Summary

Chris McKinney is the Founder of Called Writers Christian Publishing. He was formerly the Executive Editor of GODSPEED magazine, where he had the pleasure of serving Editor-in-Chief David Aikman, a legendary Christian journalist, author, and former news bureau chief for TIME magazine. Chris also worked alongside Troy Anderson, a Pulitzer Prize-nominated journalist and author, and many other notable Christian writers and ministers. Chris has been writing professionally for many years, and started writing Christian ministry material in 2013.

Chris has written and edited for several ministry organizations including the Foundry and Church of the Highlands, which is the second-largest church in America. He has worked on many contract writing, editing, and proofreading projects for individuals as well as organizations like Highlands College. He loves to ghostwrite and co-author Christian books.

In addition to GODSPEED magazine, Chris's ministry articles have been featured by CBN, Engage magazine, and several other publications and websites. Chris is also the author and co-author of several notable Christian books. He has been a featured guest on various Christian radio, internet, and television shows.

In a previous career, Chris quickly climbed the corporate ladder in the investment management profession, culminating with senior positions at a top-30 US bank (Compass Bank, now owned by PNC Financial Services), and also with one of the largest insurance companies in the world (Aflac). Chris was awarded the CFA charter in 2008.

Chris has worked on many Christian books in various capacities, and his growing list of co-author credits is easily accessible online.
