Hi [REDACTED],

Thank you for passing along your email. Please let me know if there are any days/times that work best for you to meet with me next week. Alternatively, you can use my Calendly to book directly if that is easier for you.

Looking forward to our next conversation

Best,
Logan

Hi ██████████,

Thank you so much for your time today. I really appreciate your insights and feedback. I would love to schedule a longer follow up call to continue the conversation when you are available again

In the meantime, I did have a quick question for you regarding a co-founder. Given where I am right now with an MVP on the app stores, some traction with providers, and how much I have invested into the business so far, what suggestions would you have for me in terms of an equity split with a co-founder at this stage?

Thank you again, and looking forward to our next conversation.

Best,

Logan

Hi ██████████,

Hope you are doing well. I wanted to follow up with some updates on TalkShop since we last spoke. I have brought on a technical co-founder who is an experienced software developer out of University of Michigan. We are also preparing to launch our crowdfunding campaign on WeFunder this week. I would love to schedule another call with you and Alex so we can continue our conversation.

Please let me know if you are still interested, and we can schedule a time to meet.

Thanks,

Logan
