asiwaju.1 After years of building community through our entertainment, production and media platform, we have carefully crafted a mezcal brand that honors tradition, quality and taste.

I'm proud to share that Ofrenda Spirits is launching a crowdfunding campaign.

We're inviting our friends, family, and early supporters to own a piece of the journey as we take Ofrenda to the world stage and set the new standard for premium Mezcal.

We're filled with gratitude. 🙏

Since launching our crowdfunding campaign for Ofrenda Spirits a week ago, we've already raised over $25k (half of our first goal). 🎉

To everyone who's shared, invested, or simply reached out to say, "I see the vision" — thank you. 🤝🤝

We created Ofrenda to set a new standard for what a mezcal brand can be — and the fact that so many of you have joined us at this early stage means the world.

We're just getting started. With your support, we're gearing up to expand production, grow our U.S. presence, and bring Ofrenda to more bars, homes, and hands around the world.

If you're still curious or considering investing, the campaign is live here. Please reach out with any questions.

Even if now isn't a good time, please help us share and spread the word. ➦

Thank you again for your support!

After years of building community through our entertainment, production and media platform (Aver Curations) and perfecting a mezcal that embodies tradition, quality, and exceptional taste — we're opening the next chapter of Ofrenda Spirits.

We're officially launching our crowdfunding campaign and inviting early supporters to invest in a brand with real momentum and a clear vision for growth.

Ofrenda isn't just another spirits brand. We've secured placements in top bars, built a strong direct-to-consumer strategy, and cultivated a loyal community — all before our official U.S. launch.

Now, we're raising funds to scale production, expand distribution, and invest in marketing ahead of major cultural moments like the 2026 World Cup.
