below and elsewhere in this Form C, particularly in "Risk Factors."

IMPORTANT: THE FOLLOWING FINANCIAL FIGURES ARE UNAUDITED

Results of Operation in 2023

In 2023, Tansy reported a total revenue of $1,060,578, marking an increase from the $968,450 recorded in 2022. The cost of goods sold for the year was $486,048, slightly below the previous year's $495,082, leading to a gross profit of $574,530, up from $473,368 in 2022.

Operating expenses for 2023 totaled $556,053, showing a significant increase from $451,938 in 2022. This rise in expenses were attributed to higher costs in several categories including advertising and marketing, payroll expenses, and lease rent, among others. Notably, payroll expenses surged to $250,095 from $149,709 as the company expanded its workforce to support its growth. Lease rent also increased considerably to $116,105 from $73,871, largely because of the company's expansion to Seattle in April 2023.

The comprehensive operating expenses led to an operating profit of $18,476, which is lower compared to $21,430 in the previous year. The net profit for the year was negatively impacted by a significant interest expense of $27,308, a steep increase from $12,432 in 2022. This resulted in a net loss of $8,832 for the year, compared to a net profit of $8,998 in 2022.

Overall, while Tansy experienced growth in revenue and gross profit in 2023, the increased operating expenses and higher interest costs overshadowed these gains, leading to a net loss for the year.

Cash flows

Operating Activities:

In 2023, Tansy's operations resulted in a net cash use of $205,026, a significant increase in cash outflow compared to $105,420 used in 2022. This higher usage was driven by several factors:

- Net Income: The company reported a net loss of $8,832, in contrast to the net income of $8,998 in the previous year.
- Depreciation: Depreciation expenses remained constant at $12,463.

- Inventory Changes: There was a considerable increase in inventory, which used $141,790 of cash, slightly less than the $144,347 in the previous year.
- Other Current Assets: An increase in deposits also tied up $12,930 in cash.
- Payables: The decrease in trade and other payables, which reduced by $53,936, further strained the cash flows. In contrast, 2022 saw an increase in payables adding $17,467 to cash flows.

Investing Activities:

There were no transactions under investing activities for both years, indicating no acquisitions or disposals of long-term assets.

Financing Activities:

Financing activities generated $144,378 in 2023, up from $83,705 in 2022. This increase was primarily due to:

- Loan Proceeds: Net proceeds from loans amounted to $129,777, up from $83,705.
- Capital Contributions: In 2023, there was a net capital contribution of $14,601, contrasting with no contributions in the previous year.

Net Cash Position:

The net decrease in cash and cash equivalents for the year was $60,648, which resulted in a closing balance of $9,309 in cash and cash equivalents. This is significantly lower than the $69,957 at the end of 2022.

The financial activities in 2023 reflect Tansy's expanded operations, particularly the move into Seattle, which involved significant cash outlays. Financing activities helped mitigate some of the cash flow pressures from expanded operations and increased inventory.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Tansy's liquidity and capital resources have been managed to support both current operations and future growth initiatives. As of 2023, the company's total assets amounted to $720,851, with current assets constituting $688,261, including $9,309 in cash and cash equivalents. This represents a substantial increase in total assets from $639,241 in the previous year, indicating growth and expansion, particularly in inventory and other current assets.

The company's liquidity position is supported by various sources. Tansy expects to fund its operations and capital expenditure requirements primarily from operating cash flows and existing cash reserves. Additionally, proceeds from this equity offering and existing credit facilities are expected to provide further financial support. The company may also consider raising additional funds through public or private equity offerings or debt financings. However, there is no assurance that such financing will be available on acceptable terms or at all.

In terms of liabilities, Tansy faces significant obligations with total liabilities amounting to $709,890 as of 2023. This includes $549,914 in long-term liabilities, dominated by various loans such as MCA, EIDL, and SBA loans. The management will maintain financial stability and support ongoing business operations by effectively managing these liabilities.

New business developments or unforeseen events may necessitate additional funding. While the company is optimistic about its future revenue growth, potential investors should note that past financial results and cash flows may not necessarily predict future performance. The dynamic nature of the retail and home goods industry, coupled with external economic factors, could impact financial outcomes.

For this equity offering, Tansy is seeking a minimum of $50,750, which is expected to improve the company's liquidity and strengthen the balance sheet. While securing these funds would enhance the company's financial flexibility, the management believes that the existing cash reserves, together with the proceeds from the offering, should suffice to cover operational needs over the next 12 months. This perspective underscores a cautious yet optimistic outlook for Tansy's financial health and operational viability in the near term.

COMPETITION

Level of competition in the retail nursery and home goods industry: Tansy operates within a moderately competitive landscape, characterized by a diverse mix of players ranging from giant big-box corporations to smaller mom-and-pop shops. The presence of these varied competitors underscores the dynamic nature of the market. Giant big-box corporations bring scale and extensive resources, often catering to a broad customer base. Conversely, smaller mom-and-pop shops contribute to the industry's vibrancy by offering unique, personalized experiences and often engaging deeply with local communities. Tansy positions itself strategically amidst this diverse competition by emphasizing its distinctiveness, commitment to community, and the creation of a unique haven for joy and creativity, fostering a niche that resonates with customers seeking a more intimate and personalized shopping experience.

The primary competitors for the business are the following:

HOME
DIYCENTER

However, we believe that Tansy has the following competitive advantages:

Tansy transcends the ordinary retail experience, standing out in the market as a truly unique and special destination. INVESTMENT PLAN

As a black owned female business, we are on a mission to help other women achieve their dreams. We recognize that our hard work and dedication were just a fraction of what got us to where we are today. The business has given us the opportunity to assist other female business hopefuls with achieving their own dream of success. We would like to take that farther and reach out to other women throughout the country. Having an option of franchising the business allows us to bring other prospective women into Tansy. We can hand pick the people and areas of where a franchise location can go. We can help other women break all generational curses and create their own generational wealth by owning their own Tansy. Keeping within the franchise model, financial burden will be on the new business owners but allowing Tansy to benefit from the success of franchise location. Keeping the feel and aesthetic of Tansy with the franchising model, we are paying it forward by teaching and guiding new business owners with their venture. Consulting on getting SBA loans to setting up shop, we will be hand holding the entire way to better ensure success.

At Tansy, our vision extends beyond the brick and mortar of our unique home goods haven. As a proudly black woman-owned business, we are breaking barriers and setting new standards. Our next step involves empowering women of color through franchising opportunities. Tansy aims to be a catalyst for change, offering a platform for like-minded entrepreneurs to take charge, establish their own businesses, and positively impact their communities. More than just a shop, Tansy is a safe haven for everyone, and we are eager to share the love and opportunity with those who aspire to shape their destinies.

Appendix B - RISK FACTORS

Risks Related to the Business

- Market Competition: Tansy operates in the competitive retail plant nursery and home goods market, which includes large chain retailers and local boutiques. An increase in competition could impact Tansy's market share, pricing strategies, and overall profitability.
- Inventory Management: Efficient inventory management is crucial for Tansy's success. Mismanagement, such as overstocking or understocking, can lead to significant financial losses either through increased operational costs or missed sales opportunities.
- Supplier Dependency: Tansy relies on a variety of suppliers for both plants and home goods. Disruptions in these relationships, whether due to financial instability of suppliers, supply chain issues, or international trade complications, could adversely affect Tansy's operations.
- Economic Dependency on Specific Geographic Locations: Primarily based in Burbank, CA, and Seattle, WA, any economic downturns in these regions could disproportionately impact Tansy's business performance.
- Regulatory Risks: As a business dealing in both domestic and potentially international goods, Tansy is subject to various regulations including import, export, and customs regulations. Changes in these regulations or failures to comply can result in fines, penalties, or interruptions in business operations.
- Environmental Regulations: Being in the plant nursery business, Tansy is subject to environmental laws and regulations. Non-compliance with these regulations can lead to legal challenges and potential fines.

- Technology Risks: Tansy's reliance on technology for sales, marketing, and operations exposes it to risks related to system failures, cybersecurity breaches, and data loss. Any such issues could disrupt operations and damage the company's reputation.
- Key Personnel Risks: Tansy's success heavily relies on the continued involvement of its key management team. Loss of key personnel without adequate replacement could disrupt business operations.
- Financial Stability and Debt Load: Tansy's current level of indebtedness could impact its financial stability and operational flexibility. The management of significant debt requires careful planning and execution to maintain financial health.

Risks Related to This Offering

- Lack of Liquidity: The shares offered are not traded on a public exchange, and there is no guarantee that a secondary market will develop. This lack of liquidity means that investors may have difficulty selling their shares and may have to sell at a price much lower than that at which they purchased.
- Minority Shareholder Risks: Investors in this offering will hold a minority stake, which limits their ability to influence management decisions, including decisions about business operations, financial management, or corporate governance.
- Dilution Potential: Future capital raises may dilute existing shareholders if new shares are issued. This could decrease the ownership percentage of current investors and could potentially dilute the value of their investments if the issuance price is lower than the current share price.
- Valuation Fluctuations: The valuation for this offering has been set by Tansy's management and may not necessarily reflect market or intrinsic value, potentially leading to losses for investors if the market valuation is lower.
- Regulatory and Compliance Risks: Equity crowdfunding is regulated by several agencies, including the SEC. Compliance failures or changes in crowdfunding regulations could impact the offering and expose both Tansy and its investors to potential legal and financial liabilities.
- Economic and Market Conditions: Broad market fluctuations and economic downturns can adversely affect Tansy's operational results and financial condition, irrespective of the company's operating performance.
- Risks of Additional Funding Needs: If Tansy requires additional funding beyond what is raised in this offering, there is no assurance that such financing will be available on favorable terms, if at all. Failure to obtain such financing could force the company to delay or abandon some of its expansion plans.

■ Tax Obligations: Investors are responsible for the tax implications of their investment in Tansy. Misunderstanding or mismanagement of these obligations can lead to adverse personal financial consequences.

Investors are encouraged to carefully consider these risks and consult with financial, legal, and tax advisors before deciding to invest. The dynamic nature of Tansy's business and the complex regulatory landscape of equity crowdfunding make it critical to understand and accept these risks fully.

Independent Accountant's Review Report

The Board of Director
TANSY

I have reviewed the accompanying financial statements of TANSY, which comprise the balance sheets as of December 31, 2023 and 2022, and the related statements of income, changes in Equity, cash flows for the years then ended and the related notes to the financial statements. A review includes primarily applying analytical procedures to management's financial data and making inquiries of company management. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements as a whole. Accordingly, I do not express such an opinion.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement whether due to fraud or error.

Accountant's Responsibility

My responsibility is to conduct the review engagements in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services promulgated by the Accounting and Review Services Committee of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Those standards require me to perform procedures to obtain limited assurance as a basis for reporting whether I am aware of any material modifications that should be made to the financial statements for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. I believe that the results of my procedures provide a reasonable basis for our report.

Accountant's Conclusion

Based on my reviews, I am not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
