Dr. Arash Aftabi

CEO and Co-Founder of Bala Enzyme. Periodontist
Los Angeles Metropolitan Area

Summary

Dr. Arash Aftabi is a highly skilled, truly outstanding periodontist. He is gentle and caring, with the highest personal and professional standards. Dr. Aftabi's philosophy has always been to treat each patient as if they are a family member. He has earned his patients' trust and confidence by providing quality periodontal and dental implant treatment in an atmosphere that is educational, relaxed and caring.

Dr. Aftabi grew up in Southern California and attended UCI majoring in Biology. He then attended the prestigious Boston University in Massachusetts where he received his doctor of medical dentistry (DMD) degree graduating with honors, followed with his Post-Doctoral Specialty Certificate in Periodontology and Implantology. He has given numerous scientific presentations. In addition he has published his research on periodontal disease in the Journal of Periodontology and has lectured at universities and the local dental society on implant procedures. He is Board-eligible, American Board of Periodontology.

In addition to traditional surgical and non-surgical periodontal treatment, Dr. Aftabi is also a skilled in all aspects of placing dental implants and fine-tuned his Implantology skills at Harvard School of Dental Medicine (Boston) and Albert Einstein Medical School (New York City).

His passions are traveling, fine arts, skiing, swimming and spending time with his wife and two young daughters.
