A new chapter for Broth Bomb (and an invitation to co-own it)

1 message

Broth Bomb - Herb and Spice <[redacted]> Mon, Oct 26, 2026 at 7:10 PM
Reply-to: Broth Bomb - Herb and Spice <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]

BROTH BOMB™

Hi Andrew,

If you've been waiting for your favorite Broth Bomb seasoning drops over the past year, thank you for your patience.

Behind the scenes, I went through a major transition: resolving a legacy partnership to step forward as the sole owner and steward of Broth Bomb. With 100% ownership secured and our proprietary equipment ready to run, I am securing our dedicated production facility to get back to what we do best: pressing fresh, slow-simmered seasonings that turn simple beans and vegetables into hearty, delicious meals.

Before we fire up the presses for the holiday season, I wanted to do something different.

Instead of going to corporate venture capitalists, I'm opening up ownership to the people who actually use and love the product. We are launching a community investment round on Wefunder, allowing our customers to become genuine co-owners of Broth Bomb starting at $100.

To thank our earliest supporters, this round of investment comes at a great value, just $2.5 million. Meaning, if we get a Series A offer of $25 million in a few years, you'd receive 10 times the value. Act now before outside investors on WeFunder take your spot.

We are currently in our early "Testing the Waters" phase, which means you can reserve your spot ahead of our official public launch. The link below will take you to our WeFunder page.

Learn more

Reserving an allocation is non-binding and charges nothing right now—it simply locks in your early terms before the allocation fills.

Thank you for cooking with us, believing in our mission, and being part of this comeback.

In care,

Andrew Dundas

Broth Bomb Founder

Stay connected on social

Broth Bomb - Herb and Spice·502 E Main St, Lakeland FL 33801, United States

No longer wish to receive these emails? Unsubscribe
© 2026 Broth Bomb - Herb and Spice