We are a coalition of farmers, educators, doctors, scientists, and business leaders cultivating social, economic, and educational incentives to lead a mass exodus from conventional chemical agriculture toward regenerative land management practices.

Watch the award winning short film "Farmers Footprint" about how a four generation farm in Minnesota transitioned away from chemical agriculture practices to regenerative agriculture.

Conservation Lands Foundation

Leadership Circle

September 2019 - September 2022 (3 years 1 month)

Durango, Colorado, United States

CLF leads the only national movement of grassroots advocates to protect, restore and expand National Conservation Lands. Via their grassroots friends networks, community-based advocates protect, restore and expand places under the National Conservation Lands designation.

In doing so, they elevate indigenous voices and shift the paradigm of the way we think about, interact with and protect these sacred lands in the US. As Leadership Circle members, we are helping to create an echo chamber for their mission and leverage our collective communities so they can continue to expand their impact.

Summit

Community Manager
