You Might Lose Your Money

When you buy a certificate of deposit from a bank, the Federal government (through the FDIC) guarantees you will get your money back. Buying a Note is not like that at all. The ability of the Company to make the payments you expect, and ultimately to give you your money back, depends on a number of factors, including many beyond our control.

COVID-19 Might Have a Negative Material Effect on the Company

This offering is being launched at a time when the COVID-19 pandemic is requiring the closure of many businesses, large and small. The effects COVID-19 may have on economic activity are likely substantial and unknown; there is no guaranty the Company will not suffer material negative effects as a direct or indirect result of the pandemic.

Limited Operating History

The Company has been operating only since 2021, a limited history for prospective investors to consider.

Competition

The market in which we operate is highly competitive. The Company competes with many other businesses, both large and small, on the basis of quality and price of products, location and customer experience. Changes in customer preference away from the Company's core business or the inability to compete successfully against other competitors could negatively affect the Company's financial performance.

Licensing Risk

The Company may face changes in the state and federal laws in connection to any licensing required for the sale of its products. Such changes would require the dedication of Company resources to address or amend its current operations which may adversely affect its business strategy or profitability.

No Right to Participate in Management

As the owner of a Note, you will not have the right to control the Company in any way or to participate in its management. You should invest (buy a Note) only if you are willing to rely completely on the Company's management team.

Reliance On Management Team

Like almost all small businesses, the Company relies exclusively on the abilities of its management team. Should any of them die, leave the Company, or become ill for a long period of time, the Company would be damaged and might not repay your Note.

Limited Products And Services

Most small, local businesses sell only one or two products or services, making them vulnerable to changes in technology and/or customer preferences.

Supplier Risk

The Company relies on third-party suppliers for the materials used in the manufacture of its products. If any of these suppliers changes the pricing, distribution, terms of service, or relationship with the Company, this could materially affect its business and/or profitability. Factors outside of the Company's control, including general market conditions, may affect its relationship with these suppliers. In addition, its ability to meet the obligations of its customers may be adversely affected if its suppliers fail to comply with agreed-upon services or quality standards in a cost-effective or timely manner.

Risk of Economic Downturn

The products the Company sells are luxuries, not necessities. In the event of a recession or other economic downturn, customers might curtail their purchase of our products.

Environmental Risk

The Company is subject to the risk of environmental liability and limitations on operations due to environmental laws and regulations. The Company is subject to extensive federal, state, and local environmental, health and safety regulations. The risks of substantial costs and liabilities related to compliance with these laws and regulations is an inherent part of the Company's business. Future conditions may develop or be discovered that create substantial environmental compliance or remediation liabilities and costs.

Price Risk

The Company competes in an industry with a commodity product where the Company may not have control of the prices it will receive for its product or the prices it must pay for inputs. Price uncertainty may negatively impact the Company's business and financial situation.

Use of Funds Risk

At the discretion of the Company's executive management team, funds raised in this offering may be used differently than specifically outlined in this document's Use of Funds section.

Personnel Risk

The Company uses human personnel to produce its product. Accidents, illnesses, death, divorce, or lack of productivity could negatively impact the ability of personnel and, therefore, the business.

Lack Of Accounting Controls

Larger companies typically have in place strict accounting controls. Smaller companies like the Company lack these controls, exposing themselves to additional risk.

Reputation Risk

The success of the Company depends on the reputation of its brand. Adverse publicity concerning the Company's products or the Company itself could negatively impact the future of its business.

The Company Might Need More Capital

The Company might need to raise more capital in the future to expand its operations, buy property and equipment, hire drivers and other personnel, market its products and services, pay overhead and general administrative expenses, or a variety of other reasons. There is no assurance that additional capital will be available when needed, or that it will be available on terms that are not adverse to your interests as an investor. If the Company is unable to obtain additional funding when needed, it could be forced to delay its business plan or even cease operations altogether.

Future Investors Might Have Superior Rights

If the Company needs more capital in the future, it might borrow money and/or sell stock, and the new investors might have rights superior to those of an investor owning a Note. For example, they might have the right to be paid before you are, to receive larger distributions, to have a greater voice in management, or otherwise.

Inability To Sell Your Note

The law prohibits you from selling your Note (except in certain very limited circumstances) for one year after you acquire it. Even after that one-year period, a host of Federal and State securities laws may limit or restrict your ability to sell your securities. Even if you are permitted to sell, you will likely have difficulty finding a buyer because there will be no established market. Given these factors, you should be prepared to hold your Note for its full term.

Limitation of Individual Rights in Event of Default

In the event of a default under the Notes, an individual investor will not have the right to enforce his, her or its rights – for example, by bringing a lawsuit. Instead, the investors will appoint a representative using a procedure set forth in the Note Purchase Agreement. It's possible that the investors as a group will appoint a representative you don't like, or that the representative will do things you believe are wrong or misguided. Once a default has occurred and a representative has been appointed, all the expenses of the representative must be paid before any further payments are made with respect to the Notes.

Lack of Key Man Insurance

Although dependent on key personnel, the Company does not have any key man life insurance policies on any such people. In the event that such personnel die or become disabled, the Company will not receive compensation to assist for their absence and the loss of such person could negatively affect the Company.

Uninsured Losses

Although the Company will carry some insurance, we might not buy enough insurance to guard against all the risks of our business. Also, there are some kinds of risks that are simply impossible to insure against, at least at a reasonable cost. Therefore, we could incur an uninsured loss that could damage our business.

Conflict Of Interest

In many ways your interests and the interests of the Company's management team will coincide: you all want the Company to be as successful as possible. However, your interests might be in conflict in other important areas, including these:

- You might want to keep the compensation of managers low, while managers want to make as much as they can.

- You might want the Company to act conservatively to conserve its cash, while the management team might want to grow more quickly.
- You might want the Company to look out for your interests, while the management team might subordinate your interests to the interests of employees, other investors, or others.
- The lawyers who prepared the legal documents represent the interests of the Company, not the interests of investors.

Interest Rate Might Not Adequately Compensate For Risk

Theoretically, the interest rate paid by a company should compensate the creditor for the level of risk the creditor is assuming. There is no certainty that the interest rate on your Note will compensate you adequately for the level of risk.

No Registration Under Securities Laws

The Notes will not be registered with the SEC or the securities regulator of any State. Hence, neither the Company nor the Notes are subject to the same degree of regulation and scrutiny as if they were registered.

Incomplete Offering Information

Title III does not require us to provide you with all the information that would be required in some other kinds of securities offerings, such as a public offering of shares (for example, publicly-traded firms must generally provide investors with quarterly and annual financial statements that have been audited by an independent accounting firm). Although Title III does require extensive information, as described above, it is possible that you would make a different decision if you had more information.

Lack Of Ongoing Information

The Company will be required to provide some information to investors for at least one year following the offering. However, this information is far more limited than the information that would be required of a publicly-reporting company; and the Company will be allowed to stop providing annual information in certain circumstances.

The Company is Not Subject to the Corporate Governance Requirements Of National Securities Exchanges

Any company whose securities are listed on a national stock exchange (for example, the New York Stock Exchange) is subject to a number of rules about corporate governance that are intended to protect investors. For example, the major U.S. stock exchanges require listed companies to have an audit committee made up entirely of independent members of the board of directors (i.e., directors with no material outside relationships with the company or management), which is responsible for monitoring the company's compliance with the law. The Company will not be required to implement these and other investor protections.

Cost of Enforcement

If the Company defaulted, investors would have to engage lawyers and possibly other third parties to enforce their rights. The cost of enforcement could be prohibitive.

Other Lenders Could Have Superior Rights

The Company will take out other loans. In itself this is not risky, but these lenders will likely have a claim to collateral superior to the collateral claimed by the Note. For example, the lenders might have a claim to the future cash flows or equity ownership of the Company, or the equipment owned by the Company whereas the Note has a claim to the equipment purchased with its own proceeds. Moreover, the lenders might have clauses in their lending agreements with the Company that compel the Company to pay them first over other lenders. If the Company runs out of cash, and has a choice to pay the other lenders or the Holders of the Note, it might decide (or be required) to pay its other lenders first.

Repayment Not Managed by Intermediary

Following the close of this offering, repayments to investors will not be handled by Honeycomb Portal LLC. Instead, TradeBacked Inc. will be solely responsible for managing all payments. Investors will rely entirely on TradeBacked's systems, processes, and financial standing for timely repayment. Any failure, delay, or operational issue within TradeBacked could result in late payments or total loss of capital.

Complex Investment Structure

This offering does not represent a direct investment in an operating business with traditional revenue or earnings. Instead, investor funds are used in a pooled credit strategy where TradeBacked provides inventory-backed financing to third-party borrowers. Investors may not have visibility into individual loan performance or borrower behavior. The complexity of this structure may increase risks not typically associated with small business debt offerings on this platform.

Reliance on Insurance and Third-Party Valuations

The collateral backing the underlying loans is insured and independently valued. However, investors are exposed to the risk that insurance may not pay out as expected, claims may be delayed or denied, or valuations may be inaccurate. In such cases, TradeBacked's ability to recover its capital, and in turn repay investors, may be compromised.

Details of Security Being Offered

The securities being offered to investors are promissory notes, which we refer to as "Notes." The Notes are governed by a separate document called a Note Purchase Agreement, which you can view on the "Investor Info" tab of the campaign page.

This section summarizes the principal features of the Note Purchase Agreement. However, this is only a summary. Before investing, you should read the Note Purchase Agreement in their entirety.

- The principal amount of your Note will be the amount you invest.
- Your Note will accrue interest at a rate of 10.00% per year.
- The Company must repay your principal (the amount you invested) 36 months from the end of the 30-day interim period or, if sooner, the date that the Company is sold or otherwise experiences a "change of control." The Company may also prepay the Note. Any prepayments will first be applied to accrued interest, then to principal.
- Investors have the option to request an early redemption after a 1 year holding period; there shall be an early repayment penalty of 3% on the investment. The Company can call (prepay early) your note after a 1 year holding period.
- Investment Cutoffs Exist on the 15th and last date of each month.
 - Invested By 15th: Interest prorated for remaining days, then full amortization.
 - Invested After 15th: Full amortization starts next month.
- All communications from the Company, including but not limited to all tax forms, will be via electronic delivery.
- Once you pay for your Note, you will have no obligation to contribute more money to the Company, and you will not be personally obligated for any debts of the Company.
- If you want to sell your Note, you must first offer to sell it back to the company – a so-called "first right of refusal." If the Company doesn't buy it, the Company may impose restrictions on the transfer. For example, the Company may require a legal opinion that the transfer is allowed under the securities laws.
- The Note offered does not have any voting rights.
- The Terms of the Note being offered may not be modified or amended.

Restrictions on Transfer of the Securities Being Offered

The Note will be illiquid (meaning you might not be able to sell it) for four reasons:

- The Note Purchase Agreement prohibits the sale or other transfer of Notes without the Company's consent.
- If you want to sell your Note, the Company will have the first right of refusal to buy it, which could make it harder to find a buyer.
- Even if a sale were permitted, there is no ready market for Notes as there would be for a publicly-traded company.
- For a period of one year, you will not be allowed to transfer the Note except (i) to the Company itself, (ii) to an "accredited" investor, (iii) to a family or trust, or (iv) in a public offering of the Company's shares.

As a result, you should plan to hold your Note until maturity.

ADDITIONAL MATTERS RELATED TO THE SECURITY

1. How may the rights of the securities being offered be materially limited, diluted or qualified by the rights of any other class of security identified above?

The Company does not have the right to change the terms of the promissory notes or the Note Purchase Agreement. However, it does have the right to create additional classes of securities, both equity securities and debt securities. Some of these additional classes of securities could have rights that are superior to those of the promissory notes. For example, the Company could issue promissory notes that are secured by specific property of the Company.

2. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer?

The owners of the promissory notes will not have the right to share in the profits of the company or participate in the management of the company.

3. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders affect the purchasers of the securities being offered?

The principal shareholders could make decisions that are bad for the company and thereby adversely affect the economic interests of investors holding promissory notes. They could also issue other classes of securities with rights superior to those of investors holding promissory notes.

4. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

The value of the Notes is determined by the face amount of the note payable to be issued. The terms of the Notes were determined by the Issuer based on the Issuer's opinion about the value of the project.

The Issuer does not expect there to be any reason to place a value on the Notes in the future. In the event that future valuation is required, any value given the notes by the company will be determined in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

5. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

n/a

6. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions, including additional issuances of securities, issuer repurchases of securities, a sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer or transactions with related parties?

The company could issue securities with rights superior to those of the promissory notes.

If the company is sold, the owners of the promissory notes have the right to receive all of the principal and accrued interest.

Transactions with related parties – for example, the payment of excessive compensation – could reduce the amount of money available to make payments with respect to the promissory notes.

7. What other exempt offerings has the issuer conducted within the past three years?

None

8. The issuer or any entities controlled by or under the common control with the issuer was not a party to any transaction since the beginning of the issuer's last fiscal year, or any currently proposed transaction, where the amount involved exceeds five percent of the aggregate amount of capital raised by the issuer in reliance on Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act during the preceding 12-month period, including the amount the issuer seeks to raise in the current offering, in which any of the following persons had or is to have a direct or indirect material interest:

1. any director or officer of the issuer;
2. any person who is, as of the most recent practicable date, the beneficial owner of 20 percent or more of the issuer's outstanding voting equity securities, calculated on the basis of voting power;
3. if the issuer was incorporated or organized within the past three years, any promoter of the issuer;
4. or (4) any immediate family member of any of the foregoing persons.

None

9. Disclosure of Investor Banking Information

This information will only be used for the purpose of processing scheduled repayments to investors. By investing, you consent to the sharing of this information with the issuer for repayment processing.

- (g) Debtor will care for and preserve the Collateral in good condition and repair at all times and will pay the cost of repairs to and maintenance and preservation of the Collateral and will not permit anything to be done that may impair the value of any of the Collateral or the security intended to be afforded by this Agreement;
- (h) Until the occurrence of an Event of Default (as this term is defined below), Debtor may use the Collateral in any lawful manner not inconsistent with the agreements herein or with the terms and conditions of any policy of insurance thereon;
- (i) No Event of Default has occurred and no event has occurred which, with the passage of time or the giving of notice or both, could be an Event of Default hereunder;
- (j) Debtor will notify the Secured Party in writing prior to beginning to engage in business in any corporate or fictitious name other than its present corporate name;
- (k) Debtor will not use the Collateral in violation of any federal, state or local statute or ordinance;
- (l) Debtor and Secured Party will comply with each covenant set forth in the NPA;
- (m) If any of the Collateral or any of Debtor's Books and Records are at any time to be located on premises leased by Debtor or on premises owned by Debtor subject to a mortgage or other lien, Debtor must obtain and deliver or cause to be delivered to Secured Party prior to delivery of any Collateral or Books and Records concerning the Collateral to said premises, an agreement, in form satisfactory to Secured Party, waiving the landlord's, mortgagee's or lienholder's rights to enforce any claim against Debtor for moneys due under the landlord's lien, mortgagee's mortgage or other lien by levy of dstraint or other similar proceeding against the Collateral or Debtor's Books and Records and assuring Secured Party's ability to have access to the Collateral and Debtor's Books and Records in order to exercise Secured Party's rights to take possession thereof and to remove them from such premises;
- (n) Debtor will keep itself and the Collateral insured against all hazards in such amounts and by such insurers as are satisfactory to Secured Party, with insurance policies which provide for at least thirty (30) days prior written notice to Secured Party of any cancellation or reduction in coverage. Debtor will cause Secured Party's security interest to be endorsed on all policies of insurance in such manner that all payments for losses will be paid to Secured Party as loss-payee and will furnish Secured Party with evidence of such insurance and endorsements. Debtor will keep such insurance in full force and in effect at all times. In the event that Debtor fails to pay any such insurance premiums when due, Secured Party may but is not required to pay such premiums and add the costs thereof to the amounts due Secured Party under the Notes. Debtor hereby assigns to Secured Party any returned or unearned premiums which may be due upon cancellation of any such policies for any reason whatsoever and directs the insurers to pay Secured Party any amount so due, subject only to the rights of any lender through whom Debtor has financed the payment of such premiums to receive same; and

- (o) To further the attachment, perfection and first priority of, and the ability of the Secured Party to enforce, the Secured Party's security interest in the Collateral, and without limitation on the Debtor's other obligations in this Agreement, the Debtor agrees, in each case at the Debtor's expense, to take such actions and execute and deliver such documents or instruments with respect to the Collateral that Secured Party reasonably requests. Debtor further agrees, at the request and option of the Secured Party, to take any and all other actions the Secured Party may determine to be necessary or useful for the attachment, perfection and first priority of, and the ability of the Secured Party to enforce, the Secured Party's security interest in any and all of the Collateral, including, without limitation,
 - (i) executing, delivering and, where appropriate, filing financing statements and amendments relating thereto under the Uniform Commercial Code, to the extent, if any, that the Debtor's signature thereon is required therefor,
 - (ii) causing the Secured Party's name to be noted as secured party on any certificate of title for a titled good if such notation is a condition to attachment, perfection or priority of, or ability of the Secured Party to enforce, the Secured Party's security interest in such Collateral,
 - (iii) complying with any provision of any statute, regulation or treaty of the United States as to any Collateral if compliance with such provision is a condition to attachment, perfection or priority of, or ability of the Secured Party to enforce, the Secured Party's security interest in such Collateral,
 - (iv) obtaining governmental and other third party waivers, consents and approvals in form and substance satisfactory to Secured Party, including, without limitation, any consent of any licensor, lessor or other person obligated on Collateral,
 - (v) obtaining waivers from mortgagees and landlords in form and substance satisfactory to the Secured Party, and
 - (vi) taking all actions under any earlier versions of the Uniform Commercial Code or under any other law, as reasonably determined by the Secured Party to be applicable in any relevant Uniform Commercial Code or other jurisdiction, including any foreign jurisdiction.

5. Use of Collateral; Casualty. Until the occurrence of an Event of Default, Debtor may sell and use the Collateral in the ordinary course of its business, consistent with past practices, and accept the return of and repossess goods constituting the Collateral. Immediately upon the loss, damage or destruction of any Collateral, Debtor will deliver to Secured Party an amount equal to the greater of Debtor's (a) actual cost or (b) replacement cost of the Collateral so lost, damaged or destroyed, less the amount of any insurance proceeds thereon anticipated to be collected and retained by Secured Party.

6. Event of Default. The occurrence of any one or more of the following will be an "Event of Default" hereunder:

- (a) The failure of Debtor at any time to observe or perform any of its warranties, representations or agreements contained in this Agreement and such failure is not cured within ten (10) days following notice from the Collateral Agent;
- (b) Debtor's or Debtor's default under the terms of the Notes, the NPA, or any other Loan Document (as defined in the NPA);
- (c) The subjection of the Collateral or any rights therein to or the threat of any judicial process, condemnation or forfeiture proceedings;
- (d) The insolvency of Debtor, the commencement of a voluntary or involuntary case in bankruptcy against Debtor, the consenting of Debtor to the appointment of a receiver or trustee of any of its property or any part thereof, or the entry of any order of relief against Debtor in any case.

7. Secured Party's Rights and Remedies. Upon or after the occurrence of any Event of Default, Secured Party may do any or all of the following, all of which rights and remedies shall be cumulative and any and all of which may be exercised from time to time and as often as Secured Party shall deem necessary or desirable:

- (a) Exercise any and all rights, privileges and remedies available to Secured Party under this Agreement, the NPA, the Notes, and under the UCC, or any other applicable law, including without limitation the right to require the Debtor to assemble the Collateral and make it available to Secured Party at a designated place reasonably convenient for disposition;
- (b) If applicable, notify Debtor's lessees, renters and account Debtors to make all payments directly to Secured Party and to surrender, at the termination of any lease of any Collateral, the item or items of Collateral so leased or to pay the sale option price, if any, directly to Secured Party;
- (c) Cure any default in any reasonable manner and add the cost of any such cure to the amount due under the Notes and NPA;
- (d) Retain all of Debtor's Books and Records;
- (e) Upon ten (10) days prior written notice to Debtor, which notice Debtor acknowledges is sufficient, proper and commercially reasonable, Secured Party may sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the Collateral, at any time and from time to time, in whole or in part, at public or private sale, without advertisement or notice of sale, all of which are hereby waived, and apply the proceeds of any such sale:

- (i) first, to the expenses of Secured Party in preparing the Collateral for sale, selling and the like, including without limitation reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses incurred by Secured Party (including fees and expenses of any litigation incident to any of the foregoing);

second, to the payment in full of all sums owing to Holders under the Notes consistent with the terms of the NPA and the satisfaction of all of the Debtor's and Debtor's obligations under the Notes and NPA; and any excess shall be paid to Debtor.

The waiver of any Event of Default, or Secured Party's failure to exercise any right or remedy hereunder, shall not be deemed a waiver of any subsequent Event of Default or of the right to exercise that or any other right or remedy available to Secured Party.

8. Expenses of Enforcement. The Debtor will pay all reasonable expenses of the Collateral Agent, including attorneys' fees, incurred by the Collateral Agent in enforcing its rights and remedies hereunder. If the Collateral Agent brings suit (or files any claim in any bankruptcy, reorganization, insolvency or other proceeding) to enforce any such rights or remedies and shall be entitled to judgment (or other recovery) in such action (or other proceeding) then the Collateral Agent may recover, in addition to all other amounts payable hereunder, its reasonable expenses in connection therewith, including attorneys' fees, and the amount of such expenses shall be included in such judgment (or other form of award).

9. Termination of Security Interest. When and only when all amounts due under the Notes, the Note Indenture, and this Agreement shall have been paid in full, then the Security Interest granted to the Collateral Agent pursuant to this Agreement shall terminate and, at the request and expense of the Debtor, the Collateral Agent will execute and deliver to the Debtor such written evidence thereof, including termination statements, and take such other action as the Debtor may reasonably request.

Independent Auditor's Report

To the Board of Directors

TB Fund4 LLC

AVENTURA, FL. US 33180

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of TB Fund4 LLC, which comprise the Balance Sheet as of April 30, 2025, along with Income Statement for the year then ended, Cash flow statement and the related notes to financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying statement of financial positions are present fairly, in all material respects, along with the financial position of TB Fund4 LLC as of April 30, 2025, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of TB Fund4 LLC and to meet our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Balance Sheet for the year ended April 30, 2025.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about TB Fund4 LLC's ability to continue as a going concern.

AT&F International, Inc.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in aggregate, they would influence the judgement made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit in accordance with GAAS we:

- Exercise professional judgement and maintain professional skepticism through the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures on the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of TB Fund4 LLC's internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgement, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about TB Fund4 LLC's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control-related matters that we identified during the audit.

See the 'owners of The Company' section of the Form C for an Organizational Chart

The Company’s Business

The Company invests in short-term, off-balance sheet financings provided to small and medium-sized businesses such as manufacturers, traders, and dealers in order to facilitate the trade of goods. On the Company’s behalf, TB Originations seeks to identify cashflow positive small and medium sized businesses (SMEs), preferably above $50 million in annual revenue, three (3) years’ minimum operating history. The Company will generally engage in two types of financing options:

- Inventory buyback agreements. These types of agreements are used generally for items such as agricultural commodities, fertilizer and chemicals, metals and minerals, oil and gas, and textiles – i.e. commodities, raw materials or products generally not displayed to retail consumers. In such instances, we retain physical possession in our warehouses until needed.
- Sale and leaseback agreements. These types of agreements are used generally for items such as consumer electronics, fast-moving consumer goods, and luxury goods – i.e. products that are displayed to the retail consumer. The merchant has need of physical possession of the goods.

- Warehouse Agreements. The Company's Warehouse Financing program provides a strategic and secure financing option for businesses within the segment of high-value inventory (details of which will be specified.) This program offers a variable tenure ranging from 6 to 24 months, which is designed to be in harmony with the specific cash flow patterns of each business. Ensuring the safety of the inventory is critical, and as such, it is a mandatory requirement for the inventory to be insured against any potential loss or damage. This insurance holds whether the inventory is kept on the company's premises or housed in a designated secure warehouse. Despite the inventory being pledged as collateral, the business retains ownership, thus guaranteeing continuous usage without disruption. The amount of financing provided is calculated at a competitive 50% to 80% of the appraised value of the inventory, offering significant liquidity while maintaining minimal obligations. In accordance with the strategic approach to portfolio allocation, an initial 20% is allocated to such financing contracts after the Fund's inauguration, with plans to incrementally increase this allocation. As part of the agreement, businesses are obliged to fulfill monthly lease payments throughout the term. At the conclusion of the lease, businesses are expected to buy back the inventory. Should there be a failure to adhere to the payment schedule, the business must either catch up on the overdue payments or repurchase the inventory within a grace period of 30 days, with possible extensions determined individually. In the event that payments are not rectified, or the inventory is not repurchased upon the lease's maturity, it will result in a default. Additionally, if the inventory's baseline falls below 80% of the total asset quantity or value, default procedures will be initiated. Subsequently, the Company assumes the right to take control of the inventory and liquidate it via auction. Inherent to the initial transaction is the execution of a contingent obligation or promissory note by the customer's U.S. legal entity and its parent company, if applicable, which binds the signatories to compensate the Company for any discrepancies between the company's purchase price and the auction sale price.

At the end of the agreement, the small or medium-sized business will “repurchase” the inventory at the same price sold. The Company generates revenue through a custodial fee, in the context of buyback agreements, and a monthly lease fee in the case of leaseback agreements, of between 1% and 2.0% based on its purchase price of the asset (see below for how purchase price is determined), for the duration of the term of the agreement. For its services, TB Originations will receive an origination fee from the Company of 0.5% annually of the total amount of capital provided in the applicable deal that it originates. In the case of inventory buyback agreements, TB Originations will also receive a warehouse storage fee from the customer. Proceeds raised in the offerings of the various series of senior secured promissory notes and bonds will be used to pursue the Company's business and, in connection therewith, may be used as cash collateral and/or inventory collateral.

As part of its risk mitigation strategy, the Company intends to maintain a portfolio of assets diversified by client and the asset classes described above. The Company intends to maintain a portfolio consisting of no more than 25% from the same client, and no more than 25% of assets of the same a set class, all as determined by the purchase price of assets then owned by the Company, and as calculated by the number of deployments over the course of the year. Further and to the extent possible, the Company will seek to achieve these diversification targets within each individual series; accordingly, the Company may establish a minimum offering amount for one or more series of Bonds in order to guarantee a certain level of diversification within such series is achieved. Nevertheless, the foregoing target amounts may be exceeded from time to time, particularly earlier in the offering, and higher concentrations may exist in the asset base. Additionally and as a further risk mitigation strategy, TB Originations has acquired insurance on behalf of the Company to cover the risk of default by its counterparties (See “Insurance,” below).

Each customer will be required to have and maintain an entity domesticated in the United States (which may be a U.S. subsidiary of a foreign parent company), through which it will receive financing from the Company. All trade finance transactions will be in U.S. dollars. The Company will initially only provide funding to clients with whom TradeBacked and/or TB Originations have a preexisting relationship. TB Originations plans to develop a technology platform through which it will onboard customers and manage the Company’s portfolio of assets.

Inventory Buyback Agreements. Pursuant to the inventory buyback agreement, the customer will sell the inventory as between 70% and 80% of its appraised value and will be required to repurchase the inventory at the same price between 3 and 12 months from the date of the contract unless extended.

The customer’s goods must be delivered to a warehouse in the custody of TB Originations’ approved third party vendors. The customer will only receive financing upon presentation of a pre-specified order from an off-taker. Once verified, the Company will provide the financing to the customer. The customer must pay their monthly custodial fees until the maturity date of the transaction and repurchase the inventory upon the maturity date. If the customer fails to pay the monthly fees, it must either make up those payments or repurchase the inventory, under a 30-day window, subject to extensions on a case-by-case. Failure to remedy missed payments, or repurchase inventory at maturity,¹ results in default. Upon default, the Company will dispose of the inventory by selling the inventory through an auction house and paying the proceeds of the auction to the Company. As part of the original transaction, the customer’s United States legal entity and its parent company (if any) will have executed a contingent obligation or promissory note obligating the signatories to pay the Company the amount of any shortfalls between the purchase price paid by the Company for the inventory and what the Company was able to sell the inventory through an auction.

Sale and Leaseback Agreements. As discussed above, certain types of merchants (e.g., luxury goods, such as luxury cars, watches, and jewelry) need to retain possession of their assets in order to conduct their business operations but require financing until they can find true buyers. In those situations, the Company offers a sale and leaseback financing option, whereby the customer sells its asset between 70% and 80% of the appraisal price, transfer the title ownership of the asset to the Company, leases the asset from the Company, and repurchases the asset at the price it originally sold it for within 12 months from the date of commencement of the lease term. The customer must make monthly lease payments for the duration of the lease, and at the end of the lease, the customer must repurchase the asset. If the customer fails to make the monthly lease payments, it must either make up those payments or repurchase the inventory, under a 30-day window, subject to extensions on a case-by-case basis. Failure to remedy missed payments, or repurchase inventory at maturity,² results in default. Upon default, the Company will take control and dispose of the inventory by selling the inventory through an auction. As part of the original transaction, the customer's United States legal entity and its parent company (if any) will have executed a contingent obligation or promissory note obligating the signatories to pay the Company the amount of any shortfalls between the purchase price paid by the Company for the inventory and what the Company was able to sell the inventory for at auction.

Investment Objective & Investment Process. The Company's investment objective is to provide attractive returns to investors generated from trade finance agreements with small and medium sized merchant companies. The Company enters into collateralized, short-term trade finance transactions, which involve all facets of the trade cycle including the purchasing, transportation, and storing of the underlying products as well as the final sale of the product to the off-taker. The aim of this approach is to maintain control and ownership of the collateral throughout the trade to help reduce the risk of default by the borrowers.

The Company's investment process is summarized below.

Origination. On behalf of the Company, TB Originations will identify suitable investment opportunities and will conduct a preliminary screening of each potential customer's creditworthiness, collateral, revenue, business operations, operating history, management team, and risks.

Evaluation. If the investment opportunity passes a preliminary screening, and after a term sheet is signed, each potential customer will be charged variable administration and underwriting fees by TB Origination. Once paid, TB Originations will check for red flags of the customer and the relevant asset, conduct know- your-customer, operational, financial, and on-site due diligence, and perform a credit risk assessment. The inventory to be sold must be appraised by an approved third-party vendor of TB Originations, and the customer will be responsible for paying the cost of an appraisal of the inventory.

Execution. If the investment opportunity is approved, TB Originations will assign the transaction to the Company to complete. The customer must have and maintain an entity domesticated in the United States (which may be a U.S. subsidiary of a foreign parent company), through which it will receive financing from the Company. All trade finance transactions will be in U.S. dollars. The customer will be required to take insurance covering the inventory, with the Company as the primary beneficiary. At the same time the customer enters into a financing agreement with the Company and executes a promissory note (described above), the customer will assign inventory to be used in the proposed trade finance transaction to the United States entity (if not already owned by such entity). In the case of inventory buyback agreements, the inventory is stored in a warehouse controlled by a vendor approved by the Company or TB Originations.

Revenue. The Company will receive monthly custodial fees and/or monthly lease payments depending on the type of, and pursuant to, a trade finance agreement with each customer. TB

Originations will receive an origination fee from the Company of 0.5% annually of the total amount of capital provided in the applicable deal that it originates. In the case of inventory buyback agreements, TB Originations will also receive a warehouse storage fee from the customer.

Exit. The investment will liquidate when the customer repurchases the inventory or, in the case of default, the Company auctions the inventory.

Leverage. The Company will not utilize leverage in its business operations except to the extent of its equity capital contributions. The Company will not provide loans to its principals or sponsors of its affiliates.

Vendors. TradeBacked and its affiliates and subsidiaries have partnered with Technical Controls and Inspection Services (TCIS) International Evaluating Services, LLC² a multinational independent inspection company, that is capable of providing valuation and appraisal, bonded warehousing (CMA), and shipping. The Company will ensure that warehousing services provided by TCIS and other vendors include insurance covering inventory stored in their warehouses. TradeBacked has also partnered with several other service providers, including: (i) Dun & Bradstreet Corporation for due diligence and underwriting; (ii) Corporate Screening & Investigations, Inc. for business diligence and know your customer (KYC); and (iii) Relm Insurance Ltd of Bermuda for insurance and underwriting. TradeBacked and/or the Company may replace and/or hire additional third-party vendors and service providers as its deal flow grows and, accordingly, the foregoing description of vendors is subject to change over time.

Insurance. The Company acquires broad “umbrella” type insurance to cover the entire business as well as policies specific to each particular trade finance transaction; this insurance covers not only casualty risks (covering the loss of inventory in a fire or flood, for example) but also default risk in the event the counterparty does not follow through on their inventory buyback and/or sale and leaseback agreement(s). With the Company named as the beneficiary of these insurance contracts, TradeBacked has sought to minimize the risk of loss to the Company under any potential circumstances. The Company will also ensure that inventory stored in warehouses will be covered by the insurance of their CMA vendor.

Although the Company actively seeks to acquire and maintain these insurance policies, there can be no guarantee that the Company will not experience an insured loss. For example, there may be a gap in coverage or a policy may expire prior to the Company experiencing a loss. Additionally, insurance contracts are highly detailed in providing for exclusions and the Company may in any instance believe that a risk is insured when in fact it is not. Claims made on insurance companies may be subject to substantial deductibles or policy limits, and claims may take many months or even years to settle, which may hurt the Company’s financial position in the interim.

Impact Investing. Impact investing is deploying capital with the objective of achieving a positive, material economic, social, and/or environmental impact while delivering competitive financial returns. Small and medium enterprises (SMEs) play a major role in most economies across the globe. According to the World Bank, they represent about 90% of businesses and more than 50% of employment worldwide. They also contribute to at least up to 40% of the GDP in countries with emerging economies.³ However, access to finance is a key constraint for SMEs to grow their businesses in emerging markets and developing countries. SMEs are less likely to be able to obtain traditional financing, such as bank loans and letters of credit, than large enterprises. Instead, many of them rely on internal funds or cash from friends and family to launch and initially run their businesses. The trade finance gap, representing the difference between requests and approvals for financing to support exports and imports, was estimated to be $1.7 trillion in 2020, an increase of 15% from 2018, and representing 10% of global trade.⁴

This is where TradeBacked and the Company are positioned to help deliver positive societal returns across the globe. By providing capital to the SMEs who need it most but may be chronically underserved due to their size or jurisdiction, the Company's performance and investors' returns will be driven in large part by making a positive impact with these SMEs and, indirectly, increasing employment opportunities with SMEs around the world. TradeBacked is operating at the intersection of financial opportunity and societal improvement, allowing investors to participate in the economic upside while making a real impact in the lives of various communities.
