RISK FACTORS

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky:

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. Investors should not invest any funds unless they can afford to lose the entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

The Company may never receive a future equity financing or elect to convert the Securities upon such future financing. In addition, the Company may never undergo a liquidity event such as a sale of the Company or an IPO. If neither the conversion of the Securities nor a liquidity event occurs, the Purchasers could be left holding the Securities in perpetuity. The Securities have numerous transfer restrictions and will likely be highly illiquid, with no secondary market on which to sell them. The Securities are not equity interests, have no ownership rights, have no rights to the Company's assets or profits and have no voting rights or ability to direct the Company or its actions.

CharaChorder and Spur Haptics currently operates with only five employees who are responsible for all aspects of our business, including product development, manufacturing coordination, software development, marketing, sales, and operations. Our future success depends substantially on the continued services and performance of this small team, particularly our founders and key technical personnel who possess specialized knowledge of our proprietary input technology. The loss of any key team member could significantly disrupt our operations, delay product development, and harm our ability to execute our business plan. We do not maintain key person life insurance on any of our personnel. Given the specialized nature of our technology and the small size of our team, replacing key personnel could be difficult, time-consuming, and expensive, and there is no assurance that we would be able to find suitable replacements in a timely manner or at all.

CharaChorder and Spur Haptics's input devices utilize a proprietary character-based input method that differs fundamentally from traditional keyboards. Users must invest significant time and effort to learn this new input method before they can realize the speed benefits our products offer. This learning curve represents a substantial barrier to adoption, as potential customers may be unwilling to invest the time required to retrain their typing habits, particularly when traditional keyboards are familiar and readily available at lower price points. If users find the learning curve too steep or the transition period too disruptive to their productivity, they may abandon our products or choose not to purchase them in the first place. Our business model depends on our ability to convince users that the long-term benefits of faster typing speeds justify the initial investment of time and money, and there is no assurance that we will be successful in overcoming this adoption barrier at scale.

CharaChorder and Spur Haptics's specialized input devices target a niche market of users who prioritize typing speed and are willing to invest in premium hardware and learn new input methods. This market segment may be significantly smaller than the broader keyboard and computer peripherals market, which could limit our growth potential and ability to achieve economies of scale. The majority of computer users may be satisfied with traditional keyboards and unwilling to pay premium prices for specialized input devices, particularly given the learning curve required. Our target customers likely include professionals such as writers, programmers, and data entry specialists, as well as accessibility users and enthusiasts, but the total addressable market within these segments may not be large enough to support substantial growth or profitability. If the market for our products is smaller than we anticipate or fails to grow as expected, our business prospects and ability to generate returns for investors will be materially and adversely affected.

CharaChorder generates revenue exclusively from the sale of hardware input devices, with no apparent subscription services, software licensing, or other recurring revenue streams. This business model creates significant revenue volatility and makes it difficult to predict future financial performance. Each sale is a discrete transaction, and we must continuously acquire new customers or convince existing customers to purchase additional products to maintain revenue growth. Unlike software-as-a-service or subscription-based businesses that benefit from predictable recurring revenue, we face the challenge of generating new sales each period to sustain operations. This model also limits our customer lifetime value and makes us more vulnerable to market fluctuations, competitive pressures, and changes in consumer spending patterns. If we are unable to consistently attract new customers or develop complementary products that encourage repeat purchases, our revenue may stagnate or decline, which would materially harm our business and financial condition.

The computer peripherals and keyboard market is highly competitive and dominated by well-established companies with significantly greater financial resources, manufacturing capabilities, distribution networks, brand recognition, and customer loyalty than CharaChorder. Major competitors include companies such as Logitech, Razer, Corsair, and others who manufacture traditional keyboards and gaming peripherals, as well as emerging competitors developing alternative input technologies. These competitors have the ability to invest heavily in research and development, marketing, and competitive pricing strategies that we cannot match. They also benefit from existing relationships with retailers, distributors, and corporate customers that provide them with established sales channels. If any of these competitors were to develop or acquire similar character-based input technology or other innovations that compete with our products, they would have substantial advantages in bringing such products to market. We may be unable to compete effectively against these larger, better-resourced competitors, which could prevent us from gaining market share and achieving profitability.

CharaChorder relies on third-party suppliers and contract manufacturers to produce the components and finished products we sell. We do not own or operate our own manufacturing facilities and have limited control over our suppliers' operations, quality control, production capacity, and delivery schedules. Our business is vulnerable to disruptions in the global supply chain, including shortages of electronic components, manufacturing delays, quality control issues, shipping and logistics challenges, and geopolitical events that could affect our suppliers' ability to deliver products. The computer hardware industry has experienced significant supply chain disruptions in recent years, including semiconductor shortages and shipping delays, which have affected companies across the industry. Any significant disruption in our supply chain could result in our inability to fulfill customer orders in a timely manner, increased costs, quality issues, or inventory shortages, any of which could harm our reputation, result in lost sales, and materially adversely affect our business and financial condition. We may also face challenges in finding alternative suppliers if our current suppliers are unable to meet our needs, particularly given the specialized nature of our products.

CharaChorder and Spur Haptics will require significant additional capital beyond the proceeds of this offering to fund inventory purchases, product development, manufacturing, marketing, hiring, and other operational expenses necessary to scale our business. We do not currently have commitments for additional funding, and there can be no assurance that we will be able to obtain additional financing on acceptable terms, if at all. Our ability to raise additional capital will depend on numerous factors, many of which are beyond our control, including market conditions for hardware companies, investor appetite for early-stage businesses, our financial performance, and the progress we make in achieving our business objectives. If we are unable to obtain sufficient additional financing when needed, we may be forced to delay, reduce, or eliminate planned expenditures, curtail product development efforts, reduce marketing and sales activities, or cease operations altogether. The inability to secure adequate funding would materially and adversely affect our ability to execute our business plan and could result in a total loss of investment for our investors.

CharaChorder will need to raise additional capital through future equity financings to fund our operations and growth. Each time we issue additional equity securities, the ownership percentage of existing investors, including investors in this offering, will be diluted. This dilution may be substantial, particularly if we need to raise significant amounts of capital or if future financings occur at valuations that are not significantly higher than the current valuation. While the SAFE securities offered in this offering include certain protective provisions such as a valuation cap and discount rate, these provisions do not prevent dilution from occurring—they only affect the terms at which the SAFE converts into equity. Future investors may also negotiate for rights, preferences, or privileges that are superior to those held by investors in this offering. As our ownership becomes more diluted and as other investors potentially obtain superior rights, the value of the securities purchased in this offering may be materially reduced, and investors may have less influence over company decisions.

The securities being offered are Simple Agreements for Future Equity (SAFEs), which are contractual rights to receive equity in the future upon the occurrence of specific triggering events, such as a future priced equity financing or a liquidity event. SAFEs do not have a maturity date, do not accrue interest, and do not represent current ownership in the company. There is no guarantee that a triggering event will ever occur, and if no such event occurs, investors may never receive equity in the company and may never realize any return on their investment. The amount of equity investors will receive upon conversion, if conversion occurs at all, will depend on the terms of the future triggering event, including the valuation at which a future financing occurs. While this SAFE includes a valuation cap and discount rate that are intended to provide some protection to investors, the actual ownership percentage investors receive could be significantly less than anticipated, particularly if the company's valuation increases substantially before conversion or if the company raises significant additional capital. Investors should understand that they are making a highly speculative investment with uncertain terms and no guaranteed outcome.

The securities offered in this offering are highly illiquid, and there is no public market for them, nor is one expected to develop. The securities have not been registered under the Securities Act of 1933 or any state securities laws, and they may not be sold or transferred except in compliance with applicable securities laws, which generally require either registration or an available exemption from registration. Even after the one-year holding period required under federal securities laws, investors will face significant restrictions on their ability to resell the securities, and there may be no buyers even if resale were legally permissible. Investors should not expect to be able to liquidate their investment in the foreseeable future and should be prepared to hold the securities indefinitely. The lack of liquidity means that investors will be unable to access their invested capital even if they experience financial hardship or if the company's prospects deteriorate. Investors should only invest funds that they can afford to lose completely and that they do not need for other purposes for an indefinite period of time.

Our future success depends on the efforts of a small management team. The loss of services of the members of the management team may have an adverse effect on the company. There can be no assurance that we will be successful in attracting and retaining other personnel we require to successfully grow our business.

CharaChorder LLC and Spur Haptics Inc. is an early-stage company with limited operating history in the computer peripherals market. We have not yet demonstrated that our business model can generate sustainable revenue or achieve profitability. Our ability to generate sufficient revenue depends on market acceptance of our specialized input devices, which represent a significant departure from traditional keyboards that consumers have used for decades. If we are unable to achieve market acceptance of our products or scale our operations efficiently, we may never become profitable. Investors should be aware that the risk of business failure is substantial for early-stage hardware companies, and there is no assurance that we will successfully execute our business plan or generate returns for investors.

In this offering, the founder of Spur Haptics has designated themselves as the lead investor who will sign documents and make decisions on behalf of all investors participating through the special purpose vehicle (SPV) structure. This arrangement creates a substantial and inherent conflict of interest because the founder has interests both as the operator and owner of the company and as the representative of investor interests, which may not always align. As the company's founder, this individual has incentives to make decisions that benefit the company and its existing ownership, which may come at the expense of new investors. For example, the founder may have access to material non-public information about the company's financial condition, prospects, or challenges that could influence decisions made on behalf of investors. The founder may also face conflicts when negotiating terms of future financings, liquidity events, or other corporate actions where the interests of the company and its investors diverge. Investors in this offering will have no independent third-party advocate representing their interests, and they will have limited ability to challenge decisions made by the founder in their capacity as investor representative. This structure provides investors with less protection than they would have with an independent investor representative and increases the risk that investor interests may be subordinated to the interests of the company and its founders.

CharaChorder and Spur Haptics's products are premium-priced input devices that represent discretionary purchases for most consumers. Our products range in price from approximately one hundred dollars to several hundred dollars, which is significantly higher than traditional keyboards that can be purchased for a fraction of these amounts. During economic downturns, recessions, or periods of reduced consumer confidence, potential customers may delay or forego purchases of premium computer peripherals in favor of less expensive alternatives or may choose not to upgrade their existing equipment. Reduced consumer spending could significantly decrease demand for our products and harm our revenue and financial performance. Additionally, economic uncertainty may make it more difficult for us to raise additional capital or obtain favorable terms from suppliers and partners. Our business is particularly vulnerable to economic conditions because we sell premium products in a niche market, and we do not have the diversified product portfolio or established market position that might help larger competitors weather economic downturns.

CharaChorder and Spur Haptics collects, stores, and processes customer information through our e-commerce operations, including personal information such as names, addresses, email addresses, and payment information. We are subject to various federal, state, and international data privacy and security laws and regulations, including but not limited to state consumer privacy laws and data breach notification requirements. Compliance with these evolving regulations requires ongoing investment in security measures, policies, and procedures. Despite our security measures, we face the risk of data breaches, cyberattacks, ransomware, and other security incidents that could compromise customer information or disrupt our operations. Any security breach or failure to comply with applicable data privacy regulations could result in significant costs, including notification expenses, regulatory fines and penalties, litigation, remediation costs, and reputational damage. A significant security incident could also erode customer trust and harm our ability to attract and retain customers, which would materially adversely affect our business and financial condition.

CharaChorder and Spur Haptics's success depends in part on our ability to protect our proprietary character-based input technology, software, and other intellectual property, while also avoiding infringement of third-party intellectual property rights. We rely on a combination of trade secrets, proprietary know-how, confidential information, and potentially patents or trademarks to protect our technology. However, the steps we have taken or may take to protect our intellectual property may not be adequate, and we cannot guarantee that our intellectual property rights will provide meaningful protection against competitors. Our proprietary input method could potentially be reverse-engineered, independently developed by others, or otherwise become known to competitors. Additionally, we may face claims from third parties alleging that our products or technology infringe on their patents, copyrights, trademarks, or other intellectual property rights. The computer peripherals and input device industry has seen numerous intellectual property disputes, and defending against such claims can be costly and time-consuming, even if the claims are without merit. If we are found to infringe on third-party intellectual property rights, we could be required to pay substantial damages, cease selling certain products, or obtain licenses that may not be available on commercially reasonable terms or at all, any of which could materially harm our business.

DELIVERY & CANCELLATIONS

11. How will the issuer complete the transaction and deliver securities to the investors?

Book Entry and Investment in the Co-Issuer. Investors will make their investments by investing in interests issued by one or more co-issuers, each of which is a special purpose vehicle ("SPV"). The SPV will invest all amounts it receives from investors in securities issued by the Company. Interests issued to investors by the SPV will be in book entry form. This means that the investor will not receive a certificate representing his or her investment. Each investment will be recorded in the books and records of the SPV. In addition, investors' interests in the investments will be recorded in each investor's "Portfolio" page on the Wefunder platform. All references in this Form C to an investor's investment in the Company (or similar phrases) should be interpreted to include investments in a SPV.

12. How can an investor cancel an investment commitment?

NOTE: Investors may cancel an investment commitment until 48 hours prior to the deadline identified in these offering materials.

The intermediary will notify investors when the target offering amount has been met. If the issuer reaches the target offering amount prior to the deadline identified in the offering materials, it may close the offering early if it provides notice about the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to such new offering deadline.

If an investor does not cancel an investment commitment before the 48-hour period prior to the offering deadline, the funds will be released to the issuer upon closing of the offering and the investor will receive securities in exchange for his or her investment.

If an investor does not reconfirm his or her investment commitment after a material change is made to the offering, the investor's investment commitment will be canceled and the committed funds will be returned.

An Investor's right to cancel. An Investor may cancel his or her investment commitment at any time until 48 hours prior to the offering deadline.

If there is a material change to the terms of the offering or the information provided to the Investor about the offering and/or the Company, the Investor will be provided notice of the change and must re-confirm his or her investment commitment within five business days of receipt of the notice. If the Investor does not reconfirm, he or she will receive notifications disclosing that the commitment was cancelled, the reason for the cancellation, and the refund amount that the investor is required to receive. If a material change occurs within five business days of the maximum number of days the offering is to remain open, the offering will be extended to allow for a period of five business days for the investor to reconfirm.

If the Investor cancels his or her investment commitment during the period when cancellation is permissible, or does not reconfirm a commitment in the case of a material change to the investment, or the offering does not close, all of the Investor's funds will be returned within five business days.

Within five business days of cancellation of an offering by the Company, the Company will give each investor notification of the cancellation, disclose the reason for the cancellation, identify the refund amount the investor will receive, and refund the Investor's funds.

The Company's right to cancel. The Investment Agreement you will execute with us provides the Company the right to cancel for any reason before the offering deadline.

If the sum of the investment commitments from all investors does not equal or exceed the target offering amount at the time of the offering deadline, no securities will be sold in the offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned.

Ownership and Capital Structure

THE OFFERING

13. Describe the terms of the securities being offered.

To view a copy of the SAFE you will purchase, please see Appendix B, Investor Contracts. The main terms of the SAFEs are provided below.

The SAFEs. We are offering securities in the form of a Simple Agreement for Future Equity ("SAFE"), which provides investors the right to Preferred Stock in the Company ("Preferred Stock"), when and if the Company sponsors an equity offering that involves Preferred Stock, on the standard terms offered to other Investors.

Conversion to Preferred Equity. Based on our SAFEs, when we engage in an offering of equity interests involving Preferred Stock, Investors will receive a number of shares of Preferred Stock calculated using the method that results in the greater number of Preferred Stock:

the total value of the Investor's investment, divided by the price of Preferred Stock issued to new Investors multiplied by the discount rate (80%), or if the valuation for the company is more than $24,000,000.00 (the "Valuation Cap"), the amount invested by the Investor divided by the quotient of the Valuation Cap divided by the total amount of the Company's capitalization at that time.

For investors up to the first $250,000.00 of the securities, investors will receive a valuation cap of $18,000,000.00 and a discount rate (80%). Wefunder VIP investors will be entitled to these terms for the entire duration of the offering, even if the threshold limit noted above is met.

Additional Terms of the Valuation Cap. For purposes of option (ii) above, the Company's capitalization calculated as of immediately prior to the Equity Financing and (without double-counting, in each case calculated on an as-converted to Common Stock basis):

Includes all shares of Capital Stock issued and outstanding;

Includes all Converting Securities;

Includes all (i) issued and outstanding Options and (ii) Promised Options; and Includes the Unissued Option Pool, except that any increase to the Unissued Option Pool in connection with the Equity Financing shall only be included to the extent that the number of Promised Options exceeds the Unissued Option Pool prior to such increase.

liquidity event or the company liquidates, proceeds resulting from the liquidation of the company, whether by the liquidation of the company or the sale of the company, shall be distributed to the new owners prior to investors in the SAFEs receiving Preferred Stock. Investors will receive proceeds equal to the greater of (i) the Purchase Amount (the "Cash-Out Amount") or (ii) the amount payable on the number of shares of Common Stock equal to the Purchase Amount divided by the Liquidity Price (the "Conversion Amount")

Liquidity Priority: In a Liquidity Event or Dissolution Event, this Safe is intended to operate like standard nonparticipating Preferred Stock. The Investor's right to receive its Cash-Out Amount is:

- Junior to payment of outstanding indebtedness and creditor claims, including contractual claims for payment and convertible promissory notes (to the extent such convertible promissory notes are not actually or notionally converted into Capital Stock);
- On par with payments for other Safes and/or Preferred Stock, and if the applicable Proceeds are insufficient to permit full payments to the Investor and such other Safes and/or Preferred Stock, the applicable Proceeds will be distributed pro rata to the Investor and such other Safes and/or Preferred Stock in proportion to the full payments that would otherwise be due; and
- Senior to payments for Common Stock.

VIP BonusCharaChorder will offer a discount to the normal terms listed in this Form C for all investments that are committed by investors who are part of Wefunder, Inc's VIP program. This means eligible Wefunder investors will receive a discount for any securities they purchased in this offering. For more specific details on the company's discount, please review the description of the terms above.

The discount is only valid until the offering closes. Investors eligible for the bonus will also receive priority if they are on a waitlist to invest and the company exceeds its maximum funding goal. They will be given the first opportunity to invest if space in the offering becomes available due to the cancellation or failure of previous investments.

Securities Issued by the SPVInstead of issuing its securities directly to investors, the Company has decided to issue its securities to the SPV, which will then issue interests in the SPV to investors. The SPV is formed concurrently with the filing of the Form C. Given this, the SPV does not have any financials to report. The SPV is managed by Wefunder Admin, LLC and is a co-issuer with the Company of the securities being offered in this offering. The Company's use of the SPV is intended to allow investors in the SPV to achieve the same economic exposure, voting power, and ability to assert State and Federal law rights, and receive the same disclosures, as if they had invested directly in the Company. While the Issuer may be required to pay an annual administrative fee for the maintenance of the SPV, investors should note the Company's use of the SPV will not result in any additional fees being charged to investors.

The SPV has been organized and will be operated for the sole purpose of directly acquiring, holding and disposing of the Company's securities, will not borrow money and will use all of the proceeds from the sale of its securities solely to purchase a single class of securities of the Company. As a result, an investor investing in the Company through the SPV will have the same relationship to the Company's securities, in terms of number, denomination, type and rights, as if the investor invested directly in the Company.

Voting RightsIf the securities offered by the Company and those offered by the SPV have voting rights, those voting rights may be exercised by the investor or his or her proxy. The applicable proxy is the Lead Investor, if the Proxy (described below) is in effect.

Proxy to the Lead InvestorThe SPV securities have voting rights. With respect to those voting rights, the investor and his, her, or its transferees or assignees (collectively, the "Investor"), through a power of attorney granted by Investor in the Investor Agreement, has appointed or will appoint the Lead investor as the Investor's true and lawful proxy and attorney (the "Proxy") with the power to act alone and with full power of substitution, on behalf of the investor to: (i) vote all securities related to the Company purchased in an offering hosted by Wefunder Portal, and (ii) execute, in connection with such voting power, any instrument or document that the Lead Investor determines is necessary and appropriate in the exercise of his or her authority. Such Proxy will be irrevocable by the Investor unless and until a successor lead investor ("Replacement Lead Investor") takes the place of the Lead Investor. Upon notice that a Replacement Lead Investor has taken the place of the Lead Investor, the Investor will have five (5) calendar days to revoke the Proxy. If the Proxy is not revoked within the 5-day time period, it shall remain in effect.

Restriction on TransferabilityThe SPV securities are subject to restrictions on transfer, as set forth in the Subscription Agreement and the Limited Liability Company Agreement of Wefunder SPV, LLC, and may not be transferred without the prior approval of the Company, on behalf of the SPV.

14. Do the securities offered have voting rights?

- ☐ Yes
- ☒ No

15. Are there any limitations on any voting or other rights identified above?

See the above description of the Proxy to the Lead Investor.

16. How may the terms of the securities being offered be modified?

Any provision of this Safe may be amended, waived or modified by written consent of the Company and either:

- i. the Investor or
- ii. the majority-in-interest of all then-outstanding Safes with the same "Post-Money Valuation Cap" and "Discount Rate" as this Safe (and Safes lacking one or both of such terms will be considered to be the same with respect to such term(s)), provided that with respect to clause (ii):
 - A. the Purchase Amount may not be amended, waived or modified in this manner,
 - B. the consent of the Investor and each holder of such Safes must be solicited (even if not obtained), and
 - C. such amendment, waiver or modification treats all such holders in the same manner. "Majority-in-interest" refers to the holders of the applicable group of Safes whose Safes have a total Purchase Amount greater than 50% of the total Purchase Amount of all of such applicable group of Safes.

Pursuant to authorization in the Investor Agreement between each Investor and Wefunder Portal, Wefunder Portal is authorized to take the following actions with respect to the investment contract between the Company and an investor:

- A. Wefunder Portal may amend the terms of an investment contract, provided that the amended terms are more favorable to the investor than the original terms; and
- B. Wefunder Portal may reduce the amount of an investor's investment if the reason for the reduction is that the Company's offering is oversubscribed.

Restrictions on Transfer of the Securities Being Offered:

The securities being offered may not be transferred by any purchaser of such securities during the one year period beginning when the securities were issued, unless such securities are transferred:

- 1. to the issuer;
- 2. to an accredited investor;
- 3. as part of an offering registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission; or
- 4. to a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the purchaser or other similar circumstance.

NOTE: The term "accredited investor" means any person who comes within any of the categories set forth in Rule 501(a) of Regulation D, or who the seller reasonably believes comes within any of such categories, at the time of the sale of the securities to that person.

The term "member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent" includes a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law of the purchaser, and includes certain other relatives. The term "spousal equivalent" means a relationship equivalent to that of a spouse.

- unrelated third party valuations;
- the price at which we sell other securities in light of the relative rights, preferences and privileges of those securities;
- our results of operations, financial position and capital resources;
- current business conditions and projections;

- the marketability or lack thereof of the securities;
- the hiring of key personnel and the experience of our management;
- the introduction of new products;
- the risk inherent in the development and expansion of our products;
- our stage of development and material risks related to our business;
- the likelihood of achieving a liquidity event, such as an initial public offering or a sale of our company given the prevailing market conditions and the nature and history of our business;
- industry trends and competitive environment;
- trends in consumer spending, including consumer confidence;
- overall economic indicators, including gross domestic product, employment, inflation and interest rates; and
- the general economic outlook.

We will analyze factors such as those described above using a combination of financial and market-based methodologies to determine our business enterprise value. For example, we may use methodologies that assume that businesses operating in the same industry will share similar characteristics and that the Company's value will correlate to those characteristics, and/or methodologies that compare transactions in similar securities issued by us that were conducted in the market.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

An Investor in the Company will likely hold a minority position in the Company, and thus be limited as to its ability to control or influence the governance and operations of the Company.

The marketability and value of the Investor's interest in the Company will depend upon many factors outside the control of the Investor. The Company will be managed by its officers and be governed in accordance with the strategic direction and decision-making of its Board Of Directors, and the Investor will have no independent right to name or remove an officer or member of the Board Of Directors of the Company.

Following the Investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the Investor in the Company. The investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured.

The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the Investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the Investor's interest in the Company.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions, including additional issuances of securities, issuer repurchases of securities, a sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer or transactions with related parties?

Additional issuances of securities. Following the Investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the Investor in the Company. The investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the Investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the Investor's interest in the Company.

Issuer repurchases of securities. The Company may have authority to repurchase its securities from shareholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the Investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer. As a minority owner of the Company, the Investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the Investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for shareholders. Accordingly, the success of the Investor's investment in the Company will depend in large part upon the skill and expertise of the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company. If the Board Of Directors of the Company authorizes a sale of all or a part of the Company, or a disposition of a substantial portion of the Company's assets, there can be no guarantee that the value received by the Investor, together with the fair market estimate of the value remaining in the Company, will be equal to or exceed the value of the Investor's initial investment in the Company.

Transactions with related parties. The Investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management and Board of Directors of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its shareholders. By acquiring an interest in the Company, the Investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

Loan
Amount: $116,409.00
Outstanding principal plus interest: $116,409.00 as of 7/19/2026
Interest rate: 3.1% per annum
Line of Credit | Lender: JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. | Principal: 120000 | Revolving Business Line of Credit and Security Agreement entered September 9, 2024 with JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. Maximum borrowing capacity $120,000. Interest at Prime Rate plus 3.10% per annum. Secured by substantially all Company assets including inventory, equipment, accounts receivable, deposit accounts, and general intangibles. Outstanding balance $116,409 as of December 31, 2025, classified as current liability. Facility available until earlier of fifth anniversary or lender elects to discontinue advances.

INSTRUCTION TO QUESTION 24: name the creditor, amount owed, interest rate, maturity date, and any other material terms.

25. What other exempt offerings has the issuer conducted within the past three years?

Offering date	Exemption	Security type	Amount sold	Use of proceeds
6/2026	Regulation D	SAFE	$50,000	General operations

26. Was or is the issuer or any entities controlled by or under common control with the issuer a party to any transaction since the beginning of the issuer's last fiscal year, or any currently proposed transaction, where the amount involved exceeds five percent of the aggregate amount of capital raised by the issuer in reliance on Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act during the preceding 12- month period, including the amount the issuer seeks to raise in the current offering, in which any of the following persons had or is to have a direct or indirect material interest: ⓘ

4. or any immediate family member of any of the foregoing persons.

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Overview of the Business and Financial Condition

CharaChorder Inc. (the "Company") is a Delaware corporation incorporated on April 24, 2026. Subsequent to the report date, on April 30, 2026, the Company changed its legal name to Spur Haptics, Inc. The Company was established to serve as a holding company for CharaChorder, LLC. CharaChorder, LLC is a Georgia limited liability company formed on July 5, 2019, engaged in the design, development, manufacture, and sale of computer input hardware, including the CharaChorder family of chorded keyboards, together with related accessories, software, and other peripheral products. Its headquarters and principal operations, including product development, engineering, marketing, and customer support, are located in Texas, United States, with manufacturing coordinated through a combination of domestic and international suppliers.

We are an early-stage company and have incurred operating losses and negative cash flows from operations since inception. We expect to continue to incur operating losses in the near term.

As of July 9, 2026, we had cash and cash equivalents of approximately $67,705.58.

Our ability to continue operations is dependent on managing our expenses and, if necessary, obtaining additional financing.

This discussion should be read in conjunction with the financial statements and related notes included in this offering statement.

Business and Operating Uncertainty

Our business operates in an environment subject to various risks, uncertainties, and changing conditions, which makes it difficult to evaluate our business, financial condition, and prospects and may limit the comparability of our results of operations from period to period.

Financial Condition

As of April 24, 2026, our total assets were $0 and our current and non-current liabilities, as reflected in available financial statement fields, were $0.

Our financial statements reflect an early-stage company with limited operating history. Investors should not place undue reliance on historical financial information given the company's limited operating history and the likelihood that future results will differ from historical results.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of April 24, 2026, we did not have any cash or cash equivalents on hand.

Based on our current operations, we have a monthly net cash burn of approximately $12,000.

Our monthly net cash burn or profit may vary significantly from month to month due to the timing of receipts and expenditures and other short-term factors. As a result, period-to-period comparisons may not be meaningful.

Based on our current plan, we expect to have sufficient cash to fund operations for at least the next 12 months.

Our historical operations have been funded primarily through external financing.

Liquidity Assumptions

Our assessment of our liquidity and ability to fund operations is not a projection and is based on current assumptions regarding operating expenses, cash requirements, and capital needs. These assumptions may change, and actual results may differ materially due to changes in operating conditions, timing of receipts and payments, and other factors.

Dependence on Additional Financing

There can be no assurance that additional financing will be available on acceptable terms, or at all. If we are unable to raise additional capital when needed, we may be required to materially reduce or suspend operations.

Indebtedness and Capital Structure

As of the date of this offering statement, we had total outstanding indebtedness consisting of approximately $116,409 in aggregate principal obligations. The material terms of such indebtedness are described in Item 24 of this Form C and include 3.10 interest rate, no stated maturity date.

(For the avoidance of doubt, SAFEs are not treated as indebtedness.)

During the past three years, we have conducted exempt offerings, resulting in the issuance of securities in aggregate amounts of approximately $50,000.

Known Trends, Events, and Uncertainties

Management is not currently aware of any known trends, events, or uncertainties that are reasonably likely to have a material adverse effect on our financial condition or results of operations over the next 12 months.

The absence of a discussion of any particular trend, event, or uncertainty should not be interpreted to mean that such matters do not exist; rather, it reflects management's judgment based on information currently available.

Changes Since the Date of the Financial Statements

There have been no material changes in our operations or financial condition since the date of the financial statements included in this offering.

Impact of This Offering

The proceeds from this offering are expected to be used to support product development, manufacturing, inventory, fulfillment, software development, marketing, working capital, and general business operations. A significant portion of the funds will be used to fulfill existing. The timing and extent of our use of proceeds will depend on the amount of proceeds raised and future operating conditions. Additional detail regarding our planned use of proceeds is provided in Item 10 of this Form C.

There can be no assurance that the proceeds of this offering will be sufficient to fund our operations or achieve our business objectives.

Certain information relevant to understanding our financial condition and liquidity is presented elsewhere in this offering statement, including in the financial statements, related notes, and the sections describing indebtedness and prior financings.

Forward-Looking Statements

This discussion contains forward-looking statements that are based on management's current expectations and assumptions. Actual results may differ materially from those expressed or implied by these statements.

OTHER MATERIAL INFORMATION

31. In addition to the information expressly required to be included in this Form, include:

- (1) any other material information presented to investors; and

- (2) such further material information, if any, as may be necessary to make the required statements, in light of the circumstances under which they are made, not misleading.

The Lead Investor. As described above, each Investor that has entered into the Investor Agreement will grant a power of attorney to make voting decisions on behalf of that Investor to the Lead Investor (the "Proxy"). The Proxy is irrevocable unless and until a Successor Lead Investor takes the place of the Lead Investor, in which case, the Investor has a five (5) calendar day period to revoke the Proxy. Pursuant to the Proxy, the Lead Investor or his or her successor will make voting decisions and take any other actions in connection with the voting on Investors' behalf.

The Lead Investor is an individual that is chosen to act in the role of Lead Investor on behalf of Investors that have a Proxy in effect. The Lead Investor will be chosen by the Company and approved by Wefunder Inc. and the identity of the initial Lead Investor will be disclosed to Investors before Investors make a final investment decision to purchase the securities related to the Company.

The Lead Investor can quit at any time or can be removed by Wefunder Inc. for cause or pursuant to a vote of investors as detailed in the Lead investor Agreement. In the event the Lead Investor quits or is removed, the Company will choose a Successor Lead Investor who must be approved by Wefunder Inc. The identity of the Successor Lead Investor will be disclosed to Investors, and those that have a Proxy in effect can choose to either leave such Proxy in place or revoke such Proxy during a 5-day period beginning with notice of the replacement of the Lead Investor.

The Lead Investor will not receive any compensation for his or her services to the SPV. The Lead Investor may receive compensation if, in the future, Wefunder Advisors LLC forms a fund ("Fund") for accredited investors for the purpose of investing in a non-Regulation Crowdfunding offering of the Company. In such circumstances, the Lead Investor may act as a portfolio manager for that Fund (and as a supervised person of Wefunder Advisors) and may be compensated through that role.

Although the Lead Investor may act in multiple roles with respect to the Company's offerings and may potentially be compensated for some of its services, the Lead Investor's goal is to maximize the value of the Company and therefore maximize the value of securities issued by or related to the Company. As a result, the Lead Investor's interests should always be aligned with those of Investors. It is, however, possible that in some limited circumstances the Lead Investor's interests could diverge from the interests of Investors, as discussed in section 8

Investors that wish to purchase securities related to the Company through Wefunder Portal must agree to give the Proxy described above to the Lead Investor, provided that if the Lead Investor is replaced, the Investor will have a 5-day period during which he or she may revoke the Proxy. If the Proxy is not revoked during this 5-day period, it will remain in effect.

Tax Filings. In order to complete necessary tax filings, the SPV is required to include information about each investor who holds an interest in the SPV, including each investor's taxpayer identification number ("TIN") (e.g., social security number or employer identification number). To the extent they have not already done so, each investor will be required to provide their TIN within the earlier of (i) two (2) years of making their investment or (ii) twenty (20) days prior to the date of any distribution from the SPV. If an investor does not provide their TIN within this time, the SPV reserves the right to withhold from any proceeds otherwise payable to the investor an amount necessary for the SPV to satisfy its tax withholding obligations as well as the SPV's reasonable estimation of any penalties that may be charged by the IRS or other relevant authority as a result of the investor's failure to provide their TIN. If applicable, the Company may also be required to pay Wefunder certain fees for the preparation of tax filings. Such fees and the Company's obligation to deliver required tax documents are further specified in the related Tax Services Agreement ("TSA").

Investors should carefully review the terms of the SPV Subscription Agreement for additional information about tax filings.

Potential Dissolution of the SPV. The Company has agreed that it will pay an administrative fee and / or certain tax fees to Wefunder, in addition to delivering required tax information in the manner prescribed by the TSA, where applicable. Failure to pay such fees or provide Wefunder with required tax information could result in the dissolution of the SPV (an "SPV Dissolution Event"). Subsequent to an SPV Dissolution Event, the securities held by the SPV would be distributed directly and proportionally to the individual investors. This could create administrative complexities, as investors would need to manage the securities themselves rather than having them held and administered by the SPV. Additionally, the unplanned distribution of securities may not align with investors' intended investment strategy or asset allocation.

Upon an SPV Dissolution Event, the Investor hereby consents to and agrees to accept direct assignment of the SPV's rights and obligations under any investment agreements between the SPV and the Company that is located in the Form C or C/A offering materials. The Investor acknowledges they will be bound by all terms and conditions of such agreements as if they were an original party thereto.
