“Manuel’s bold declaration the first time I met him several years ago, ‘We’re not waiting for Hollywood or nobody,’ sets the stage for Black Sands Anime. This Black Sands anime is the exciting continuation of that inspiring vision. Bringing a Black anime to theaters would be a groundbreaking achievement! I am confident that Manuel Godoy and Carl Reed will make this a success! This is the kind of community collaboration one wants to see. Two industry heavyweights are joining forces to create something truly amazing that we can all be proud of! It’ll be backed by the passionate support of the streets and the fans, this is an authentic combination!”

We are seeking the production budget for the Black Sands anime. The funds we secure here will go toward funding the Black Sands animated property, including the hundreds of animators deployed during the process.

Composition Media has made many animated properties in the past, indicating that with enough funding, the anime should be completed and done in a timely fashion.
