John Allen, Jr., Producer, Funding Mgmt and Investor Relations

John is an ardent film-buff and has extensive experience in early-stage corporate financing in the film industry. He has arranged launch and development funding for several warmly-received theatrical films featuring high-end cast and a number of A-List stars -- Executive Producing The Ultimate Life, and helping fund or advise in the capital formation of other heart-warming films like The Ultimate Gift, Bobby Jones: Stroke of Genius (Jim Caviezel starring), and the docu Running the Sahara (Matt Damon narrating).

In addition to arranging the development funding for a number of other prominent feature film projects, John has helped several successful East Coast production studios reach critical mass, including ReelWorks Studios and C3 Studios which he co-owned for nine years. He also offered key assistance in the formation and support of a special project -- Red Heritage Media, a Native American/Tribal Owned company focused on film/TV production and post-production services. The common thread in John's work is the creation of successful financing packages and speaking the financial language that fuels major investor interest. On the life science front, John currently serves as the Chairman and CEO of Eremid Genomic Services, is a General Partner of Coddle Creek Capital, a life sciences venture firm, and serves on the Boards of SNP Therapeutics, Pictor Dx and was a former director of Bright Path Laboratories.
